

HOOVER RENEWS COURT PLEA

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CHICAGO'S WATER QUOTA

Upholds Hughes
Ruling on Diversion.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—Hearing requests of both sides for modifications, the Supreme court of the United States today announced its decision in the case of the Chicago water quota.

The court, following substantially the recommendations of Charles E. Hughes as special master.

The Chicago sanitary district, under terms of the decree, must complete its 175 million dollar sewage treatment program within nine years.

Diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago, which now averages 125 cubic feet per second under a new department permit, must be cut to an ultimate annual average of 1,500 cubic feet per second on Dec. 31, 1933.

The diversion must be reduced to 100 feet next July 1, and to 5,000 feet on Dec. 31, 1935.

The court will retain jurisdiction in the case, requiring semi-annual reports of progress in the construction of sewage treatment plants to be filed with the Chicago sanitary district, commencing next July 1.

Decree Can Be Modified.

When complainants or defendants, showing the submission of such reports, may apply to the court for modifications of the decree with respect to the time allowed for construction, the method of operation of sewage treatment plants, or the amount of diversion of water.

Costs of the suit are to be assessed against the defendants, the state of Illinois, and the sanitary district of Cook.

Justice Hughes, in his opinion of the court, emphasizing the final decree and the magnitude of the decision handed down in January, 1929, in which diversion of water for sanitary purposes was held to be illegal, was rendered by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Justice Hughes, who took the case to the court a few weeks after submitting his report as special master and prior to final arguments on requests for modifications in the decree, decided not to participate in the case.

The court's decision of January 1929, was written by the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

Language Is Harsh.

Justice Holmes, like Chief Justice Hughes, dealt harshly with Chicago and the state of Illinois.

"It already has been decided that the defendants are doing a wrong to the complainants and that they must stop it," said Justice Holmes. "They have not out a way at their peril. They have only to consider what is possible if the state of Illinois devotes all its powers to dealing with an emergency of the magnitude of which it seems not yet to have fully awakened. It has no base, no defense upon difficulties that it has itself created. If the constitution stands in the way of prompt action, it must amend it or amend it to an authority that is paramount to the state."

The court refused the plea presented by John W. Davis and James M. Beck for a longer time than nine years for the completion of the sewage treatment program, and that the ultimate amount of water diversion be not fixed at this time.

Ignores Higher Lake Level.

The court also declined to take into consideration the admitted fact that lake levels have increased to such an extent as to cause extensive damage and that there is no present basis for the contention that the diversion of water has lowered levels to such an extent as to cause injury to the complaining states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and New York.

While disappointed, particularly at the fixing of a definite maximum diversion to be effective in 1933, spokesmen for the sanitary district and the state of Illinois were gratified that the court rejected the extreme demands advanced by the complainant states.

It was urged by Newton D. Baker, Raymond T. Jackson, and other attorneys for the complainants that the court should order all diversion to stop at the end of the nine year period.

In their contention had been approved, the Chicago sanitary district would have been required to dump the sewage from sewage treatment plants into the lake, threatening the contamination of Chicago's drinking water.

The court held this request to be unavailing and agreed with the recommendations of the special master.

SUNDAY MOVIES WIN IN EVANSTON BY 56 MAJORITY

Sunday movies were approved by a margin of 56 votes at the recent referendum in Evanston. This was an announced last night by Ald. Clinton Merrick, chairman of the aldermanic canvassing committee, which found a total of 3,946 votes for and 5,890 votes against the movies.

Representatives of the anti-movie faction at the council meeting last night asked permission to have their accredited agents examine the poll books. The request was granted. The next step in restoring Sunday movies will be submission of an ordinance to the council.

Ald. John R. Kimbark, Claude R. Welles, and Stanley Franzen, whose inauguration was deferred at last week's council meeting until the canvassing board had certified their election, were formally installed in office last night.

Son Fires Shot Into Gloom of the Back Yard

John Budrik, 60 years old, kept a clothing store at 3256 South Morgan street. With him in the flat above the store lived his three sons, Bruno, 21 years old; Martin, 20, and Benjamin, 18. Their mother was dead.

On Bruno's twenty-first birthday recently the family feasted in the flat and the father made Bruno his business partner. Martin was clerking in a neighborhood bank, while Benjamin, a student at Tilden High school, was planning a professional career.

Hears Noise in Rear.

On the night of April 6, while the father was away buying pantry provisions for the next day, Bruno heard a suspicious noise that seemed to come from the garage in the rear. He lifted the kitchen window and was peering outside when he thought he heard the gate creak.

From a bedroom closet, Bruno took his father's shotgun, loaded both barrels and with extra shell in his pocket, tiptoed down the front stairs. He crept along the pitch dark passage to the rear and, reaching the end where the light was better, saw a figure emerge from the shadows of the garage and start across the yard.

Fires Both Barrels.

Bruno knelt, steadied the gun on a ledge of the house, and fired both barrels. His quarry fled without a sound and Bruno was reloading his weapon before advancing when there came a faint cry: "Bruno, Bruno."

Bruno dropped the gun, ran to the stricken man, turned him over and recognized his father's face. He called his brothers and together they carried the father into the house, from whence he was shortly removed to Holy Cross hospital. He had been wounded in the right thigh and right knee.

Sons Gather at Bedside.

For a time the attending physicians gave hope of Budrik's recovery, but on Sunday, under the shock of his wounds and chronic high blood pressure, he suffered an apoplectic stroke. He was nearly speechless from paralysis when the sons gathered at the bedside last evening, but managed to lift his hand and rest it on Bruno's head.

"Son, don't cry, for I am going to join your mother," he said, haltingly. "Carry on the work at the store. And you, Martin and Benjamin, be loyal to your brother always."

Budrik closed his eyes. His hand dropped to the covert. In a few minutes he was dead.

MRS. HOOVER UNABLE TO HEAR PRESIDENT BECAUSE OF A COLD

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—A severe cold tonight prevented Mrs. Herbert Hoover from attending the meeting of the D. A. R. at which the President was the principal speaker. Although she was not confined to her bed, Mrs. Hoover was advised by the White House physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone, to remain indoors for a day or two.

Mrs. Hoover was feeling well yesterday, but was not feeling well when she arose this morning. Her cold is the second severe attack during the winter.

BARS COP FROM OWN AUTO AND IS SHOT TWICE

Philip Rinnell, 25 years old, 6227 West 25th street, was shot in the abdomen and right leg by Policeman Philip Tooney of the south park force early this morning at 26th street and Wentworth avenue when Rinnell, according to the policeman, tried to prevent him from entering his own car.

Fifteen minutes before the shooting Tooney's car had collided with one occupied by Fred Sir, 3541 Lowe avenue, and James Townsend, 125 West 26th street. Tooney took the pair to Cottage Grove police station, and returning to get his own machine, found Rinnell at the scene.

Rinnell ordered the policeman not to enter the car and, when Tooney ignored him, reached towards his hip pocket. Tooney, assuming he was dealing with an armed man, drew his own weapon, firing three shots, of which two took effect. Taken to the Wesley Memorial hospital in a serious condition, Rinnell refused to make a statement. Sir and Townsend denied knowing him.

GANDHI'S ARREST LOOMS AS INDIA JAILS HIS CHIEFS

Women Volunteers Open Drive on Liquor.

BOMBAY, April 14.—(AP)—With the arrest of two prominent Indian Nationalist leaders in connection with the civil disobedience campaign of Mahatma Gandhi, the situation is believed to be growing more serious and the next event expected is the arrest of Gandhi himself, although the authorities thus far have been evading this step.

The Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the All-India congress, today was sentenced to six months' simple imprisonment for violation of the salt law, while J. M. Sengupta, mayor of Calcutta and president of the Bengal civil disobedience committee, was sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment on charges of sedition, conspiracy, and obstructing the police.

Large crowds surrounded the court at Naini, where Nehru was tried, the sympathizers waving flags.

Call Day of Mourning. Members of the Bombay congress committee immediately decided to observe a day of mourning, and the Nationalist "war council" sent out 500 volunteers as salesmen of contraband salt.

One of the leaders of the band was Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya. She has been taking a leading part in the passive resistance movement at Bombay the last few days and once she auctioned salt at the cotton market.

Five other arrests were made here today for violation of the salt law. After the conviction of Sengupta at Calcutta, the police commissioner prohibited all public meetings and processions without licenses. Three meetings of Nationalists were dispersed.

Women in Drive on Rum.

As a preliminary to the picketing of liquor shops at Bhirnand tomorrow thirty women volunteers marched through the village today, chanting a war cry against alcoholic drinks. The marchers approached one liquor shop and implored the men and women patrons to drink the blood of the volunteers rather than liquor. One woman in the shop threw away her drink, but the men placidly drained their glasses.

The leader of the battle against the government salt tax, Gandhi himself, will go to Umber tomorrow for a mass civil disobedience meeting.

No Need for Alarm—Benn.

LONDON, April 14.—(AP)—An expression of full confidence that the government of India would be able to deal satisfactorily with the present campaign of nonviolent resistance was made in the house of commons today by Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India.

The minister declared Mahatma Gandhi's movement has developed generally along the lines anticipated by the government. Defiance of the provisions of the salt law by manufacture of illicit salt was not in itself causing much trouble, he declared, adding that the real significance lay in the attempt to use the acts as a means of rousing public sentiment to a dangerous pitch.

Falls 60 Feet Off Starved Rock, Youth Near Death

A 10 foot plunge off Starved Rock to a ledge above the Illinois river near La Salle on Sunday, left 16 year old Raymond Pawlikowski, 1246 West 15th street, near death in the La Salle hospital yesterday. The youth was walking along the edge of the precipice when a piece of turf loosened.

MOVIE STAR ASKS DIVORCE

COLLEEN MOORE.

Mental Cruelty, Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—Colleen Moore, moving picture actress, filed a brief divorce complaint in Superior court today against her producer husband, John McCormick. Mental cruelty was charged.

Several specific occasions were listed by Miss Moore in her complaint. On Sept. 1, 1929, McCormick was alleged to have absented himself from a dinner party without explanation, and in the same month was said to have ordered some of his wife's guests off the tennis courts at the couple's Bel-Air home for no reason, and to the accompaniment of abusive language.

In January, 1929, Miss Moore declared, the producer left home in an angry mood and remained away for several days, and in December, 1929, he ordered her out of their home.

The couple was married Aug. 18, 1929, and separated March 7, 1930. A property settlement has been arranged and Miss Moore's complaint does not ask for any financial settlement. McCormick indicated he will not contest the suit.

POLICE BELIEVE KIDNAPERS HOLD ROCKFORD MAN

Rockford Ill., April 14.—(AP)—Lewis E. Heitter, 45, reputed racehorse bookmaker, was believed by police tonight to be a captive for ransom. William E. Ryan, his partner, reported that he had found on his porch early yesterday a note in Heitter's handwriting asking him to "do what he could" toward raising a fund of $50,000 to buy Heitter's release. He added that Heitter left Janesville, Wis., Friday in an automobile to come to Rockford, but never arrived.

Police said that, when Heitter's "office" here was raided six months ago, he transferred his activities to Janesville, leaving Ryan in charge here.

JUDGE SEEKS DEFINITION OF "PARTY GIRL"

Fate of Movie Hinges on What He Learns.

Judge William B. Lindsay cocked a puzzled ear yesterday toward witnesses endeavoring to enlighten him as to exactly what is a "party girl." Opinions presented in the suit to dissolve the injunction under which the film of that name is being shown elicited the contradictory reports that it was an educational feature driving home a great moral lesson, and that it was too obscene even for the view of adults.

One matron who took the stand to protest against the picture gave her version of its interpretation, and averred she had been horrified beyond words at its content. She added primly that she had gone alone, when asked who accompanied her, and said that she "wouldn't care to have her husband or her son see such a disgraceful picture."

Reply Brings Laughter.

"What do your husband and your son do?" inquired Simon Herr, attorney for the motion picture interests.

"They are traveling salesmen," the court-room howled. The levity was occasioned in part by the fact that the scenes to which objections were most strenuously made represented the philandering and high revel of business men attending a convention in a strange town.

Judge Lindsay indicated that his decision regarding the picture will be made today, largely on the basis of the definition of a "party girl," as nearly as he can learn it. It is the contention of the producers that the term implies merely a girl who lends her company to parties given for buyers, to promote the obtaining of large orders on which she collects a commission.

Proxy to View Picture. Witnesses called by James N. Kearns of the corporation counsel's office, asserted the subtle but unmistakable trend of the picture was to present a "party girl" as one of those who definitely tread the primrose path. The alleged vicious influence of the story, they declared, was in making such a life picturesque and interesting to the younger generation.

Judge Lindsay delegated Arthur Hargrave Farwell, widely known reform leader, to view the film and report to him tomorrow. Objection to the choice of a proxy was made by Herr, but the court order stood. The Rev. Philip Tarrow, also well known for his reform activities, was also in court. Others who gave testimony against the film included Edith E. Kerr and Anna M. Castello, both of the movie censorship board.

Judge Lindsay indicated that his decision regarding the picture will be made today, largely on the basis of the definition of a "party girl," as nearly as he can learn it. It is the contention of the producers that the term implies merely a girl who lends her company to parties given for buyers, to promote the obtaining of large orders on which she collects a commission.

CITY ASSURED 3,200 FT. FLOW IN PERPETUITY

Court's Decree Is Fair, Officials Say.

Officials of the sanitary district last night found some encouraging angles in the United States Supreme court decision returned yesterday in the long pending lake diversion litigation.

They pointed out that the decree will permit after Dec. 31, 1933, a diversion of water from Lake Michigan average disposal purposes amounting to a total of 3,200 cubic feet per second, including 1,700 normal pumpage. The six lake states fighting the diversion contended this amount was excessive.

The sanitary district, in the decree, is allowed 9 years in which to build its sewage disposal system. The lake states demanded a five year limit, while the sanitary district asked for twelve years.

The entire cost of the system, estimated at upwards of $250,000,000, must be borne by the district. Already $81,000,000 has been spent on disposal works. Ways of raising the additional $170,000,000 will be discussed at once, they said.

Decision Fair, Says Kelley.
"There is nothing surprising about the decision of the Supreme court," Edward J. Kelley, chief engineer for the drainage board, said last night. "We felt that the master's report would be confirmed by the court. I believe that Master Hughes, after weighing every phase of the matter, made a very fair recommendation when we considered that the financial ability of the sanitary district could not be given weight by the court."

"The engineering department is in a position to go ahead and do the work within the nine years as specified. However, it is my belief that the people will have to be enlightened as to sewage disposal and sewage disposal works. It is unfortunate that most of these plants are on the outskirts of the city and are not viewed by our citizens."

Perpetual Flow Assured.
"The opposing states contended we should not flow any water whatsoever, but with the 1,600 second foot diversion plus the ordinary pumpage of 1,700 allowed by the decision, we are assured a total of 3,200 cubic feet per second perpetual flow."

"We should be grateful that the state contention was overruled in

RUSSIAN CHILDREN TO BE GIVEN PRIZES IF THEY FIGHT CHURCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 14.—The soviet government organization, Redshniks—the Godless—is organizing school children into a campaign against Easter, according to the Moscow Pravda.

Every boy promising to fight observance of Easter in his home will receive a red necktie. Girls will receive red scarves.

During the week before Easter, teachers will instruct children in methods for combating religious observance in their homes. Special anti-Easter courses in subjects formulated by the commissariat of education are being taught this week.

that we do not have sewage going into the lake, thereby contaminating our drinking water and destroying our bathing beaches."

Walter E. Beebe, attorney for the district, pointed out that the complainant's contention that there should be no flow at Lockport, which would result in the discharge of all wastes into the lake, was not countenanced by the court. In view of the Supreme court decision handed down in January, 1929, the decree now given can be regarded as a definite victory for Chicago, he said.

Howard W. Elmore, president of the sanitary board, said that every effort will be made to comply with the requirement for the completion of the artificial sewage treatment program.

PETER BOLAND, STORE OFFICIAL, DIES OF INJURY

Hit by Auto as He Goes Home from Church.

Peter Boland, 163 Lawndale avenue, Elmhurst, died yesterday in the Elmhurst hospital of injuries received last Friday when he was run down by an automobile as he was returning from a Lenten service with his wife and daughter. Mrs. Boland was seriously injured and the daughter escaped unhurt. Mr. Boland has been an official of The Fair store for 25 years.

Four deaths in Cook county yesterday raised the 1930 motor toll to 249. The victims:

Charles Gehlke, 47 years old, a rag picker, 1515 West Austin avenue. Died in his home of injuries received Sunday when his wagon was struck by an automobile driven by Raymond Peterson, 2314 Fullerton avenue, at Grand and California avenues. Gehlke's horse was so badly injured that it was shot.

Joseph McGowan, 55 years old, 7513 South May street. Died in the Auburn Park hospital of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by an automobile at Racine avenue and 75th street. The driver, Thomas Burke, 8024 South Paulina street, was not held.

Joseph Cianciarulo, 61 years old, 1115 Erie street. Died in the county hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident Aug. 8.

Lupe Hargro, 9 years old, 1140 South Halsted street. Died in the county hospital of injuries received Saturday when he was struck by an automobile at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. The driver, Charles Arnold, 1567 West Monroe street, was held. The coroner's office yesterday began an investigation of the death of Everett J. Dean, 1707 South 6th avenue. Maywood, who saved the lives of two sons but lost his own by doing so when his automobile was trapped on a railroad crossing in Broadview. Dean threw George, 3 years old, and Martin, 7, from the machine. As he prepared to throw a third son, John, 9, from the car it was struck by an Indiana Harbor Belt line freight train. The two youngest boys suffered only slight bruises, and John was slightly hurt.

WINS DIVORCE FROM DR. EYE.
Mrs. Gladys Esther Eys, 3831 North Whipple street, yesterday won a divorce from Dr. Charles Howard Eys before Superior Judge Lewis. She charged cruelty and was awarded the custody of their son, Charles Jr., and $25 a week alimony. The Eys were married Aug. 8, 1925, and separated Sept. 21, 1928.

WEST PARK HEAD PLANS REPLY TO PAY ROLL CHARGE

"City Hall Raid" Told by Commissioner.

W. R. James, president of the west park board, said yesterday that "within a few days" he would issue an answer to charges made by James J. Cullen, another member of the board. Mr. Cullen earlier in the day made public a letter sent by him before the primary to Gov. Emmerson in which Cullen charged that the west park pay rolls are loaded with followers of former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and leaders of the city hall organization.

"I have been engaged for some weeks in managing the campaign for United States senator of Mrs. McCormick," said President James. He pointed out that Cullen, who was a Denen supporter and candidate for ward committeeman, had been defeated in the primary. "I don't know anything about his charges," Mr. James added, "and they sound like the cries of a disgruntled loser, but they will be investigated and I shall issue a formal answer, probably on Wednesday."

Both James and Cullen were appointed by Gov. Emmerson, who, up to now, has taken no side in the controversy, which is expected to flare into an open battle at the next meeting of the board.

In his letter to the governor Cullen declared that he had signed the March pay roll under protest.

Sees Raid by "City Hall."

"My reason for this I wish to state now," he wrote. "To prevent the worthy workers of the west park from being made to suffer by reason of a raid on the treasury of this system by the 'city hall' pay roll brigade I agreed to approve this month's pay roll."

"But I believe it to be my duty to inform you that advantage of the absence of your representative as president of the commission (James) is being taken by the political element responsible for the era of waste, graft, extravagance, and overpaid pay rolls in the Chicago city hall which is now the subject of inquiry by the Cook county grand jury and the state's attorney."

"This last month's pay roll of the west park commission reflects on its face a violation of state civil service rules and regulations and an increase of $11,000 over and above the total for the corresponding period of 1929."

Crowe Sponsors Employees.

"I am reliably informed that there stands charged on the employment records of the park system a total of 11 employees to Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney. In addition there are at least 30 employees carried on the pay roll credited to the sponsorship of the president, W. R. James, and a considerable number of places for which the Thompson-Galpin-Snow organization represented by one Frank Ringa, Charles E. Graydon, Thomas Brookmeyer, and John Dempsey assume responsibility."

Mr. Cullen charged in the letter that Commissioner John A. Palka acted as president with the permission of President James while James was engaged in the McCormick campaign and that this arrangement was the factor which permitted the pay roll loading. The duties of president, in the absence of Mr. James, should have fallen to Vice President Theodore W. Bunte, Cullen declared.

Mr. James denied that he arranged to have Palka serve as president. Commissioner Bunte said he had been out-

JOHN D. IS MOVING N. Y. CENTRAL TRACKS OFF POCANTICO ESTATE

Tarrytown, N. Y., April 14.—(AP)—Five hundred workmen in the employ of John D. Rockefeller Jr. today were at work building a spur railroad track which will reroute the New York Central railroad around Mr. Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills estate. Removal of the road from the property is expected to cost Mr. Rockefeller $5,000,000.

Clearing the railroad away from his estate marks a victory for Mr. Rockefeller in a fight his father started 25 years ago. The spur under construction will perhaps be the costliest five miles of railroad in the world.

Mr. Rockefeller's only gain will be removal of the spur from Pocantico Hills and possession of the right of way.

of town and knew nothing of the Cullen charges.

Mr. Cullen closed his letter to the governor as follows:

"Unless I am to be expected, in my capacity as commissioner, to function only as a rubber stamp for the activities of an agent of the city hall machine, may I respectfully request that you give this communication your earliest consideration."

Mr. Cullen's letter to the governor was received by the state's attorney.

Palka acted as president with the permission of President James while James was engaged in the McCormick campaign and that this arrangement was the factor which permitted the pay roll loading. WRIGHT ACCUSED OF SLAYING FOE, DRY PROSECUTOR and there the bloody trail had gaps and it was reasoned that the wounded man had placed his hand in his pocket. The drops of blood led to the back door of Wright's home in town and there ceased.

Shortly afterward Wright was arrested while walking in the main street. His hand was bandaged. His right hand pocket was bloodstained. He was intoxicated, the officials said, and was noisy and abusive when taken to the jail. The rowboat had been stolen from Chester Beckman. A search revealed blood on another boat nearby and on the lock which had been broken.

Wright late tonight indicated what his explanation of the blood trail would be. He said he had cut his finger while fishing and that the drops of blood seen near his home probably were from this cut. He declared he knew nothing of the traces of blood which were followed from the rowboat to the main street of town. Mysterious telephone calls made by Wright last Saturday were being traced. He made several long distance calls to Milwaukee, according to witnesses, and conversed with one "Red." To this person he was said to have remarked "better let things rest for a day or two."

Mrs. Frances Liest, secretary to the slain prosecutor, may be called as a witness today, it was learned. A report persisted that she had taken down part of the statement which Price had promised to expose booby conditions here. She refused to be interviewed pending a summons before the coroner's jury.

The shot gun which had killed Price was found on the river bottom near where the rowboat had been abandoned.

QUIZ CHICAGOAN.

At the request of Sheriff Hempelman of Juneau county, Wisconsin, a detective bureau squad took Albert Engers, 50, 528 North Elizabeth street, into custody yesterday for questioning. Engers told Lieut. Phil Carroll that from 6:30 o'clock to midnight of Sunday he was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steinbeck, 507 Sedgwick street, and this statement was corroborated.

TAKE FOOTPRINTS OF BABY IN HUNT FOR HIS MOTHER

Jimmie Taylor Stevens, who has held open house to hundreds of would-be foster fathers and mothers since his arrival in St. Vincent's orphanage, yesterday was escorted to the detective bureau of information, where his footprint was taken.

Detective Sergeant Thomas Baynes, Detective Thomas Barlow and Policewoman May Corbin, who are trying to find the mother of the 11 months' old baby, took his footprint for the purpose of sending it to all Detroit hospitals. Hospitals keep records of all babies born in the institutions by their footprints.

Jimmie was found abandoned in Room 755-A of the Stevens hotel on April 6. The previous night two women with Jimmie, had registered as "Mrs. M. Taylor, daughter and child, Detroit."

Slates in charge in St. Vincent's orphanage last night said that they probably would take Jimmie to their institution's branch home at Park Ridge, as daily stream of visitors he receives is exciting him too much.

5,000 BOY SCOUTS TO SEARCH SHORE FOR FLYER TODAY

Girl Flies Again in Vain
Hunt for Skelton.

While the staff of flyers at Palwaukee airport yesterday dropped their search for Ralph Fisher Skelton, Chicago artist and aviator, who has been missing since Thursday on a flight from Ann Arbor to Chicago, a ground search of the lake shore on the Michigan side will be instituted today by Boy Scout troops.

Walter H. Head, scout executive and Chicago financier, yesterday ordered the mobilization of 5,000 Michigan Boy Scouts to start the search of the lake country and along the Lake Michigan shore. W. H. Kipinger, Boy Scout regional commander, said that troops from Jackson, Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, Michigan City, and Battle Creek would participate in the search.

Girl Makes 2 Flights.

Miss Betty Cook of Evanston, a friend of Skelton, took to the air twice yesterday in the belief that the flyer might still be found. In the morning she left the municipal airport with Pilot Charles Brouse and retraced the course from Lake Michigan to Kalamazoo which she had flown with other pilots on the day before.

Late in the afternoon Miss Cook made a hurried flight to Chesterton, Ind., where it was reported that a plane which might have been Skelton's tapered wing Waco had been seen last Thursday, the day of the flyer's disappearance. When this news reached Chicago Miss Cook took off from Curtiss airport in a plane piloted by Perry Hodgson, who gave Skelton his flight training. At Chesterton they learned that a plane which one pilot said was a Waco biplane passed over the town about 6:30 Thursday evening, headed southward and later returned, flying toward the lake. Such a plane would be of the same type as Skelton's.

To Await Definite Word.

Miss Cook and Pilot Hodgson found no trace of the plane, however, in their search of the region about Chesterton. They returned to Chicago late in the evening. Miss Cook announced that she would not fly out again in search of Skelton unless some definite information regarding his whereabouts is received.

Clifford Condit, chief pilot for Palwaukee airport, stated last night that further search for the lost flyer would be futile and expressed the belief that Skelton's plane had gone into the lake. Maj. R. W. Schroeder, manager of the Curtiss-Wright flying service, stated that a strong south wind was blowing Thursday night and that if Skelton's plane fell into the lake the wreckage of it may be found along the lake shore north of Chicago.

The missing flyer's mother, Mrs. June Skelton, accompanied by her manager son, Byron, and her daughter, Mrs. C. Ralph Wardman and Mrs. C. A. Olson, arrived here last night from Port Byron, Ill. After a conference with Pilot Perry Hodgson in her son's apartment, 619 North Michigan avenue, Mrs. Skelton authorized publication of a notice that she would pay a $100 reward for any information leading to the finding of her son.

NYE PLANS HUNT FOR BIG FUND IN PENN. PRIMARIES

Illinois Senate Race Also May Be Probed.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—Senator Gerald P. Nye (Rep., N. D.), named today as chairman of the special senatorial campaign expenditures committee, indicated in a statement accepting the appointment that the Grundy-Davis primary contest in Pennsylvania will probably be the first to come under the committee's scrutiny. The Pennsylvania primary will be held on May 20.

Within an hour after he had been selected for the post declined by Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep., Cal.) and Senator C. C. Dill (Dem., Wash.) was named to the place refused by Senator Key Pittman (Dem., Nev.), the North Dakota senator, one of the senate radical group, announced that the committee will meet Wednesday to map out its procedure. At that time Nye said, a suggestion that former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who conducted a similar probe in 1924, be retained as special counsel, will be considered.

"Numerous complaints have been received concerning both the recent McCormick-Densen primary fight in Illinois and the Grundy-Davis primary in Pennsylvania," said Nye. As chairman of the public lands committee, Nye, the second youngest member of the senate, conducted the 1927 Teapot Dome oil scandal investigation into the Continental Trading company phase of the dealings between Harry F. Sinclair and Albert R. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

22 1/2% OF BRITISH INCOMES TAKEN BY NEW TAX LAW

New Budget Also Hits Beer and Death Duties.

BY JOHN STEELE

LONDON, April 14.—Financial and commercial England breathed a sigh of relief when the terms of the first budget by Philip Snowden, Laborite chancellor of the exchequer, became known this afternoon. For weeks the air has been full of rumors that Mr. Snowden had planned all sorts of raids on the rich; but this afternoon when he revealed the budget it was found to be on orthodox financial lines.

There is not a single new tax, and the only increases are laid on those most able to bear them. This is really Mr. Snowden's first budget, for, although he introduced one when the Labor party was in power in 1924, it was not entirely his own. Owing to the short time he had for its preparation he had to base his taxation plans on those of his Tory predecessor.

Faced Seventy Million Deficit. This time he was faced again with the legacy of the Tories, for he had to provide for a deficit of $70,470,000, which was left by his predecessor, Winston Churchill.

Mr. Snowden estimated the revenue for the coming year on existing taxes at $3,593,875,000, and the expenditures at $3,799,278,740. Therefore, he had to find $205,403,865 extra, and proposed to do this in the least painful way.

The outstanding change in the taxation is an increase of six pence in the pound (12 cents in $4.86) in the income tax, making the standard rate four shillings and six pence in the pound ($1.12 in $4.86), or 22 1/2 per cent. This is tempered, however, to those with small incomes by a relief of two shillings and six pence in the pound (60 cents) in the first 250 pounds of income, so that for some people the actual tax will be less than last year. This extra six pence tax will produce an estimated $116,640,000.

Another increase is in the death duties. Estates of over $10,000,000 will now pay 50 instead of 40 per cent death duties to the state, and legislation will be introduced to block the evasion of these duties by the formation of limited companies or taking out large one payment insurances. The super-tax is also to be increased. It will begin as at present, at 2,000 pounds ($9,720) annually; but the tax will be increased from 9 pence to a shilling in a pound (18 cents to 24 cents in $4.86). He estimated the super-tax would bring in $60,760,000.

Drinking Tax Boosted. Lest the budget should seem to be directed entirely against the middle and upper classes, the workingman will get his share of increase in the tax on beer of 75 cents per barrel. It is estimated that by the time the publican and the brewer get through with the tax the drinker will have to pay 1 cent more for his pint. The McKenna duties are to be maintained, but allowed to expire in accordance with the periods fixed when they were instituted.

One Socialist measure which all expected was only foreshadowed. Mr. Snowden said that he was anxious to put a tax on land values, but before doing so it would be necessary to know what they are. Therefore he proposed the introduction of legislation for the revaluation of all of the land in Great Britain, preparatory to a land tax in the next budget.

TWO HANDS ROSE THEATRE. Two bandits yesterday forced Edwin B. Lewis, manager of the Tivoli theatre in Aurora, to open the safe in his office and after taking $460 from it, they bound Lewis and Walter Gromer, his assistant, and Ed. Lewis and Gromer freed themselves after an hour's effort.

DUCHESS FOUND GUILTY OF TRYING TO KILL HERSELF

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, April 14.—The duchess of Leinster, formerly May Etheridge and once a musical comedy star, was found guilty today of attempting to commit suicide on April 1, when she was found apparently unconscious in the gas filled kitchen of her two room London flat. The duchess was remanded to custody until Saturday pending a medical report.

Spectators, who jammed the courtroom, were treated to a spicy rehearsal of the bitter squabble between the duchess and Stanley Williams, a jobless chef, which led up to his smashing the radio and her turning on the gas.

The duchess maintained she had not the slightest intention of killing herself and only wanted to frighten Mr. Williams. Williams told the court he did not care whether she committed suicide or not. He admitted she had supported him for six months. According to her testimony, the duchess faked the suicide, writing farewell postcards and leaving them where Williams would see them. She claimed she turned on the gas.

DENIED RIGHT TO ADVERTISE PURE RUM, KILLS SELF

Columbia, S. C., April 14.—(AP)—A police court judge gave S. B. Hiller, Columbia man, charged with attempting to advertise "pure chard corn whiskey" in an afternoon paper here, his orders today. He obeyed them to the letter.

"I am going to release you," the judge told him, "on condition that you leave town. We don't want your kind in Columbia."

Hiller, with three pistol wounds in his head, was found in his home a few hours later. He died on the way to a hospital. It was suicide, officers said.

BARRETT OUT TO WIN TREASURER POST, HE SAYS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

"I'm going into the campaign this fall to win."

This declaration was made yesterday by Edward James Barrett, 30 year old former service man, who defeated M. C. Zacharias, a banker, the Democratic organization candidate for state treasurer.

Until the primary election last Tuesday Barrett was classed as a political unknown and his nomination without inquiry from the Democratic leaders of the state about his identity.

Barrett is unmarried and lives with his parents and three sisters at 5728 South Maplewood avenue. He served with the 131st Infantry overseas and spent 37 months in hospitals as a result of wounds.

He was formerly private secretary to "Dago Mike" Carrozzo, who several years ago was associated with the late "Big Tim" Murphy in the management of the street sweeper, street foremen's, and license investigators' unions.

"Democratic leaders of the regular organization began to bear down on Carrozzo, trying to force me out of the race," Barrett said. "I didn't want to get Mike in bad, so I stepped out of his organization." He added that he spent only $100 on his campaign.

Cops Nab "Ghost" Playing in Cemetery; He's Fined $5

Charged with disturbing the peace by attempting to impersonate a ghost, Jack Gambley, 34 years old, a Waukegan plumber, was fined $5 yesterday by Judge Erickson in Town Hall court.

Residents living on the border of Rosehill cemetery summoned Town Hall police Monday night to investigate a wraithlike figure they had seen frisking among the tombstones. A police squad stalked the figure and captured the plumber in his underwear.

Raid Counterfeit Plant; Man and Woman Arrested

Elaborate apparatus for the production of counterfeit $20 federal reserve notes was seized yesterday in a raid by federal secret service operatives on a plant at 3719 Pine Grove avenue before a single reproduction had been made. Kurt W. Kirschberg and Marie T. Lorenz, the latter having a record for shoplifting, were arrested and held in bonds of $5,000 each by United States Commissioner Walker. A preliminary hearing was set for April 18. Seven negatives for $20 notes, together with copper plates and other equipment, were seized. The woman tried to destroy the negatives in the office of Capt. Thomas Callaghan, chief of the Chicago secret service branch.

"In character, in manners, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity"

—LONGFELLOW

If any foods measured up to "supreme excellence" in the poet's land of Acadia, home of Evangeline, assuredly those foods were epitomized in the simple wholesomeness of sweet milk and cream, supplemented with the goodness of fresh fruits.

And if any food, available to the home of today, measures up to an Acadian ideal of supreme excellence, that food is the same healthful simplicity of cream and milk and fruits which makes Hydrox Ice Cream supremely excellent.

CAR CONFEREES AGREE ON WAY TO FIX RETURN RATE

Franchise Clause Up to Attorneys Today.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
An agreement on the financial return to the new consolidated car company was reached yesterday afternoon in the transportation franchise negotiations. The rate of return is said to be the chief obstacle to a complete accord on the ordinance franchise. Yesterday's understanding is to be passed upon today by attorneys.

The view of Attorney Walter L. Fisher prevailed. As now written, the ordinance provides a "fair and reasonable" return to the new company to be formed by a consolidation of the surface and elevated lines. But during the first three years the return shall not be more than the separate companies earned last year, plus the same rate on new money invested. Any excess earnings are to be used to reduce the capitalization of the company. In that three year period a minimum of $45,000,000 is to be spent on extensions and betterments.

Excess to be Recaptured.
After the three years the "fair and reasonable" return is to be determined by the regulatory commission. Any excess collected shall be turned over to the transit trustee of the city. The company is permitted to appeal to the courts from a ruling of the commission on a fair and reasonable return.

After that section has been written the bankers—Frank O. Wetmore, Eugene M. Stevens, and C. F. Clarke—left the conference in Attorney Fisher's office to ascertain the views of their lawyers. If they approve this morning, it is expected that other disputes will be ironed out during the day, or during tomorrow, at the latest.

It was the contention of the company lawyers yesterday that neither the Illinois commerce commission nor the new local commission has authority to fix a return to the company. Only the power to fix fares, it was claimed, has been conferred by the legislature.

Trusteeship Is a Problem.
Of the remaining points in dispute, the powers of the transit trustee are looked upon as the most difficult of settlement. This trustee will take over the city's $61,000,000 car fund and receive and disburse the city's compensation of 3 per cent of the gross annual receipts of the new company. In the draft of ordinance presented yesterday it provided that the trustee might invest his trust funds in the city's tax anticipation warrants. When the conference adjourned last night it was practically agreed that this provision shall be eliminated.

When the trustee, who is to be appointed by the mayor, subject to approval by the city council, receives the city's $61,000,000 transit fund he will get about $2,500,000 in cash and the remainder in city tax warrants issued mostly on anticipated revenues of 1929 and 1930. If the ordinance becomes effective this year it was argued that the city administration would insist that the trustee buy more 1930 warrants and probably start in buying 1931 warrants next January. It was pointed out that this would put all of the cash in tax warrants and no funds would be available for subway building.

The conferees tentatively decided to avoid delay in the subway construction. A clause in the trusteeship provision says the trustee shall pay the expense of the city in carrying out its duties under the franchise. That was interpreted to mean that in a rate case the city could call upon the trustee for large sums of money for the special lawyers and experts. The trustee is also obliged to pay the expenses of the local utility commission.

The negotiations will be resumed in Attorney Fisher's office at 11 o'clock this morning.

Ability to Ride Bicycle
Disproves Drunk Charge

August Woltman, 1146 Wesley avenue, Evanston, arrested on a charge of riding a bicycle while intoxicated, won his freedom yesterday when he challenged Police Magistrate J. P. Rusa of Evanston to try to ride the bicycle while intoxicated. Woltman admitted that the bicycle was weaving from side to side but attributed the eccentric conduct to the fact that the handlebars are crooked and the front tire was leaking. Judge Rusa agreed that ability to ride the machine at all was proof of sobriety.

SEEK TO PREVENT POLICE ACTION AGAINST CABARET

A petition for an injunction to restrain the police from interfering with the operation of the Little club, a cafe at 975 North State street, was filed yesterday in the Superior court by Attorney Louis Fisher. Fisher said the Chicago avenue police have threatened to arrest any one who tries to enter the night club if it is reopened. The Little club was operated formerly by Leonard Leon and Leon Sweitzer, who was shot in Texas Guinan's Green Mill cabaret at 4886 Broadway on March 22. Leon and Sweitzer since then have sold the club and Fisher said he filed the petition on behalf of the new owners, who "wish to operate it in a lawful manner." He refused to disclose their identities.

Shortly before Sweitzer was shot in a quarrel over the rent which he claimed Miss Guinan and her manager, Harry O. Volter, owed him a bomb was placed at a rear door of the Little club, but it failed to explode. The police attributed the bombing attempt to trouble which Sweitzer and Leon had been having with other night club operators.

QUIZ SUSPECT IN MORALS CASE ON STATION KILLING

John De Wolf, 34 years old, 1922 South 14th avenue, Maywood, was being held by the police of West Chicago last night for questioning concerning the murder of Mrs. Agnes Lavender, 5451 Lodi avenue, who was shot to death near the Forest Glen station of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad station two months ago. De Wolf was arrested in St. Charles yesterday on a charge of annoying several West Chicago women.

He admitted that he was the "inquiring autoist" about whom the West Chicago police had received many complaints, but denied that he knew anything about the Lavender case. Chief of Police Clarence Sullivan asked Allen Myers, chief investigator for State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed of Du Page county, to investigate the case. De Wolf is married and the father of three children. He is employed as a crane operator by a Geneva contractor.

He will be arraigned today before Justice J. M. Heiser in West Chicago, on the indecent exposure charge.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Leaves Chicago for West

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. left Chicago yesterday on the Overland limited of the Chicago and North Western railroad for San Francisco. Mrs. Vanderbilt was formerly Mary Weir, daughter of W. R. Weir of Davenport, Ia.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG!

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a lousy look in your face—dull eye with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound, as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 25c, 45c.

Cadillac V-8

... the truly economical car—
—what it gives you

Special Spring

THIS

Cadillac
La Salle
and
V-16

THE Cadillac V-8 is the most economical of fine cars because Cadillac manufacturing renders repair, upkeep and operating costs so low. In what it gives you in value, no car outside of the Cadillac family can possibly equal. None other has the magnificent manufacturing facilities and the years of precision experience. No other fine car has such an extensive ownership.

CONSIDER the exclusive advantages which the Cadillac V-8 gives you:

With the entire industry discussing transmissions, Cadillac perfected a transmission that simplifies gear-shifting instead of complicating it. This transmission virtually gives you an unlimited number of speeds, because you can shift without hesitation from second to high, and from high to second at any reasonable speed without the slightest noise or clashing.

So too, the eight-cylinder Cadillac is equipped with the most scientific brakes ever developed—brakes that permit you to make more miles per hour with greater safety; brakes that are unfailing—you cannot overheat them, effortless in operation because of fifteen sets of roller bearings, positive because the brake shoes always give full surface action.

The Cadillac Eight harmonized steering system permits you to maneuver the most congested traffic or drive cross-country without the slightest steering strain or whip.

Save for La Salle and the sixteen-cylinder Cadillac, no other cars at any price possess these ultra-modern features.

IN THE Cadillac V-8, eight-cylinders attain their maximum effectiveness.

Clutch; fuel system; electrical equipment; spring suspension; frame construction; front and rear axle construction—every mechanism and appointment in the Cadillac V-8 has been refined and improved to the extreme limit of engineering and manufacturing knowledge.

As for body construction and appointment, your own eyes can quickly see the startling difference between the Fisher and Fleetwood bodies with which the eight-cylinder Cadillac is equipped, and all other motor car bodies.

The eight-cylinder Cadillac is equipped throughout with non-shatterable plate glass without any additional cost.

A telephone message to the Cadillac dealer in your community will bring a trials car to your door. Take advantage of the G. M. A. C. Deferred Payment Plan. Your present car may well cover the initial payment.

Why You Should Never Cut a Corn

If you are troubled with corns or calluses, do not run the risk of blood poisoning by picking them. Statistics show that many deaths have occurred from this seemingly innocent practice of picking corns.

Simply go to your druggist and get a few cents' worth of Ido-Min, rub a little on any painful corn or callous. Immediately the pain will disappear. In a short time the corn or callous will loosen and lift off easily with the fingers—red and all—leaving the surrounding skin in a healthy normal condition.

This, together with the fact that Ido-Min overcomes such afflictions as sore, tired, aching, puffed or burning feet and makes them cool, easy and comfortable, is probably responsible for the heavy endorsement given it by druggists.

To rid one's feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes or painful calluses in such a pleasant and safe way, makes it seem the height of folly for anyone to spare a corn and people are warned to stop it.

New line for old—The new Silhouette is a matter of personal accomplishment; a matter between you and your Foundation Garment. Remember that when you buy your new Foundation.

Remember too, that your Foundation is the one garment that you buy, not for what it is, but for what it does. Its only measure of value is in its performance.

That is why makers of America's finest Foundations are so scrupulously careful in the selection of the elastic—the active element in the service of the Garment and the fabric that makes possible the new Silhouette. They use one supreme quality knitted elastic—Kenlastic.

That you may recognize this superior fabric that insures complete and perfect accomplishment in your Foundation, every piece of genuine Kenlastic is marked at top and bottom borders with a wavy blue line. It is your guarantee of supreme quality knitted elastic.

ARABS DEMAND BIGGER VOICE IN PALESTINE RULE

Accuse Britain of Ignoring Mandate Promises.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
JERUSALEM, April 14.—The Arabs in Palestine have felt since the war that they have been deprived of even the small amount of self-government that they enjoyed under the Turks. There were accredited Arab representatives in the Ottoman parliament. They believed that, according to the promises given by the British to the Arabs, Palestine was included in the Arab area and would be given independence and a national government. They especially mention the circulars dropped from British airplanes calling upon the Arabs in the Turkish army to join the British, with a promise of national government.

The Arab population was upset by the Balfour declaration. Ever since the mandatory government under a high commissioner was established, they charge, the whole policy has been more or less controlled by the Jewish Agency, or Zionist Executive, which has practically become a dominant part of the administration. The Arabs declare that the mandatory government is inconsistent with the league of nations.

Protest Land Policy.
One of the most burning questions is the appropriation of lands in Palestine by the Jews. The official scheme was that the best lands were to be acquired by the Jews, say the Arabs, who claim that this has to a large extent been achieved. They claim that in many cases the original owners had to accept whatever compensation was given them. For a long time previous to the mandate the Arabs had been occupying the land under what was called the Miri system, which is not leasehold, but almost approached freehold land. The only condition attached was that the land was not to be left uncultivated.

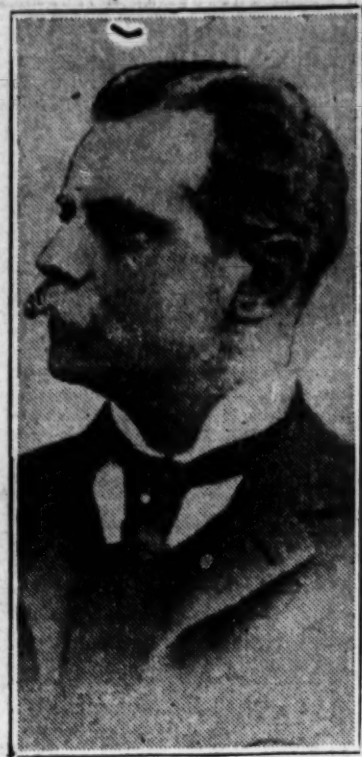

The law which has come in force since the mandatory government is said to have practically deprived the Arabs of their lands without any adequate compensation. It is computed that more than 70,000 Arabs have thus been left without means of support.

Charge Immigration Violations.

The next question was the immigration of the Jews. The number of Jews coming into the country was to be limited, and the limitation was to be under the supervision of a government officer. According to the Arabs, however, the officer was for a long time a Jew, and large numbers of Jews were thus admitted without the proper safeguards being taken.

Other Arab claims include the following: Almost all the economic concessions of the country were given to the Jews at the expense of the Arabs; the "most monstrous" concession was that of the Dead sea; article 5 of the mandate definitely stated that no concession was to be given which would lead to the exploitation of the land by private individuals, but all examples cited show that the concessions so far given were to the advantage of individual Jews only.

Regarding the religious situation, the Arabs specified only that there should be a status quo as existed under the Turkish régime until the whole question was decided by the mandatory power after a full inquiry. The Arabs demand:

To be given self-government according to the population without fear or favor.

To be given an equal chance with the other inhabitants to develop the country.

To be able to maintain all their land rights, as under the old system.

That their religious rights be not interfered with.

That there should be no Zionist domination in their own country.

Sweden Beats Russia to Lithuania Match Monopoly

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
KOVNO, Lithuania, April 14.—After a year of negotiations the Swedish match trust has concluded an agreement with the Lithuanian government for a 25 year monopoly in return for a $6,000,000 loan. The Soviet government made strong objections and the completion of this agreement practically closes the European market to the Russian match trust.

REICHSTAG PUTS HIGHER TAX ON BEER BY 9 VOTES

Skimpy Majorities Save Bruening Cabinet.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BERLIN, April 14.—The German reichstag today accepted the financial proposals and farm relief plan as demanded by Chancellor Heinrich Brüning. But the reichstag only accepted them after a spectacular battle in which every weapon known in the game of politics was brought into play. Skimpy majorities of four, five and nine votes saved the government, thereby preventing the dissolution of the reichstag.

Only once did the government win by a large majority, 46 votes, and that was when it was a political accident. It happened as the Nationalist leader, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, the Hitlerite and Fascist, Dr. Hugenberg and his followers had sworn they would fight acceptance of the law, known as the "Junctum," coupling farm relief with the government's financial proposals.

This morning the reichstag deputies were given the regular agenda with the numbers of the laws, on which they were to pass in the third reading. Dr. Hugenberg and his deputies, failing to read the paper, voted for the "Junctum," believing they were voting for increased customs on benzol, butter and eggs.

Rush Back by Plane.
Government supporters, who were A. W. O. L. in advance of the Easter holidays in Italy, or in Bavaria, rushed back by airplane to help save the Brüning cabinet. One prominent Democrat, Fray Dr. Elsiebeth Lenders, who was at The Hague signing the protocol of the international law codification conference, hurried back to Berlin to cast her vote for the government.

But they were all of minor importance compared to Georg Fisenberger, a Bavarian in knee pants, who together with his two Bavarian colleagues thought they could make or break the cabinet or the present reichstag by voting for or against the increase in the tax on beer.

Beer Tax Wins by 9 Votes.
The Nationalists and Centrists besieged the three Bavarians for their votes in the middle of the hall. One of the Nationalist Junkers pressed his point too strongly, and Eisenberger and his cronies from the Bavarian mountains became angered and voted for the Brüning cabinet, and the increase in the beer tax won by a majority of nine votes.

A still smaller majority of four votes saved the government, when the reichstag voted a tax on mineral water. Ten of the twelve members of the cabinet, who are also members of the reichstag, diligently kept casting votes for the government measures during the hot debates.

PAIR SENTENCED TO BRIDEWELL FOR GUN TOTING

CRIMINAL COURT.
Frank Urrutia, Louis Valdes, and Edward Jimenez, burglars, sentenced to one year each in the bridewell; Edna Strong, carrying concealed weapons, sentenced to one year in the bridewell, by Judge D. J. Normyle.

Aurelia Bacha, rape, sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Sieden.

Edna Strong, 23 years old, and Durrell Foster, 26, both colored, were sentenced to the bridewell yesterday when they pleaded guilty before Chief Justice D. J. Normyle of the Criminal court to carrying concealed weapons.

Strong, who has a police record, was sentenced to the maximum of 1 year, while Foster, who had not been arrested before, was sentenced to three months. The pair were arrested at Vernon avenue and 30th street during the recent police drive against gun toters.

CLEANERS GROUP RAISES PRICES FOR SERVICES

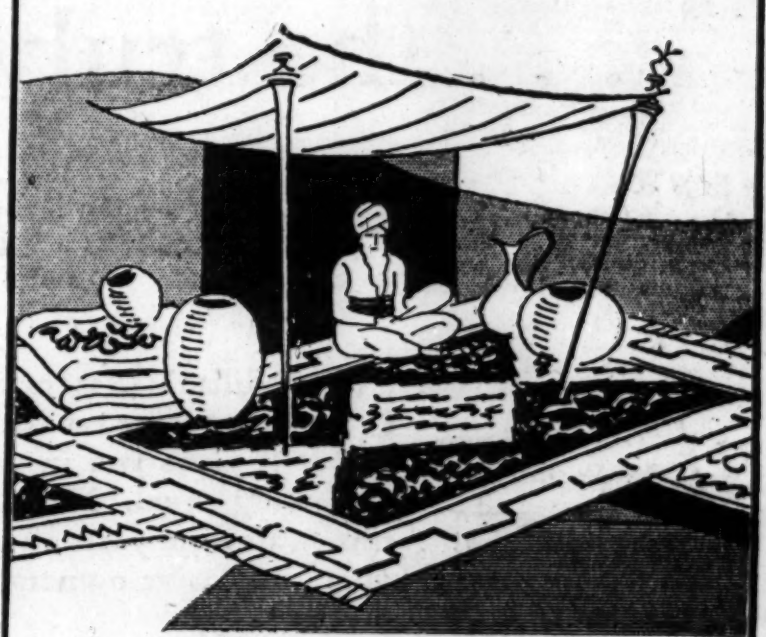

F. W. Crowley, former president of the Master Cleaners and Dyers association, announced yesterday that the price of cleaning and pressing men's suits in the city has been raised from $1 to $1.50. Crowley, who is now head of the City Dye Works at 3015 West Lake street, said the master cleaners now plan a campaign to acquaint the public with the necessity of raising the price for men's suits and also for women's garments, on which the price is raised from $1.50 to $2.75.

Morris Becker, who charged he was ousted from the master's association because of his refusal to enforce their price list, announced his independent firm will continue to charge the $1 rate for cleaning men's suits. Master cleaners state they had to raise prices because of the decision made by Prof. B. M. Squires, arbiter, to restore the 1928 wage scales for the employees of the cleaning industry.

BLAMES "YELLOW DOG" CONTRACT FOR SCHOOL ROW

Scopes Lawyer to Defend Ousted Professors.

Harpersburg, Tenn., April 14.—(Special.)—Dr. John R. Neal, counsel for the ousted professors and striking students of Lincoln Memorial university, today issued a statement in which he explained the causes of the trouble.

The real basis of the trouble, he said, lies in what he termed the "collegiate yellow dog contracts" which he said the members of the faculty were forced to sign.

Attorney Neal's statement was issued in reply to court injunctions issued by Chancellor J. K. Wallace on two members of the faculty and one student, Prof. and Mrs. Meritt N. Miller and Prof. and Mrs. Elliott Van N. Miller and Clay McCarroll, student leader, are enjoined from aiding the strike. The professors also were served with notices evicting them from their homes on the campus.

In his statement Dr. Neal, who was counsel for defense in the Scopes "monkey trial" at Dayton, says the trouble at Lincoln Memorial "is the direct consequence of the character of the contracts under which professors held their positions." This contract, which all professors are forced to sign, he said, "contains the usual provision in regard to salary, amount, and kind of instructions to be given by the professor and length of time the contract was to last, but also contains a very extraordinary provision to the effect that the contracts were subject to cancellation at any time by the president of the university for any reason he deemed sufficient."

"This collegiate yellow dog contract," he said, "has been condemned by every university association in the land; it is regarded by the Association of American College Professors as absolutely destructive of academic freedom."

"Without any previous conference, conversations, or even the slightest intimations that the professors' work was standing in jeopardy," he said, "the president sent a communication through the mail to four of the professors that their contract was cancelled, not stating his reasons. This after reaching the professors several hours after the president himself had left the university."

Students Continue Strike. Undismayed by court action and a warning that suspension would follow if the revolt did not end, students continued their activities. The strikers' ranks were augmented today by members of the baseball and track teams, who, heretofore, on advice of a strike committee of the student body, have been attending classes so as not to diminish their athletic status.

An orderly meeting of the student body was held this morning, featuring a reading of several chapters from the Bible and singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers." During the meeting, two deputy sheriffs stood about, but did not interfere.

The strike was called by the students as a protest against the dismissal of the faculty and as a demand for an impartial investigation to determine why the college had not been recognized as standard by southern and national educational bodies.

4 BANKS CLOSED IN WILLIAMSON COUNTY; 7 WITHIN 2 WEEKS

Marion, Ill., April 14.—(AP)—A shipment of currency from the Federal Reserve bank of St. Louis was received at 4 o'clock today by the First National bank, while Sheriff Owen Coleman and his deputies stood guard with a machine gun, the request for the cash followed the failure of the Marion Trust and Savings bank, the Carterville State and Savings bank, the State bank at Cambria, and the First State bank at Pittsburg to open for business today.

Three other state banks at Herrin, Johnston City and Hurst closed last week. Only one state bank remained open in the county, the Citizens State bank of Creal Springs which had resources of $249,328.45 on March 27. There has been no run at Creal Springs, as the bank is considered one of the strongest in the county. Five national banks were unaffected by the closing of the seven state institutions, the First and City National banks at Herrin, and the First National banks in Marion, Carterville and Johnston City.

VICTORY IS WON BY GOVERNMENT IN CAPONE TRIAL

Evidence of Five Bank Accounts Admitted.

The prosecution yesterday won its major point in the trial of Ralph J. Capone, who is charged with defrauding the government out of income taxes. Federal Judge Wilkerson admitted in evidence bank records relative to five accounts the defendant is alleged to have maintained.

Defense Counsel Dennis M. Kelleher had objected to the admission of these records, unless the bank employees who actually made the entries were called as witnesses. Judge Wilkerson had deferred a ruling on this point and heard arguments yesterday in the absence of the jury.

Call Victory Important.

The government regards the admission of these documents as important because of the defense contention that Capone, who went on trial as "a race horse man," was insolvent when the government charges he failed to make income tax returns and later falsified his assets in connection with a $1,000 offer in compromise.

"Modern business methods make it impossible to put all the employees of a bank who handled records on the witness stand," said Judge Wilkerson. "Under modern procedure, it has been held sufficient for an executive to testify that entries were made under his supervision and in the regular course of business."

The accounts were maintained at the Pinkert State bank, Cicero, from 1924 to 1929, under the names of Ralph Capone, James Costello Jr., James Carson, James Carter, and James Carroll. The government charges that Capone deposited from $300,000 to $500,000 a year under these signatures.

Says Capone Confessed.

Clarence Converse of the intelligence unit of the internal revenue department testified that Capone admitted after his arrest that all the accounts were his, and Judge Wilkerson referred to this testimony in his ruling.

Elmer Kodicek, auditor of the bank, was on the stand most of yesterday identifying the various deposit slips, ledger slips and canceled checks relative to the accounts. He also testified that an admitted standard of Capone's signature was the same as that on the deposit slips.

Mrs. Blanche Wright, former first receiving teller at the bank, testified that all the deposits were made through her window and that the same person, one Tony Aresco, described as a runner for Capone, handled most of them. None of the deposits was made by Capone personally, she said.

The trial of Capone, which began last Wednesday, is the first on a series of indictments obtained by United States Attorney Johnson on income tax fraud charges. The case is expected to require the remainder of the week.

DR. WYNEKOOP IS FINED $200 ON GIRLS' CHARGES

Acting as his own attorney, Dr. Gilbert H. Wynekoop, on his eighth appearance before Judge Fairbank in Jury court yesterday was fined $200 and costs on complaint of Miss Edith Biese, 22 year old nurse of 3571 Palmer avenue, who said he had made improper advances when she answered his advertisement for an assistant.

As a star surprise witness, Dr. Wynekoop called Donald Aflack, 1084 Thorndale avenue, a student of chiropody, who testified he was sitting in a closet reading medical books during the interval Miss Biese was in the room. He pictured the nurse as the aggressor and his testimony brought Miss Biese to the verge of hysterics.

Another of Wynekoop's witnesses, Miss Charlotte Fargo, 1803 Humboldt avenue, refuted the star witness' story under cross-examination. Miss Fargo, the physician's secretary, said she saw no one in the closet of the room all day. Unable to pay the fine, Wynekoop asked for an extension of time, which was granted.

Keeps FROZEN dishes always ready to serve

WHAT a delight the Chiller will be to you when the hot, muggy days of summer are here!

Frapped chicken broth for the noon meal. Frozen fruit salad for dinner. Iced fruit cocktails for the guests who are coming later in the evening. You can have them all prepared and out of the way in the early morning, with the help of the Chiller.

The Chiller keeps frozen dishes frozen all day. It's just the thing to put your extra ice cubes in, when thirsty company is expected. And every General Electric Refrigerator has one.

Multi-Temperature Feature

The Chiller is only one of the delightful conveniences you'll find in the Multi-Temperature Feature of the General Electric Refrigerator. Before the General Electric Company ever offered its Refrigerator to you, fifteen solid years of research were spent in studying your needs, your problems, and your desires. It is this preliminary study which eliminated all necessity for afterthoughts in the design of the General Electric. In the General Electric Refrigerator you will find all the refinements of electric refrigeration—all the extra conveniences—all the useful accessories included. Drop in and let us show you!

THE HIGH COST OF SMOKE.

The high cost of the smoke nuisance was emphasized the other day in an address by Joseph Harrison, who served as administrative engineer of the Union, State Fuel board in Illinois. Smoke, he said, implies the waste of valuable heat units, a loss sufficient in itself to justify prevention. A second serious loss is caused by deposits of soot on the heating surfaces, which reduce their efficiency. Much of the coal goes up the chimney unburned, and that which does burn does not yield all it might because of the soot insulation.

Mr. Harrison estimated that smoke elimination by complete combustion could effect a maximum saving of 25 per cent in Chicago's fuel bill. If the saving were only 10 per cent it would amount to more than $20,000,000 a year. This figure, of course, takes no account of the enormous cost to residents of the city of cleaning smoke soiled house furnishings and clothing and no account of the losses to health resulting from impure air. Smoke absorbs the ultra-violet rays of the sun, nature's most effective germicide. It is difficult to estimate the cost to Chicago of the ill health resulting from the presence of smoke, but the figure must be a large one.

The time of year is here when these losses can be eliminated with least annoyance. Domestic furnaces are about to shut down for the summer. Many of them are of antiquated design. New ones can be installed which will pay for themselves in fuel savings. Owners of buildings owe it to themselves no less than to their neighbors to contribute to the removal of a costly nuisance.

THE REST WAS SILENCE.

Nothing was more significant in the whole course of the congressional inquest upon prohibition than the grand climax of the dry testimony. The great bosses failed to appear. Their statements were sent and duly put in the record.

Here was the chance for the Rev. Scott McBride and the Rev. Clarence True Wilson and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Cannon, to say nothing of the lesser lights of the teetotalist galaxy, to shine forth and enlighten our darkness. Here was the chance to sweep the forces of evil from the field.

Why didn't the prohibition bosses appear to overwhelm the adversary? Was it by any possibility that they were afraid? Cross-examination is unpleasant. It may be disastrous. The reluctance of the Anti-Saloon league to have its resources and members aired, when it was exposed, began the downfall of that great machine. It has never been felt since. Year by year its ruthless power has dwindled. No wonder the Rev. Mr. McBride and his fellow bosses preferred to be excused from questioning. We sympathize, but we are sorry. It would have been interesting to know how the great moral jackpot that supports the dry lobby is collected and how it is spent.

HARVARD IN THE AIR.

The air it would seem belongs to Harvard. With the sea in command of Yale, at least when the Yale crew wins; with the land divided feudally between the Army, Princeton, Notre Dame and the barbaric powers of western football, the air remains for Harvard's domination. The Leaning prize for intercollegiate flying has gone this year to Crimson soomers along the Charles.

Years ago Harvard started the air game. Well before the great war her students were experimenting and a famous plane was built that was the Crimson's pride. On the best theoretical principles, fresh from the classroom, it was made. It costed generously along the ground, but somehow never could get off.

In the air Harvard has always been at home. She lives farther in the future than most schools, and as long as flying remains more what it will be than what it is Harvard will be interested. In new fields Harvard usually makes the first failure, often the first success. The pioneer is there.

WASHINGTON'S ADVICE FOR CANADA.

The Canadian parliament by adopting the optional clause of the league court protocol has accepted the jurisdiction of the court as compulsory and also has approved the terms agreed upon for adherence of the United States. Conservative and Liberal leaders expressed the hope that the United States would enter the court and accept its compulsory jurisdiction. Both agreed there was no chance of Canada's being alone to enforce any of her rights which we might be disposed to transgress, and the Liberal leader, Mr. Bourassa, said Great Britain could best serve Canada by keeping out of conflict with the United States.

We would suggest that Canada is in no need of losing sleep for fear of aggression upon her rights by the United States so long as her policies are not complicated or perverted by European politics. She has lived at peace behind an undefended frontier for over a century and her last conflict with us was over issues in which she was not seriously concerned. As for compulsory adjudication of disputes in which the United States is interested, we would assure the Canadian parliament it will not be accepted by the United States and we think should not have been adopted by Canada. American disputes should be settled by Americans, by American means, in America, and it is hardly less foolish and short-sighted for Canada to let itself and its great future be entangled in the European political system represented by the league of nations and its law-making and judicial branch, the league court, than it would be for the United States. There is a strong sense among the Canadians of independence, of being men of the new world, and that should protect Canada from such European entanglements.

TURNING THE FLANK OF CRIME.

Crime in Chicago is bred less by individual initiative than by environments made from the social turmoil of a great city's growth. With delinquency areas concentrated, according to Dr. Clifford R. Shaw, sociologist of the Institute for Juvenile Research, in slum regions where social and economic coordination have not been worked out, it would seem that crime breeding as well as crime repression is a civic affair. With one hand the great city creates conditions father to widespread crime. With the other hand it tries to repress crime.

In a back-of-the-yards district, with 1,600 boys between 10 and 17, fully 450 to 500 boys are delinquent. In other districts, more ordered, prosperous, purely residential, there is no delinquency. That one boy out of three in some districts is naturally and inherently bad and that no boys are bad in other districts is hardly an intelligent answer to the problem of crime breeding in Chicago. The weaker boys of a community, it is true, are more likely to go bad. It is also true that thousands of boys, who under good conditions would lead a normal life, are led to crime in conditions in all great cities. Crime prevention is a civic and sociological problem of first significance.

The boy's gang, source of the majority of criminal reputations, is really a natural and impulsive interest in adolescent boys that may be directed constructively, as the Boy Scouts, or destructively, as the Ragen's Colts. It is the boy's drive towards a self-organized society in an environment that offers no good substitutes. It expresses for him leadership and discipline and solidarity. It founds a society for him, and that thousands of these spontaneous gangs in Chicago are the enemies of the larger society rather than organic parts of it is largely the fault of that larger group. For thousands of boy members of the gangs, a record of crime and delinquency is a social asset. Towards their gangs they are loyal. To the larger group they are disloyal because they have learned no other way. In the gangs thousands of these potential criminals are bred to one who is killed or captured.

Dr. Shaw suggests that the psychiatrists and psychologists of the Institute of Juvenile Research be given an administrative area back of the yards for experiment in crime prevention. Here they can know the boys, give them individual and friendly attention, and with an adequate staff reduce the propagation of crime in the district. The plan should be worth trying.

If Chicago could carry out a project in city social planning as wise and courageous as her civic building plan the crime of this city would decline in the same way that the eyesores of the old South Water street have gone down under the wrecker's hammer. The physical environments of crime, the slums and sunless streets and alleys would go. The social environments of crime and the hereditary and mental elements in crime all would receive intelligent attention. A plan of action could be evolved that would make Chicago relatively crimeless. With courage and imagination it is not impossible. With a desire for improvement strong enough, improvement will come.

HOME OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

Control of the Chicago Great Western railroad has passed to a group of Chicago financiers, who now dominate the board of directors. Here is at least one western railway which is directed by men who live in the territory it serves. Their influence should result favorably for the railroad and no less favorably for the region.

Chicago, though the capital of American transportation, has been slighted by the railroads. Only one important line has made any progress toward electrification here, and only two of the six important passenger terminals can be regarded as in any way meeting the needs of the railroads, not to speak of the comfort of the passengers who must use them. Eastern cities which are better represented in railroad management have fared better. It is to be hoped that the movement toward home ownership of the railroads serving the central states will continue. The dividends in improved service should be large.

Editorial of the Day

THE DEFEAT OF SENATOR DENEEN.

[Poeira, Ill. Transcript.]
In repudiating Senator Deneen, Illinois ran true to form. Due chiefly to interlocking and corrupt politics in Cook county, only three senators since the civil war have been re-elected. These were Shelby M. Cullom, who served five terms; John A. Logan, and Lawrence Y. Sherman. Logan died before the expiration of his second term and Sherman did not serve two full terms. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the ouster of Senator Lorimer in July, 1912. The record therefore discloses that only one senator—Cullom—actually served two or more terms since the civil war.

Mrs. McCormick's Democratic opponent will be former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who is avowedly anti-league, anti-court, and anti-prohibition. Mrs. McCormick is a professed dry. The senatorial campaign in Illinois will therefore be tantamount to a referendum on Volsteadism. Inasmuch as the Illinois primary is the first to be held in the country, it will be notice to the Hoover administration that the Washington formula of "no entangling foreign alliances" is a live wire in the west. Senator Deneen probably will vote on the world court protocol, as his term does not expire until March 4, 1931. Whether he will consider yesterday's vote a mandate to oppose the world court after having supported the original protocol with reservations in 1924 is a matter which he himself must decide.

SMALLPOX IN HOLLAND.

In 1929 Hollanders went through what was for them a very severe small-pox epidemic. Holland has the lowest death rate of any European country, lower than that of the United States. They do health work in an excellent way, and the epidemic, small-pox, of which they are very much ashamed, would not cause any health officer in the middle west to hang his head.

A sailor coming from the tropics developed a very mild case of smallpox in Rotterdam. The disease was of the type which they call alarm in the tropics. When a related mild form reached this country from the tropics about thirty years ago it was called "Cuban itch" for a while. Ten days later the sailor's wife developed the same disease and two weeks later still his daughter.

At first it was so mild that many disagreed with the diagnosis. No isolation was done and vaccination was unsatisfactory. A commission appointed to settle the question reported that the disease was alarm, or mild, modified smallpox. However, before long, the community had proof more convincing to them than even the report of the commission. The disease changed from mild smallpox to the severe form of the disease. Hollanders are proverbially conservative and stubborn, but the severity of the disease moved them to action. They vaccinated one and a quarter million of their community. This was about the time the disease disappeared.

It was discovered that though every one is supposed to be vaccinated and one periodically revaccinated in Holland, a part of the population had never been vaccinated and many others had not been vaccinated since childhood. The protective power of a successful vaccination lasts only seven years and after vaccination this was about five years. Most of the smallpox in Holland occurred among people who had not been vaccinated within ten to thirty years. Roughly, they were divided into: one-fourth of the population who had never been vaccinated; one-fourth who were vaccinated in childhood; one-half over thirty vaccinated in youth.

It was from Holland that there came the first reports of large encephalitis, a disease which is now spreading all over the world. Among the million and a quarter people who were vaccinated in this epidemic there subsequently developed sixty-eight cases of encephalitis. This was about the time of the world war. Among the million and a quarter people who were vaccinated in this epidemic there subsequently developed sixty-eight cases of encephalitis. This was about the time of the world war. LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

H. S. C. writes:
1. Please describe the symptoms of low blood pressure.
2. Will that condition cause extreme nervousness, such as twitching of the legs and at times much difficulty in speaking, waiting often some minutes before being able to express himself?
3. Will low blood pressure cause gas and acidity of the stomach?

REPLY.
1. Chronic low blood pressure is a long list of complaints, but no definite illness, lack of pep and energy, no enthusiasm.
2. Since the symptoms are largely psychic in origin they may take many forms.
3. Probably the shoe is on the other foot. Starch indigestion is charged with being one cause of low blood pressure. Sagging of the abdominal organs, so prominent in low blood pressure, may be a factor.

MIGHT BE HIT HARD.

Mrs. E. W. M. writes: On my left wrist I have a hard lump, the size of an olive, which pains a little. Seems like a bone or cord is out of place.

1. What is this?
2. A friend told me to hit it hard and it would jump back into place. Is this true?

REPLY.
1. This is a bursitis cyst.
2. As a rule, it is.

IT ALSO MAY BANKRUPT HIM.

Mrs. C. writes: What harm can a person do to himself by drinking a pint of whiskey a day? He eats well.

REPLY.
Drinking a pint of whiskey a day will probably lead to gastritis, indigestion, drunkard's liver, and possibly to Bright's disease. A few other possibilities might be added to the list. A good appetite lessens the harmful effects of the whiskey.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

Chicago, April 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a law that will prohibit the playing of electronic instruments until 3 o'clock in the morning in a store where there are tenants occupying the flats above. The people living in the flats above have to work all day and must have some sleep.
There is no express time limit in our statutes or ordinances, but noises amounting to legal nuisances can be enjoined or if the facts amount to disorderly conduct can be stopped by the police. In determining whether a noise amounts to a nuisance the previous character of the neighborhood must be considered.

RECEIVED STOCK AS GIFT.

Chicago, April 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Two shares of corporate stock were given me as a gift. No record was made to show these were a gift. The firm became insolvent. Am I responsible for the par value of these stocks if I cannot prove the circumstances under which I received them?

REPLY.
If it can be shown that you accepted the gift, you would be a stockholder and would be liable for debts accruing while you were a stockholder.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips follow where they may.

THEY'RE BRINGING THE "IF" HOME.

The naval parley in London is about over and the net result seems to be a very large "IF." Great Britain, Japan, and the U. S. of A. will do so and so IF. Think of all the bands marching around, and the king making speeches, and the delegates and experts from the five greatest nations in the world eating themselves sick at banquets, breakfasts, and luncheons, and going into a huddle every few minutes for weeks and weeks, and then telling us that there will be peace in the world, and naval reductions, and the sinking of some old battleships, and a limit put on navy building—IF!

Well, anyhow, the London hotelkeepers want the boys to go home before the tourists come, and perhaps it's just as well. The American delegates are having their IF wrapped up in cotton and burlap and put into a packing case and trundled down to the dock. It will arrive in due time and probably be put into the Smithsonian Institution. IF it doesn't fall overboard, or IF the senate doesn't shoot it at sunrise, or IF—that's the trouble, doggone it, IF! IF! IF!

ADAPTABLE.

No more in quivering breathlessness I go
To keep my trust with you. The corner turned,
I now stand window-gazing—unconcerned
That you are waiting—dawning in a slow
Amazing little smile. I do not know
How this has happened—how I could have learned
To smile complacently, who once had burned
With weak, unshriven tears that irked you so.

Doubt upon doubt, perhaps—drops on a stone—
Have calmed me, left me tolerant, even gay.
I think that you are glad I've changed this way—
So undemanding—sensible—I've grown.
I wonder will you notice some fine day
That, in its wisdom, love has also flown.

JUDY SHER.

Hey! Quit Shaking That White Powder Into Our Soup!

The Democrats down in New York are all set up over Gaston B. Means' "The Strange Death of President Harding," as it proves to them their worst fears of what the Republicans can do in Washington when they get a good running start. Mr. Means, who recently completed three years' residence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, tells of the big whoopoes at the White House, the "House of Mystery" on H street and the "Little Green House" in K street, of nine sudden and somewhat mysterious deaths of persons connected with the goings on down there while Mr. Harding was President and of certain little white powders former Atty. Gen. Daugherty's roommate, Jesse Smith, said were waiting around the corner to give quick despatch to people who knew too much. We don't know that the Republicans are trying to suppress the book or that they'll withdraw their advertising from the Line or do anything about it when they find out we've published this notice of Gaston's thriller. But you bet that for the next few weeks we're going to look out for any little white powder or invitations to go for an auto ride with any Republicans. Whoops, my dear, Gaston Means can tell things that Edgar Wallace never dreamed of.

EVERYBODY, except the conductor of this Column of ramnity, tells everybody else who horns into their affairs to mind their own business. It is considered one of the very best comebacks known. But a man in South Chicago told another man to "mind your own business," and now he's in jail. He was talking to one of these here sense takers.

Cut This Out and Paste It in Your Hat.

The mass of mankind has not been born with saddles on their backs, nor a favored few booted and spurred, ready to ride them legitimately, by the grace of God.

We celebrated the 187th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson Sunday by reading from his collected works. As our edition consists of twenty very fat volumes, needless to say we hardly skimmed the surface; but from the Italian above, taken from Jefferson's last letter, you may get some idea of what he was driving at. And if you do not recall the name Jefferson at the moment, may we not remind you that he was the author of a once famous document known as the Declaration of Independence, and one of the most enthusiastic founders of this great commonwealth of ours? However, Jefferson was no blue-eyed optimist; he dreamed great dreams and saw some of them come true; but in a moment of prophetic pessimism he also looked about him and said:

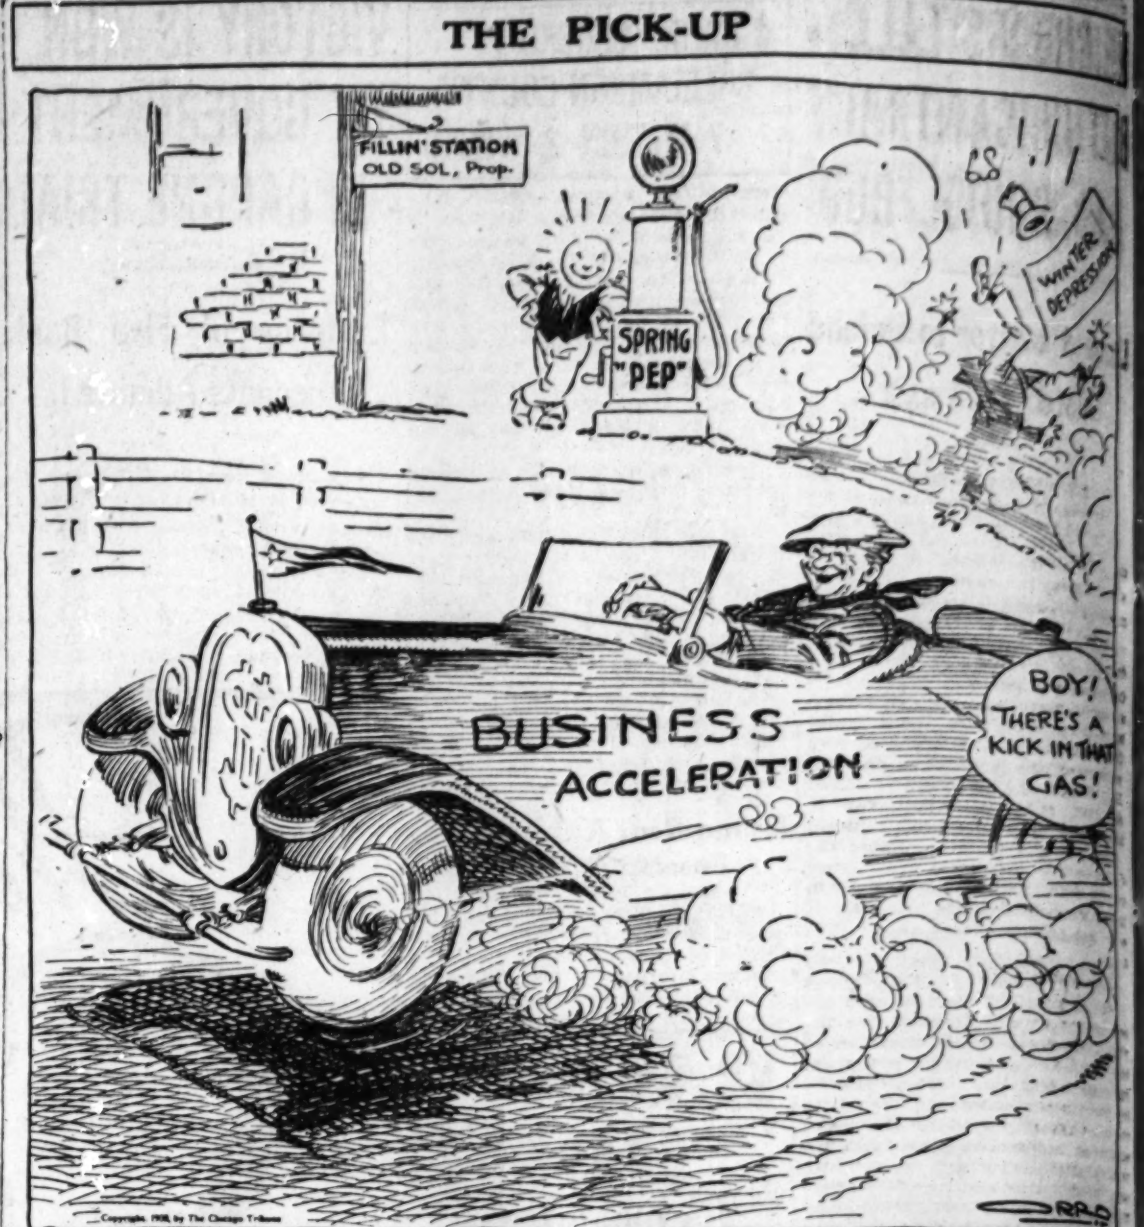

"The spirit of the times may alter, will alter. Our rulers will become corrupt, our people careless. A single zealot may commence persecutions, and better men be his victims. It will not be necessary to resort every moment to the people for support. They will be forgotten, therefore, and their rights disregarded. They will forget that they are men; but they will still remember, and with boldness they will never think of uniting to effect a due respect for their rights. The shackles will remain on us long, will be made heavier and heavier, till our rights shall revive or expire in a convulsion."

That is well worth thinking over, dear friends, even two days after Mr. Jefferson's official birthday.

Nature Faker! Nature Faker!

Oh, the sadness of it! How we have slipped back! American newspapers have printed all over the place the cable from Berlin that a maverick pitcher, one Lillian Harvey, had invented a cocktail she called the "Hokus pokus," which won the first prize for original mixture, composed of one-third each of gin, lemon, and Cointreau. We don't blame the Berlin committee for letting Lillian slip over on "em." What can they ever know about cocktails in Germany? But to think of American copy readers handling that story and giving it a get by as having invented a cocktail when for these many years a cocktail composed of one-third each of gin, lemon, and Cointreau has been known as the "Side Car." And lots of these lads were once famous as knowing all about likkers and how to mix 'em and they could reel you off a list of twenty-five or fifty cocktails without batting an eye. And now they let Lillian slip the recipe of an antique cocktail over on them as her own original invention. O tempora! O mores!

NO LAST LINE today. Our grandmother's sick! Well, she isn't exactly sick right now, but she's going to be at 3 o'clock this afternoon. And we'll have to hurry right out to see her. (Alta boy! Slide! slide, yuh big stiff, slide!) R. H. L.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 15, 1865.
WASHINGTON, D. C.—The President and Mrs. Lincoln were at Ford's theater last night listening to the performance of the "American Cousin," occupying a box in the second tier. At the close of the third act a person entered the box occupied by the President and shot Mr. Lincoln, the bullet entering the back part of his head and coming out above the temple. The assassin then jumped from the box upon the stage, and ran across to the other side, exhibiting a dagger in his hand, flourishing it in a tragical manner, and shouting the motto of the state of Virginia, "Sic Semper Tyrannis," adding to it, "The south is avenged." He then escaped from the back entrance to the theater, but in passing he dropped his pistol and his hat.

Mr. Lincoln fell forward in his seat and Mrs. Lincoln fainted. The President was carried to Mrs. Peterson's house in 10th street, opposite the theater, and lay there until morning. Mr. Lincoln is dying slowly. There is an occasional lifting of his hand, and heavy stertorous breathing—that's all. The person who fired the pistol was a man about 30 years old, Laura Keane, the actress, and the leader of the orchestra declare they recognized him as J. Wilkes Booth, an actor and a rabid secessionist.

At about the same time the President was shot an effort was made to assassinate Secretary of State Seward. A well dressed man appeared at the Seward home and asked to see the secretary. When told he could not do so he said he had a prescription from Surgeon General Eames which he had been ordered to deliver in person. Fred Seward attempted to bar the man, but he rushed past and struck the secretary in the throat and breast with a dagger. Seward and Clarence A. Seward also were wounded. The surgeon general pronounced Secretary Seward safe, the jugular vein not having been cut.

Gathered about the President's bedside were the President's family, several members of his cabinet, a large number of surgeons, and numerous personal and family friends. All are in tears. Vice President Andy Johnson is here. He was in bed at the Kirkwood when Mr. Lincoln was shot. He came to the President's bedside as soon as he was apprised of the tragedy.

There is evidence that Secretary of War Stanton also was marked for assassination. Capt. Rathbone of Albany was in the box with the President and was slightly wounded.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

PARIS.—The exposition is open. Paris has witnessed the elaborate inauguration and has been impressed by the lavish decorations, the blazonry of colors, the fanfare of brass and bands, and the martial array of soldiery. At the same time it has closed its eyes to the great structures half completed and barren of exhibits and the widespread confusion of grounds and parks still untouched by the landscape artist. President Loubet formally declared the exposition open. Then, with his brilliant official and military staff, he made a tour of the grounds and formally declared the magnificent Alexander III. bridge open. Mrs. Potter Palmer, the only member of the American general commission who has arrived, declared the exposition, while "fine," didn't equal the one held in Chicago.

CHICAGO.—The Rev. J. Stitt Wilson returned to Evanston after three months' work in the slums of England.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 15, 1920.
CHICAGO.—Roger C. Sullivan died at his home, 742 Wellington avenue, as a result of a sudden heart attack which was superinduced by bronchial pneumonia. He was 59 years old and had been in failing health for several months. The Democratic leader had heard the election returns day before yesterday in bed. He died in complete control of his party machinery and master of the delegation to the national convention at San Francisco. Mr. Sullivan was the benevolent "boss" of the Illinois Democracy and for a quarter of a century was the dominant factor in his party in the state.

DUBLIN.—Sixty-four hunger strikers have been released, and as a result the general strike is off.

WHEN CHICAGO WAS YOUNG.

Chicago, April 6.—For some time I have been intending to write you in appreciation of the very interesting feature in the Sunday edition, "When Chicago Was Young." It no doubt appeals to me particularly, for I belong to one of the early families and have been brought up on many of these very stories of early days.

My grandparents, the Hon. William H. Brown and wife, came to Chicago in 1835, my grandfather, though a lawyer, having been persuaded to come as cashier of the first bank to be established in the town. He came to the territory of Illinois in 1818 to work for its admission to the Union as a free state and was the close friend of Abraham Lincoln, Gov. Duncan, Judge Samuel Lockwood, and others, before coming to Chicago. He became a power in the Indian cornfield dances where his interest in the law, and also in the railroad problems, being president and director for many years of the Galena and Chicago Union railroad. He was school agent from 1840 to 1853, leaving a most honorable record of accomplishment, and was the first president of the Historical society, so his acquaintance was very wide and in each of these letters I read names and incidents that are old stories to me.

Others of the older families have the same experience and many of us wish more space might be given to them, for they are authentic as well as intensely interesting. Not many of us are left whose immediate forbears saw the Indian cornfield dances where the public library now stands, and many other picturesque memories of a not so far distant past will be lost unless rescued soon. The letter today of the late Secretary of State Seward, for the Giles family have always been friends of my own; and my grandparents' home, 150 Michigan avenue, where the gas office is now, was utterly consumed in twenty minutes. I have heard countless tales of those days all my life.

EARL BALFOUR'S TITLE.

CHICAGO, April 13.—You should not have used the expression "Earl Balfour of Balfour." You should call him "Earl Balfour of Balfour" in honor of his great naval victory.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The greatest injustice that overburdened taxpayers have to contend with from the present administration was just brought to my attention.

My father received tax bills for $9.74 plus interest from Dec. 31 for the laying of a small piece of sidewalk on the corner where the old west and north and south sidewalks meet when Ashland avenue was widened. Approximately 12 square feet of cement was put in. There are ten lots the same size as his in the same block, and that means that the city gets $97.40 plus interest on a piece of work that could be put in by a private individual for $15 or $20 at the most.

Nobody knew about this special assessment, and therefore did not try to pay it, and the city sends bills three and one-half months late and also demands interest. MURRAY C. CHAPMAN.

NEIGHBORS TALK, BUT CHICAGO NOT BAD, SOUTH TOLD

Little Rock Entertains
Good Will Tour.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Little Rock, Ark., April 14.—[Special.]—Touching upon the two topics which appear to interest Arkansas most—waterways and Chicago's crime—Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, set the tempo of the good-will tour through the southwest today before the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce. The thirty-four business men arrived here this morning from St. Louis and will depart for St. Paul early tomorrow on the last stop of the fourteen-day junket. Leading, unasked, into the matter of Chicago's much maligned reputation, Col. Randolph admitted that "we haven't wings or a halo, but neither do we have eleven hives, horns and a tail."

Undesirable Victims at First.
"Our neighbors," he said, "have been talking about us, and you know what that means—when the neighbors talk. For a time these much maligned killings bothered us little for they merely meant the loss of one more undesirable citizen. But the supply of undesirables thinned perceptibly after a time and the climax came when a murderous assault was made upon one of our own members."

This referred to the shooting of Senator Philip Meagher, attacked several months ago near the University of Chicago. Sketching the campaign of the association's executive committee—which evolved the "secret six" crime fighting division—Col. Randolph said: "We want it understood that we have not taken over the city from its constitutional authorities. We are not vigilantes and we are not adopting extra-legal methods. The law enforcing agencies were scattered and there was an apparent lack of coordination between them. We feel that we have brought about a coordination of police, prosecutors, and criminal court judges. We have done more—we have set up a real secret service for the prosecutors—something they would have been unable to do themselves."

Don't feel that you are not as safe in the streets of Chicago when you pass there as you are on the streets of Little Rock.
Marquette's Dream Near Realization.
Passing on to waterways, Col. Randolph predicted early realization of Marquette's dream—a mercantile canal connecting the Mississippi with the great lakes. "You in Little Rock will soon see a big fleet channel in the Mississippi—down that channel you will find economical to move every ton of heavy freight accruing from your vast and hitherto undeveloped resources."

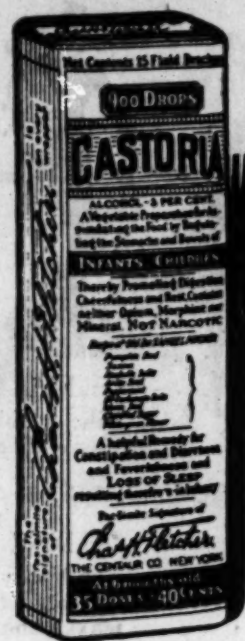

We want to get to Little Rock by water and we want you to come to Chicago by water."
City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson brought applause from the Little Rock and Chicago business men when he announced that an hour before the luncheon he had been given the assurance of Gov. Harvey Parnell of Arkansas that he would immediately appoint a state committee to arrange an exhibit for the World's Fair. Adopting the defense tactics employed by Col. Randolph, the city treasurer also explained, briefly, the nature of Chicago's financial difficulties. He lambasted those responsible for the "rotten assessments" which delayed the collection of taxes for two years.

The upsets of Children

"All children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which a mother can always rely; good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria. Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give a few drops to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown! Every drugstore has Castoria; the genuine has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

VOGUE for OAK

-at New Low Prices!

FASHION, like history, never quite repeats itself. AND THIS 1930 VOGUE FOR OAK . . . although seeming to revive the fashion of 17th century England, really adapts that sturdy fashion . . . and makes of it a brand new fashion for modern homes. For this year's oak furniture is formal and dignified, like that of three centuries ago. And it's massive—or, WAIT—it seems massive. But really (and herein lies the secret) it is so skillfully modified and adapted that it fits perfectly into the smaller rooms of your modern home . . . yet loses none of its authentic 17th century dignity.

A few examples of the new mode are shown here. But only a visit to Hartman's can show you the true range of our smart oak collection.

Warm Tones of English Oak— Perfect for the Dining Room

"THE MORLEY"—antique oak Suite sketched above, looks as though it belongs in a great hall of 17th century England—but those heavy turnings and massive posts are so skillfully modified that they are quite at home in your apartment dining room. The Table is refectory type and extends to 8 feet (for hospitality's sake). The Chairs have red leather seats that gain in richness and mellowness with use. SEVEN PIECES—at Hartman's, for ONLY $150

JUDGE DEMANDS ACTION, SO STATE DROPS OLD CASE

Unable to Try Four After Five Months.

Judge Harry R. Miller in the Criminal court decided yesterday that if the state's attorney's office cannot prepare a case for trial in five and one-half months it is time to take some action to get the case off the Criminal court docket. He ordered the assistant prosecutors to either proceed to trial with the case or dismiss it, and an order of striking off with leave to reinstate was entered by the state.

The case involves Lyman L. Campbell, Melvin H. Campbell, W. F. Harrah, and J. S. Berkson, said to be officials of the Campbell Transmission company, located somewhere in the state of Michigan, as far as the state's attorney's office had information yesterday. The men were charged in two indictments with violating the blue sky law by selling securities without being licensed in Illinois.

Indicted Nov. 1, 1929.
The indictment was returned in court on Nov. 1, 1929, during the time of the state's attorney's so-called bucket shop investigation. The case was continued several times by agreement of the defense and prosecution, and was last up in Judge Miller's court on Feb. 13, at which time motions to quash the indictment were entered. The motions were continued until yesterday, at which time they were disposed of by the judge.

The assistant prosecutors assigned to the court said they were not ready for trial—that their witnesses were not in court, and that they had not had time to go over documents necessary to a successful prosecution, nor

POSTOFFICE LEASES INQUIRY BY SENATE NOW SEEMS ASSURED

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Investigation by the senate of government postoffice building leases of which there are more than 1,300—was virtually assured today.

Administration leaders permitted a resolution by Senator Blaine (Rep., Wis.) to be referred to the committee on audit and control, for approval of expenditures, without the routine procedure of going first to the postoffice committee. The resolution calls for a broad inquiry into charges of corruption and fraud in connection with the leases.

Chairman Deneen (Rep., Ill.) of the audit committee said later he would call a meeting for consideration of the measure "immediately" after it was received—probably tomorrow—and that he would call for an early report to the senate.

The committee chairman said he could not forecast the committee's action, but it was generally expected that the report would be favorable. Willingness for the inquiry was expressed today by three administration spokesmen. Senators Jones of Washington, Fess of Ohio, and Phipps of Colorado.

had they obtained from the secretary of state of Michigan a copy of the charter of the Campbell company, which would be essential to a prosecution.

Orders Action Taken.
"This case has been on the docket too long," said the judge. "The state's attorney's office certainly has had plenty of time to prepare for trial. It intends to try the case. Some action must be taken today." Assistant State's Attorney Martin Crane and Charles Bellows, who were in court, were unable to give much information as to what the case was about. It involved the sale of some stock, they said, to a physician whose name they did not know. The Campbell company is located somewhere in Michigan, they said. The amount, they thought, was $5,000. The prosecutors said they did not have the usual file giving all details of the case.

ONLY WOMAN ON U. S. BENCH HERE FOR TRIALS

Justice Genevieve Cline of the United States Customs court, the only woman on the federal bench, called on Collector of Customs Anthony Charneck yesterday and announced she would begin hearing some 500 customs cases at 10:30 this morning.

Justice Cline, who formerly was an appraiser of customs at Cleveland, was appointed by President Coolidge two years ago. Like Ruth Hanna McCormick, she desires no deferences to her womanhood and serves on her merits. Customs cases arise when importers object to the valuations set upon their wares by the customs appraisers.

Justice Cline will be guest of honor at a dinner given by the Kappa Beta Phi legal sorority tomorrow night at the Medinah Athletic club.

USES THEATER WASH ROOM AS LAUNDRY; FINED

Mrs. John Rice, colored, 50 years old, 2923 Indiana avenue, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Alfred O. Erickson in the Town Hall court on a charge of using the washroom of the Northshore theater, 1749 Howard avenue, as a laundry. The woman was arrested on Sunday night while washing her clothing in a basin in the washroom. She took the clothes to court with her, and, after paying the fine, was ordered to finish her washing at home.

Why SQUIBB'S Dental Cream COMBATS tooth decay so effectively

It is now known that the cause of tooth decay is germs which generate acids that attack the teeth. Your tooth-brush can't dislodge them from the crevices and fissures of the teeth. But Squibb's Dental Cream will protect your teeth against germ acids. It is made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, a wonderful antacid. Plenty to penetrate crevices and render germ acids harmless.

Visit your dentist and let him professionally clean your teeth and gums. Then use Squibb's Dental Cream regularly and thoroughly. Your teeth will keep their gleaming luster and remain much freer from decay. Get Squibb's at any drugist's.

"Household will lend you
$100 to $300 for any good reason or need at
of 2½% per month..."

WE want every family in need of $100 to $300 to learn about our plan. The Household Plan is a constructive financial service that has been helping families for over 50 years. Under this plan anyone can get needed funds to pay up bills or buy anything that will permanently benefit the family. If you have any such good reason for borrowing we urge you to use the coupon at once.

Briefly, the Household Plan is this: "Household" makes loans of $100 to $300 to families at the reduced rate of 2½% per month. You have 20 months to repay your loan. You may, however, repay in full at any time and the interest will be charged only on the unpaid principal. No fees, fees or deductions are made. And no outside signers are required.

Illustrated here are a few typical reasons why hundreds of thousands of people yearly come to "Household" for loans of $100 to $300. If, for any good reason you need extra funds, see "Household" first—our lower rate will save you nearly one-third.

Mobility

LIBERTY readers travel. They go south or to California in the winter. In summer they go to summer resorts.

They travel by train, by ship, by automobile, by motor bus.

Our mobile circulation indicates that hundreds of thousands of Liberty readers take a major vacation trip at least once a year.

This is no idle guess. The proof lies in the greater seasonal demand for Liberty at the vacation spots.

Picking forty typical summer resorts we find our circulation 57% greater during July and August than it is during the winter months. And in twenty well known winter resorts, Liberty's circulation is 25% greater in January and February than it is in summer.

Take Miami, Fla., for instance. During the past season the circulation was 13,095. Out of season it is 7,409.

Or take a city which can be reached only by steamship. Liberty's summer circulation in Honolulu is 4,300. In winter it is 5,125. Nearly 1,000 extra travelers buy Liberty in Honolulu every week during the season.

And wherever they stop along the line of travel, they find Liberty at the newsstand. When they arrive at their destination, Liberty is there, too. They buy it at the newsstand, just as they buy it at home... The subscription magazine cannot keep pace with fast moving Americans.

Forwarding is too slow. Change of address requires too long a notice.

Liberty circulation is mobile. Because it is 99% newsdealer, there are no unseen, unread copies. Because it keeps pace with its traveling readers, there is no break in advertising continuity. Liberty's traveling readers get Liberty at home and away from home.

The advertising pages of Liberty reach this alert active group of more than 2,400,000 buyers—at the lowest cost per thousand pages in the field of major magazines.

The following typical summer and winter resorts indicate the seasonal changes in Liberty circulation. Circulation in other resorts is in proportion. A full list will be furnished on request.

INDIANA SHOWS CHICAGOANS BIT OF COURT SPEED

Wolf Murder Clew Is Traced in Vain.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne and Lieut. Otto Erlanson went to Indiana yesterday in the hopes of solving a murder. They didn't succeed, but they remained to watch the speed with which Indiana can put criminals away.

Three Chicago youths, Wilbur Hunt, 21 years old; Robert Strobel, 22 years old; and Claude Lancaster, were caught Sunday in Michigan City after a series of robberies of oil stations in northern Indiana and South Chicago. They were interrupted during a robbery and they forced a garage attendant to get in their car with them as they fled from a police car with which they exchanged revolver shots.

Chicago Police Take Hand.
When their car hit a fire plug the chase was ended. Early yesterday Chief of Detectives Stege heard they were confessing numerous robberies and he learned that Hunt had bought an automobile from the McFadden agency on time payments. Edward J. Wolf, a salesman employed by that agency, was slain Friday night by a man who gave the name of Weber and who asked Wolf to demonstrate a car.

Stege considered that the possibility that the ready willingness of the trio to confess a dozen robberies might have been due to their desire to hide their participation in a murder. Besides being open to suspicion of the Wolf murder they answered the descriptions of the robbers who killed

N.Y. PRESBYTERY O.K.'S WOMEN AS MINISTERS BY VOTE OF 51 TO 29

New York, April 14.—(P)—The presbytery of New York today voted 51 to 29 in favor of permitting women to be ordained ministers.

The action was taken despite recommendations of the committee on overtures that the proposal be defeated. The Rev. D. B. F. Farber of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church, chairman of the committee, read the report which stated that the idea was inopportune.

Dr. D. J. McMillan, secretary of the New York Sabbath committee, opposed the action on the ground that women ministers would make the church "effeminate." Dr. David G. Wiley, president of the Lord's Day alliance, said that there was no demand from the congregations for women ministers.

Anton Rokas, a butcher at 1259 Karlov avenue, on April 5, Ditchburne and Erlanson were sent to Michigan City to question the youths. They said they were unable to connect the youths with either murder but were not thoroughly convinced. While they were there Sheriff Tom McDonald took the three to Laporte, the county seat, and they were arraigned before Circuit Judge Alfred J. Link on charges of automobile banditry, a new Indiana statute. They pleaded guilty.

Given Heavy Sentences.
Judge Link sentenced Hunt to 13 years imprisonment, Strobel to 12 years, and deferred sentencing Lancaster until today, because he is under 21. Sheriff McDonald said he would take them to the Pendleton reformatory today, it being his opinion that Lancaster would be given an indeterminate sentence of 10 to 25 years. Martin Thoren, 10204 Lafayette avenue, told Capt. Michael Grady yesterday he was in the McFadden agency when "Weber" came in and Thoren was certain "Weber" was not Louis Mange, who was being sought for questioning.

Mother, 80, Races in Plane to Dying Son; Death Wins

Mrs. Rachael Campbell, 80 years old, learned Sunday night at her home in Dallas, Tex., that her son, Edgar Campbell, an engineer for the Commonwealth Edison company, was dying at the Illinois Central hospital in Chicago. At 7 a. m. yesterday she boarded a Universal Air Lines passenger plane at Dallas and flew all day in order to reach Chicago before night. When the plane arrived here at 4 p. m. yesterday she was informed that her son had died shortly before noon.

Won the One Thing She Wanted Most

"The thing I have wanted more than anything else came so easily I can hardly realize it. For years I have had to favor my stomach because there were so few things I could eat without gas forming so bad. I would wish I never had to eat again," says Mrs. J. H. Burke of 1521 Foster St., Chicago. "A dose of Acidine, which was given to me when I had one of those spells, was the beginning of a different story. I have been taking Acidine night and morning since then, and I don't know what it is to have a sour stomach now, no matter what I eat." Pain after eating, gassy belching, nausea, sour risings and a dry sensation in the throat are signs of an acid stomach. Sweeten it with Acidine. Takes only a minute or two, tastes nice, and costs so little. Acidine is sold at all drug stores.

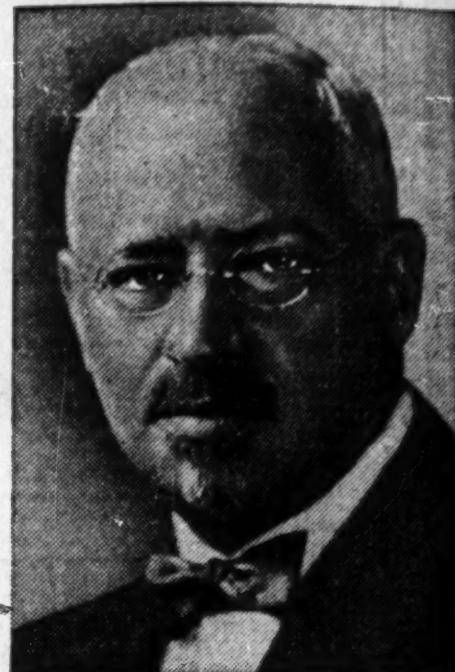

"Good building materials have the same merit as Class A bonds. They represent permanent value"

NATHAN S. JONAS

THE choice of materials is one of the most far-reaching decisions you make when building. Often, paying a few dollars more at the time of building saves many hundreds later. Bankers appreciate this fact, and such men as Nathan S. Jonas advise you to build for permanency—with lasting Copper, Brass and Bronze. In skyscraper or modest home, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, Brass or Copper pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures invariably prove an economy in the long run. These metals cannot rust. They give satisfactory service for the life of the structure.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

"GAME OF COUNTIES"

Read the clue below the picture. It will help you.

No. 8 Chicago Tribune's "Game of Counties"

Clue: The County whose name is pictured above was named from a river which flows through it, this river having originally been called "des Kickapoo" by the early French explorers who found a tribe of Indians of that name there. In the 18th century it was changed to "Riviere de la Roche." This County was organized in 1850.

The Name of this County is: _____ (Write name here)

The Name of the County

WISCONSIN Marathon Rusk
Fond du Lac Brown
Richland Racine
Milwaukee Dane
Rock Sheboygan
Monitowoc Waukesha

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and nearest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE:—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count. 6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge. 7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

COURT PROTECTS 4 CO-RESPONDENTS IN DIVORCE CASE

Has Names Struck Out; Sets Precedent.

For the first time in the legal history of the county, divorce co-respondents were given a break yesterday. Superior Judge Joseph Sabath requested Clifford Richmond Linn, manager of the United States Gypsum company, to strike the names of four men from his cross bill for divorce against Mrs. Florence Edell Linn, 3737 Cornelia avenue. At the same time the judge urged changes in the divorce laws.

The divorce co-respondent, man or woman, has hitherto been considered a legal outcast. The law doesn't allow him to intervene in the action in which he is named to protect his name, nor can he bring an action for slander because charges are made in a privileged document. This law was established in Illinois by a ruling in a celebrated case by the Supreme court denying the Rev. Carl D. Case, former Oak Park pastor, recourse when he was named in a divorce brought by Albert R. Leland. Linn filed his cross bill in answer to a divorce suit on charges of cruelty brought by his wife. The Linns were married Aug. 4, 1909, and separated March 5, 1929. The cross bill named four men, all married and mutual friends of the Linns, who are prominent in business circles. Attorneys Benjamin B. Davis and Nicholas Socrates, authority on divorce law, appeared before Judge Sabath to charge that Linn had taken unfair advantage of the protection afforded him by his bill. They charged that he had printed copies of the bill, which

FROM KARASJOK, NORWAY

Karasjok is a small town in northern Norway, above the sixty-ninth meridian in the center of the region known as Lapland. It lies a few miles west of the confluence of the Karasjok and Tana rivers, the latter forming the boundary between Norway and Finland.

The town's population is made up mostly of Laplanders and is the home of the Balto family, made famous by an Alaskan malamute, named in honor of one of the members of the family. Balto was the lead dog of Gunnar Kason's famous team that carried diphtheria serum on the last 60 mile lap in the 600 mile sledge race from Nenana to Nome during the epidemic of February, 1925.

One of the Balto boys had been a he circulated among friends and employees to bring the men named into dispute.

Attorney Socrates asked the judge to sit as an examining magistrate to determine whether the charges of misconduct were probable enough to warrant the naming of the men. He argued that the allegations were weak and that Linn was making unjust accusations against men who have no legal remedy.

FROM AVIATORS ENGINEERS SCIENTISTS FROM THE WHOLE WORLD COMES ACCLAIM FOR FRANKLIN'S AIRPLANE-TYPE ENGINE

Being the most powerful type engine built—sensationally FLYING AN AIRPLANE—breaking all major road records—averaging more than a mile a minute on long road trips—are a few of the factors which have made motorists and automobile authorities look to Franklin with enthusiastic acclaim.

When you drive the new Franklin, the remarkable performance of its AIRPLANE-TYPE ENGINE completely wins you. Here for the first time in many years is a new motoring thrill. As you look at 60, 70, 80 on the speedometer you are amazed at the lack of vibration and other speed sensations—these high speeds actually seem like 30, 40 and 50. Smoothness, comfort, and ease of control are brought to a new high degree of enjoyment. In Franklin riding is gliding.

Franklin has taken its fleet-looking lines from the sky also. Streamlining, new horizontal louvers and graceful contours suggest the airplane in flight. Wherever you go you find people admiring Franklin's new body creations.

We cordially invite you to see this new-day car—then drive it. The AIRPLANE FEEL of Franklin motoring is new to those who never piloted an airplane.

Get These Added Food Values Every Day in "MALTED RAISINS"

Your health and vigor depend upon vital health elements usually missing from the average diet. You can eat heartily—and starve! Avoid malnutrition by a daily drink of Malted Raisins, which gives you:

IRON—so essential in maintaining a supply of rich, red blood. Average adult requires .015 grains daily. Growing children need more.

VITAMIN "A"—so essential to growth. Builds up resistance to disease and infection.

VITAMIN "B"—which stabilizes the nerves, aids digestion, relieves constipation, and prevents stunted growth in children.

CALCIUM—so vital to normal heart action and stability of bone structure and teeth.

Average adult requires .75 grams daily.

PLUS—all other vitamins naturally present in the ingredients used (which are pre-digested and not only digest easily but stimulate digestion of other foods).

Have You Tried Malted Raisins Ice Cream?

More than just ice cream. It's a food, nutritious, tasty, healthful. Ask for Malted Raisins ice cream next time. Bakers and confectioners are also using Malted Raisins in candies, cookies, cakes and bread. Delicious! Ask for it.

A DELIGHTFUL NEW FLAVOR...

... A STIMULATING NEW FOOD VALUE

You will love "Malted Raisins" whether you like malted drinks or not. Try it today! You will find it a deliciously different malt flavor combining nut-like toasted barley malt with the refined fruit sugars of selected raisins. You can have it blended smoothly with ice cream, milk and your favorite flavor... an alluring malted concoction that hits the right spot.

And here's good news—Malted Raisins is not rich, heavy, clogging. It is the light malted drink that fountain fans have long been seeking. Its ingredients are pre-digested, easily assimilated by the most delicate stomach. More than that, it possesses diastatic qualities that actually stimulate digestion, and eliminate that "loggy" heavy feeling. Malted Raisins not only nourishes, but refreshes, invigorates!

OVERCOMES FATIGUE
Malted Raisins fights fatigue and whips it. It invigorates, refreshes and snaps you up. Its organic iron contributes to the daily replenishment of rich red blood. Its Vitamin A and B relieve mental and muscular fatigue, increase your resistance, and prevent malnutrition.

Business Looks Good in Chicago!

EXPANSION RAPIDLY REDUCING UNEMPLOYMENT

BUSINESS has definitely turned the corner. The effects of last year's extravagance are wearing off. Chicago is back to work. Unemployment which rose seriously last winter is rapidly disappearing.

The director in charge of the Federal Census in Chicago reports that enumerators are finding very few residents without jobs. The state free employment offices operating in Chicago reported that there were 344 applicants for every 100 vacant jobs in January, 310 in February and 245 in March. At the present the ratio has declined to 215.

Expansion in business and seasonable weather are creating jobs in Chicago. Increasing employment is pyramiding purchasing power. Conditions here are ripe for energetic selling and advertising. Consumers again are crowding the stores. They have recovered confidence. Merchants and manufacturers can take their cue from the public and go ahead confidently with plans.

Business looks good in Chicago. And the most effective way to get it is with Tribune advertising. Ask for a Tribune salesman.

DRYS OF FINLAND TURN WET; SPLIT OLD PARTY TIES

Prohibition Overshadows Political Issues.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

HELSINKI, April 14.—As in the United States, prohibition in Finland now threatens to become a political issue of such vast moment as to subordinate considerations of much greater actual importance.

The powerful Agrarian party, which formerly presented a united front in favor of prohibition, now appears on the verge of falling to pieces due to the fact that large numbers—if not an actual majority—no longer favor the dry laws, which have been a party plank up to now. At the same time, dissenters are also beginning to appear among the Social Democrats.

With the Agrarians, the situation is becoming critical. It now appears certain that prohibition will be a leading subject of discussion in the coming party conference. Should the majority of the party vote in favor of prohibition, it is apt to prove very difficult to hold together the various party elements.

Commenting on this fact, the monthly journal of the Federation of Finnish Industries says:

"It would be strange if a great party, which has many important social, economic, and cultural proposals, should turn out many of its members because of one abortive law."

There is much consternation expressed in Finland over the possibility of the prohibition law becoming a division line between parties. It is pointed out that it would be ridiculous to let the problem of temperance become the deciding factor in influencing a politician in joining the right or the left parties.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—The Supreme court again declined to review the conviction of S. Homer Federma at Indianapolis, on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

The right of the federal government to deny tribal funds to certain descendants of Chippewa Indians was upheld by the Supreme court.

Compacts between the states of Oklahoma and Texas for the purchase and construction of highway bridges over the Red river are authorized in a bill signed by President Hoover.

The Nye bill to change the name of Copper mountain in Mount McKinley national park in Alaska to Mount Eielson in honor of Carl Ben Eielson, arctic aviator, was passed by the senate.

President Hoover signed a bill authorizing secretary of the interior to deliver water during the irrigation season of 1930 to the Uncompahgre project of Colorado.

World war veterans are precluded from appealing to the federal courts when the director of the veterans bureau refuses to reinstate lapsed war risk insurance, the Supreme court held in a case from Colorado brought by Robert G. Meadows.

A house bill to authorize construction of a $550,000 coast guard cutter for rescue work on Lake Michigan was passed by the senate and sent to the President.

The Supreme court refused to reconsider its recent decision holding that the Guardian Trust company was not entitled to recover $200,000 in attorneys fees from the Kansas City Southern railway growing out of the acquisition of the Kansas City Suburban Belt railway by the Kansas City Southern.

The Supreme court refused to reconsider its recent decision sustaining the validity of those sections of the California motor vehicle act which impose a graduated license or registration fee on motor vehicles used in the transportation of passengers and property for hire.

Favorable reports to the senate were made by its judiciary committee on the nominations of Clark B. Wasson to be marshal of eastern Oklahoma and Phil E. Baer, to be marshal for eastern Texas.

DRY LAW REPEAL IN 5 YEARS SEEN BY WET LEADER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—Repeal of the 18th amendment in "about five years" was predicted today by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in a letter to Senator T. H. Caraway (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the senate lobby investigating committee, confirming a refusal to surrender the association's files except under "compulsion of subpoena." The wet leader is scheduled to appear before the committee Wednesday.

Curran, in the letter written "while your investigator is in the next room fishing in my letter file," protested against the committee's right to letters from citizens "who had no idea their privacy would thus be invaded and destroyed" and reminded Caraway that the committee's jurisdiction is limited by the senate's resolution to "lobbyists located in and around Washington."

"But we have no such lobby or lobbyists," added Curran in the letter. "nor do I believe that we shall ever indulge in such a doubtful luxury. In your political judgment would it not be silly to button hole a dry senator on the steps of the capitol in the hope of making him wet?"

"To be more specific," continued Curran, who said his only appearance at the capitol was upon invitation of the house judiciary committee during its recent dry hearings. "We did nothing about the Jones law, which seeks to send to jail for five years a citizen who carries a pint of ale across the street; nor are we interested in the Sheppard bill, which makes a criminal of the laborer who buys a glass of beer although the law lets off scot free the farmer who makes hard cider with a kick in it like a mule's; nor in the Wickereham bills to abolish jury trials and the like."

Free Mechanical First Aid

A dead battery, fouled ignition points, or a broken axle are a few of the many mechanical troubles that come unexpectedly. Car trouble may find you far from a garage; it may come as you start out in the morning, or it may come late at night, but always it is unwelcome.

Ninety thousand motorists have protected themselves and their families in just such emergencies by means of membership in the Chicago Motor Club. When they are in need of help they call the club. In 1929 members sent in 120,000 calls for free mechanical first aid and towing service. Eighty-six per cent of the trouble cases were remedied by club mechanics on the spot; the remainder of the calls were tow jobs. No charge is made for mechanical first aid or towing service. Like all other services of the club, this service is free to members.

You are as close to help as the nearest telephone. The service is available at any hour of the day or night.

In Cook county members call the club and the service is rendered by club mechanics. In the sixty-one other counties of the club territory in Illinois and northern Indiana the service is rendered by approved service stations.

In addition to mechanical first aid and towing service, the club provides members with such services as these:

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and schoolboy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

Insurance service, which provides the following features: The valued form policy, which in the event of total loss, pays the face value of the policy. Accessories are covered without additional charge. Last year the "exchange" returned cash savings to subscribers amounting to $711,332.11. Automobile insurance sales amounted to $3,894,706.04, more than the total sales in Illinois of the next three largest insurers.

These are a few of the many money saving services. Write or call for further information. There is a branch in your neighborhood.

New
RAZOR

SHORTEN your daily shaving time; no more wiping—no more cut towels

YOUR WORK ends when your shave ends, with this New Gillette Blade and Razor. Simply turn guard at right angles, re-tighten, rinse under hot running water and shake dry.

Think what this means. Think of the time and temper saved. No more cut towels! No more tedious fiddling with razor parts that always seem to find the drain pipe.

This one improvement alone is worth the price of the New Gillette. Yet it is only one of many pleasing changes that you will find in this new razor and blade.

"Razor pull," for instance, won't bother you any more. "Razor pull," Gillette engineers found, is caused by nicks and dents that are put in the corners of a razor when it is dropped. In a precision instrument such as the Gillette, the smallest dent is enough to throw the blade out of perfect alignment, to make it "pull."

The New Gillette prevents "pull" for two reasons: First, the corners of the razor are reinforced with sturdy lugs of extra metal that stand a lot of abuse. Second, even if you should dent these lugs the blade is no longer held at the corners, so no harm results from dropping. Look at the new blade, and note how the corners are cut out.

The old center posts are gone. They stuck through the blade and accidentally caught and dulled the blade edges. Notice how the guard teeth are rounded back farther to meet the skin more smoothly, more comfortably. Please note, too, that the new blade-ends are square, not round, for safer handling with wet fingers. These ends shave closer around the tight little corners of mouth, nose and ears.

The price of the New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, cased in a beautiful box, and equipped with New Gillette Blade, is one dollar. The New Gillette Blade is one dollar for ten and 50c for five.

Don't wait a minute to enjoy the comfort of this new and perfect shave. Visit the nearest Gillette dealer today.

MOON MOTOR CO. WORKERS DRIVE NEW BOSSES OUT

They Return with Court Order and Police.

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Armed with a Circuit court order, new officers of the Moon Motor Car company, elected at a special directors' meeting Saturday, took charge of the plant this afternoon after they had been denied admittance this morning by a group of employees.

The new officers, accompanied by policemen, entered the building through a window. They announced the factory would resume production tomorrow.

The court's order, which temporarily enjoined interference by the old employees and officers, is returnable Thursday.

Plaintiffs are William J. Muller, president; Helm Walker, vice president; Joseph E. Roberts, second vice president; Frederic E. Welch, treasurer, and Robert P. Kolwitz, secretary. Defendants are Carl W. Burst, William D. Hemenway, Henry W. Klemme, and Stanley Moon, who were ousted at the directors' meeting Saturday as president, vice president, treasurer, and secretary, respectively.

A Financial Battle.
Until last Feb. 6 the Moon company had only 100,000 shares outstanding, held mostly by 3,000 persons in the United States and Canada.

Business and management was unsatisfactory to stockholders and many creditors were demanding payment. The new officers allege in their injunction suit, so the management sought to improve conditions by selling 100,000 additional shares to the plaintiffs for approximately $500,000 and giving them an additional 150,000 shares for assets of New Era Motors, Inc., including rights to manufacture the Ruxton front wheel drive automobile.

The plaintiffs, controlling a majority of the 350,000 shares outstanding, demanded a special stockholders' meeting be called to give them representation on the board of directors. When this was refused they held their own meeting and named new directors and officers.

Ousted Officials to Fight.

U. S. SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS RUM VERDICT BY AN 11 MAN JURY

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Deciding a prohibition case from Oklahoma City, the Supreme court today held that a verdict of guilty handed down by a jury of eleven, after one jurymen had been excused by mutual agreement, was valid and effective.

The court upheld the conviction of John Patton, Harold Conant, and Jack Baker at Oklahoma City on a charge of conspiracy to bribe Charles Buzzi, a federal prohibition agent.

During the proceedings the constitutional guarantee of a trial by a jury of twelve was reviewed in detail. The highest court upheld the government in its contention that the constitutional right to a full jury box could legally be waived.

ficers of the Moon Motor Car company today refused to recognize a new board of directors that has ordered their removal and promised a court fight.

"With respect to the dispatches from St. Louis, Mo., relative to the removal of officers of the Moon Motor Car company and speaking for myself and associates," C. W. Burst, the president, said, "I desire to state in the most emphatic terms that we do not recognize the action of the alleged stockholders' meeting held on April 7, 1930, nor do we recognize the action of the alleged directors taken April 12, 1930."

MAYWOOD G. A. R. VET CELEBRATES 99TH BIRTHDAY

Frederick W. Seymour, 614 South 8th avenue, Maywood, believed to be the oldest living member of the Grand Army of the Republic, celebrated his 99th birthday yesterday by attending a reception in his honor at the Maywood Home for Soldiers' Widows. The reception was given by the Maywood Post of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

Mr. Seymour, besides being the oldest resident of Maywood, is probably the most widely known. He was municipal judge in the village for 14 years, retiring at the age of 70, and for 25 years was baggage master at the Chicago and North Western railroad station in Chicago.

He went to California during the gold rush of 1849 at the age of 18 years and upon his return to his home in Michigan he enlisted in the Union army, serving throughout the war as a color sergeant with Gen. Sherman. He was wounded twice and still carries the third bullet in his body.

TEXAN RANSOMED FROM BANDITS IS NOW SAFE IN U. S.

Nogales, Ariz., April 14.—(AP)—J. E. Bristow, San Angelo, Tex., oil and mining man, who was released by Mexican bandits last week after payment of ransom, arrived at the international border by train today from Mazatlan, Sinaloa.

Bristow and his son, Gordon Obie Bristow, left Mazatlan yesterday morning on the regular north bound train.

The elderly Texan, who collapsed from exhaustion several times while held by the bandits, appeared worn and haggard when he stepped off the train on the United States side of the international line. He smiled, however, as he said, "I am lighter in weight and spritlier than I have been for years."

He went to a hotel for rest before continuing to El Paso, Tex., this afternoon.

Harmonize Your GLOVES and HOSIERY

There's many a slip between the gloves and the hose in this great game of harmonizing the two. If you are joining the gloves and hose brigade, which you are sure to do if you would be "in the movement," you need not worry over this, for you will find here gloves and hose harmoniously blending in fashion and color.

The Gloves.. $3.75 to $7.50

The smart world is putting on gloves and not just one pair, either, but many types for different occasions. We suggest the pigskin glove for motor, golf, and country club wear; the navy blue kid pull-on, in long wrist length, for daytime wear; the six button beige suede for general wear with everything, and the eight button glaze kid in champagne and the twelve button suede in ivory for afternoon.

Pigskin glove, $5
Four button kid, $3.75
Six button suede, beige, $5.75
Eight button glaze kid, $6.50
Twelve button suede in ivory, $7.50

The Hosiery

Pigskin gloves and Sunbask hose, navy blue gloves and Plage hose, Beige gloves and Orient Beige hose, Champagne gloves with Duotone hose, and Ivory gloves with Cassel hose cruise together, this Easter. These are merely guides to help you blend your gloves and hose. You will find here all the new Spring shades in our hosiery collection. They are silk from top to toe, sheer and clear, with clocks and without, and range in price, according to kind, from

$1.95 to $3.50

The gloves and hosiery sections are close together, which is a great convenience.

Printed Frocks Take Their Personality From Their Many Variations

And These Express
Particularly Individual
Necklines

Exceptional Value!

$19.50

There are prints—"and prints!" But the smart printed frocks are those which express individuality. In their distinctive necklines these subtly establish themselves as printed frocks of fashion. And they are here in a featured selling at an exceptional price.

One Style Has A Bertha Collar

A bertha collar, giving the cape effect, on a sleeveless printed chiffon frock, loops in a soft tie at the neck. Loose panels flare smartly from the hipline. It comes in many prints. 14 years to 40.

A Bolero Jacket Adds a Bow

In this silk frock it's a bolero, tying at the neck, which softly adds its charm. The bolero is finished with circular cuffs, and slips over a sleeveless frock. Black, green, brown, navy prints. 14 years to 44.

White Georgette In Jabot Style

A printed collar and jabot are topped with white georgette on this printed silk frock. The detail of the hipline is accentuated by the simplicity of the bodice. To be had in navy blue, green, and black prints. 14 to 38.

A Diagonal Line Trims with Buttons

Vionnet's diagonal line is suggested in this silk frock. Here it gives the partial bolero effect in the front, edged with tiny pleats. The skirt is of tiny pleats. Navy, black, brown, blue prints. 14 to 42.

HANDICAP STARS AIM AT $100,000 ARLINGTON RACE

Victorian Is Withdrawn from Dixie.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Owners of older handicap stars are beginning to pass up some of the rich early season turf stakes in order to shoot at the proposed $100,000 international race which may be run at Arlington Park in July.

Announcement came from Kentucky yesterday that Victorian, winner of the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap, will be kept out of the Dixie handicap and perhaps several other early fixtures in order that Trainer Tom Taylor can point him particularly for the Arlington International. Victorian is a horse that does not thrive on too much hard work. If he should win the wealthy stake at Arlington it will make him the greatest money winning horse of all time.

Display will also shoot for that record at Arlington, and he may not fill another engagement before the international is run. Diavolo has also been declared out of the Dixie, Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons being of the opinion he will have Diavolo in better condition next July if he does not ask him for too much of a training effort this spring. Sun Beau is also being brought along slowly, with the international as his objective.

Mike Hall Works Well.

Mike Hall, the old globe trotter, is training so well at Lexington he will likely go to the Dixie, and he may fill all his engagements leading up to the Arlington event. Mike is a rugged old scamp and usually has to be forced into condition. He failed in England last fall, but when he worked six furlongs at the Lexington course a few days ago in better than 1:15 and went on to finish out the mile in 1:40 his admirers took it to mean he will redeem himself this season.

The international race was proposed last summer and at that time it was believed it might bring together Invershin, the great Irish distance runner, and Reigh Count, the American champion. Invershin defeated Reigh Count by a narrow margin in the last running of the Ascot cup. Invershin had also won the old English fixture the year previously.

Champions Are Retired.

But neither Invershin nor Reigh Count will take part in the race. Both have been retired to the stud. Their absence has caused the owners of other good route runners in Europe and the United States to take heart. If the Arlington officials decide to add the international to their program there is every prospect it will attract representatives from England, France, Italy, Germany, and Belgium, and eight or ten of the leading stake performers in the United States.

C. J. Fitzgerald, representing the Arlington Jockey club, is now in Europe in the interest of the international race.

MRS. SCHOMMEL SWIMS 4 MILES IN FRIGID LAKE

Mrs. Lottie Schommel dived off a tug at the two mile crib yesterday morning at 10:35 o'clock and climbed out of the water one hour and twenty minutes later at Navy pier. The temperature of Lake Michigan was 39 degrees.

Swimming statistics show that on no other April 14 in history has there been done. Mrs. Schommel's purpose was to prepare herself for William Wright's 25 mile marathon next summer.

She showed no hesitation in leaping over the side of the tug after a coat of grease had been applied, and struck out for the distant breakwater followed by boats filled with coast guards, newspaper reporters, and cameramen.

A rather severe wind made the going rough, and she was swept off her course several times, but eventually rounded the breakwater and reached Navy pier, blankets, and hot coffee.

Wright, Thurnblad Split in Chicago 3 Cushion Meet

Joe Wright and Art Thurnblad last night divided a pair of three cushion billiard games in the Chicago league. Thurnblad won the first, 27 to 24, in 29 innings. He had a high run of 6 to Wright's 4. Wright won the second game, 24 to 16, in 20 innings. His high run was 4 to his opponent's 3. Hall beat Lookabaugh two games, 30 to 29, in 32 innings, and 29 to 28, in 34 innings. Hall had high runs of 7 and 6 to Lookabaugh's 8 and 3.

Amateurs Vie in Mat Show at Coliseum

Amateur wrestling, featuring the outstanding stars of universities, colleges, high schools, and clubs, will be staged at the Coliseum for the next three days, beginning tonight.

More than 300 athletes have entered the Central A. A. U. Diamond Midwest wrestling championships. Two rings will be used for the preliminaries, which will start at 7 o'clock tonight in the 115, 125, 135, and 147 pound divisions. Entrants must report at the Coliseum at 5 o'clock for weighing in, physical examination, and drawings.

Among the outstanding stars who are entered and will compete for the diamond, ruby, and silver medals include eight champions and former champions, as well as others who challenge their ability.

Competition for the team trophy, which will be a large silver cup, is keen, and coaches are laying their plans to annex this prize.

Amateur Boxing

Chancy Crain, Johnny Palma, and Eddie Sticks are among the amateur fighters on the card tomorrow night at the Lawndale gymnasium, 26th street and Crawford avenue. George Kamberson, matchmaker, announces a card of eight bouts.

The weekly show tonight at the Midway arena, 5115 Cottage Grove avenue, will feature Eddie Carlrow, Scotty Sylvano, Jimmy Cummings, Mickey Prescott, Walter Leninger, and Tom Murray. There will be eight bouts.

The double win at the Hollywood Athletic club this evening includes Benny Goldblatt vs. Tony Muscarelli and George Shroobree vs. Pete Verri.

Nick Taft and Jerry Sullivan, light heavyweights, will trade punches in the feature bout tonight at the Congress Arcade A. C., 2036 Milwaukee avenue. Mac McMullen and Ross McFarland meet in the semi-win.

taken up the game in an ostentatious way. If they had done so, then the seating arrangements would have been recharted and the prices revised, with proximity to some broker who sleeps in a gold bedroom and rides to his office in an imported car using matched pearls for ball bearings as the standard of value.

In time, the cost of watching the Yankees play the Athletics from a front seat would have been fifty dollars at the box office or twice that much at the scalpers. The players would have been signing on by the game, not by the season and the common customer would have had to go to Seranton, New Haven or Reading.

SIMMONS STILL HOLDS OUT ON EVE OF SEASON

Philadelphia, Pa., April 14.—(AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the world champion Athletics, today confirmed the fears of the fans that Al Simmons, slugging outfielder of the A's, is a hold out. He admitted that Simmons had not yet signed a contract for 1930.

Unless there is an overnight agreement between Mack and his star outfielder, the hard hitting fly catcher will be missing from the opening game with the New York Yankees at Shibe Park tomorrow.

Manager Mack would say nothing as to the salary Simmons was demanding and would make no other comment except that he made the announcement of Simmons' status because he did not want fans to come to the Athletics-Yankee game and be disappointed in not seeing Simmons in the outfield.

Simmons would not talk, but according to friends he says he will pack up and return home to Milwaukee unless he and Mack come to terms soon. Spencer Harris, who was with the Minneapolis club of the American association last year, probably will be seen in the A's outfield tomorrow.

Simmons arrived here on Friday and played through the final game of the city series against the Phillies on Saturday. His home run was the only score against the Phillies.

Ex-Baseball Player Found Guilty of Two Murders

Harrisburg, Pa., April 14.—(AP)—Hans "Red" Crane, former major league and minor league baseball player, today was sentenced to from 15 to 25 years in the Eastern penitentiary for the slaying of John D. Oren and the slaying of John D. Oren and the slaying of John D. Oren in a local hotel on Aug. 1, 1929.

A sentence of from 15 to 25 years was imposed for the killing of John D. Oren, Crane's former sweetheart, and 5 to 15 years for the killing of Oren's brother, John D. Oren, Jr. Verdicts of guilty to second degree murder were returned by the jury, which heard the two cases separately.

250,000 TO SEE 8 BIG LEAGUE BATTLES TODAY

Cubs and Macks Reign as Favorites.

After allowing basketball, hockey, fights, and indoor track meets to occupy their attention through the winter months, sport fans today will turn again to the old favorite—baseball.

The season began in Washington yesterday when President Hoover threw the first ball in the game between the Senators and Red Sox, but today action will begin on all major league diamonds.

If the weather continues favorable, 250,000 will attend the eight games scheduled. The National League contests are expected to draw 132,000 and the American, 115,000.

Grove to Hurt for Macks.

The Cubs will open the defense of their National league title against the Cardinals at St. Louis, where 35,000 fans are expected. The world champion Athletics are primed for a game on their home grounds in a battle with the New York Yankees.

Conse Mack will send his southpaw, Lefty Grove to the mound while Bob Shawkey will depend on George Hager.

The New York Giants estimate that 40,000 will witness their opening at the Polo Grounds and a similar attendance is forecast for the game between the Tigers and the Browns at Detroit.

As the field goes to the post for the annual pennant race, the Macks are quoted at even money to win the National league flag, while the Cubs are 7 to 4 favorites to finish first in the National league.

New York, Cleveland, and Detroit are rated the principal American league threats, while the Pirates and the Giants are picked by most critics to give the Cubs trouble.

Robins Improved On.

However, the Robins and the Phillies in the National league, and the White Sox in the American, have shown enough to make many experts forecast that they will cause upsets among the leaders. Brooklyn is generally looked upon as the most improved club in the National league.

Every team has new material to present, and several such as the Cubs, Braves, Robins, and Reds will see with radically altered lineups. The new names can be counted upon to draw the interest of the fans, and to be the first day at least, newcomers such as Chapman, Cook, Jolley, Suhr, Hege, Marshall, Lopez, and Funk draw the spotlight with veteran campaigners such as Ruth and Hornsby, whose combined salaries for the year reach a new high of $120,000.

DESERT LIGHT'S DERBY ODDS ARE DROPPED TO 1-1

Lexington, Ky., April 14.—(Special.)—Tom Shaw of New York reported today that there had been no more backing for Desert Light in the Kentucky Derby future book during the last few days that he was now quoting him as an equal favorite with High Foot, the Chicago colt owned by Dick and Pat Nash.

He offers 10 to 1 on each of them. Dedicate's price has gone up to 12 to 1, he announced, and he offered the same price on Gallant Fox and Flying Heels.

During the last few days there has been a quiet plunge on Woodcraft, Shaw reported, and his price has been backed down from 100 to 1 to 40 to 1. Woodcraft is a son of Ormonde and Wood Violet, she by Trap Rock. The colt is owned by the Audley farm stable.

DANVILLE BUYS FROMAN.

Thames, Ohio, April 14.—(Special.)—Danville, Ohio, has bought the three-year-old colt, Froman, from the Danville farm stable. The colt was bred by the Danville farm stable and was sold to Danville for $10,000. The colt is a son of Danville and is expected to be a great horse.

Thomas Warns Boys Not to Strain Pitching Arm

This is the second of six lessons on pitching for boys of Chicago and written by Tommy Thomas of the White Sox for The Tribune. He will demonstrate his instructions at Comiskey park Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. A free ticket will appear in the Saturday morning Tribune. Any boy holding a ticket will be admitted.

BY TOMMY THOMAS.

You'll remember that yesterday I emphasized the necessity of strengthening your pitching arm by gradual and specific methods—holding uppermost the idea that throwing, but not too much throwing, is the only real safe method of developing the arm and shoulder muscles for pitching strength.

While throwing is the only proper exercise for the development of the arm, there are separate exercises for strengthening the wrist and fingers—members which require strength especially in curve ball pitching as I'll show you at the personal class next Saturday.

Use Woolen Shirt to Protect Muscles.

Even when you are convinced that your arm, wrist and fingers are strong enough to pitch a full game of baseball, there are several things you must watch carefully in addition to determining whether you are tiring.

For instance, many pitching arms have been ruined because athletes did not use the proper kind of sweatshirt. Use only an all wool shirt, otherwise, young or old, your muscles are liable to stiffen and become permanently affected by too quick cooling off.

In warming up, or pitching for exercise, and not in competition, make it a point to pitch every ball with a purpose. Try to throw the ball where the catcher indicates and over some object approximately the width of the plate. Even though you are not throwing hard, you will be gaining control if you make all your warming up practice as accurate as possible. Never throw at random—always have some target at which to shoot.

Pitchers in the major leagues have ten minutes before a game in which to warm up. I throw more or less leisurely until the last half dozen pitches of the warm up session. On these I bear down with all my energy. I speak of this at this time, without relation to actual pitching because I want to emphasize that warming up is a very definite process, when properly done, and is not, as many suspect, a mere showing off in front of the spectators.

Cite Control as Golden Asset.

Don't forget, however, that when you throw a baseball, try to figure within an inch or so where it is going. Control is a golden asset to a pitcher, sometimes when he has little else. So far we have been talking about the basic work in preparation of a baseball career. You must have the foundation of strength and definite Legion Baseball Official Praises Tribune School

This letter, complimenting Taz Thomas' baseball school for boys of Chicago, was received yesterday:

"I cannot too highly recommend your school for juvenile baseball players. I shall see that each and every one of the thousands of Cook county boys taking part in the Cook county American Legion baseball tournament during the coming season profit by the scientific lessons given in this Tribune by the stars from the Cubs and Sox teams."

"I also shall see that our players attend the demonstrations given at the two local parks. Training opportunity of this sort cannot be purchased for money."

"I shall be happy to put all boys attending these demonstrations in touch with the managers of their local American Legion junior baseball teams. They thus can put into direct personal use the lessons they have secured and gain the health and recognition that their skill may warrant."

"Thanking you for this work, I am, sincerely yours, L. A. TWOMER, Secretary American Legion junior baseball tournament."

purpose before you take up the fancy deliveries, the tricks of the game, the things that thrill students of athletics with the great national pastime.

You'd be surprised how many pitchers come clear up to the majors before they know how to take their position on the rubber and how many are upset because they have been making illegal moves in the pitcher's box, and suddenly discover big league umpires won't let them get away with it any longer. We're going to have all the rule book laws for pitchers in mind before we go far in our lessons.

We're going to talk about the simplicity of signals and proper cooperation with the catcher.

We're going to tell how to determine a batter's weakness and how to pitch to it.

We're going to decide when to pitch out and what is meant by the "waste ball."

And of course to do these things you'll have to know about the different kind of pitches—when to pitch high balls and when to pitch low ones; when to pitch curves and when to pitch fast balls; when to employ the change of pace and how to pitch for a double play.

Well, listen to "teacher." Not a thing is going to be overlooked. [Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune]

Northwestern Loses, 8-7, to Missouri Team

Payette, Mo., April 14.—(Special.)—The Central college baseball team defeated Northwestern university this afternoon, 8 to 7.

Stearns, who started pitching for Northwestern, was replaced by Schleuter in the seventh. Crisewsky, who started in left field, relieved Schleuter in the eighth. Pfoe twirled the last frame. McKinney, Hariston, and Tyler of Central hit home runs. Score: Northwestern.....011 002 011-7; Central.....100 100 201-8.

Young Holds World Record for Games Won; Irwin Howe Rates Him Greatest of Pitchers

(This is the ninth of a series of articles in which Irwin M. Howe discusses the ten players he considers best of those who have been under his observation in 45 years of baseball writing.)

BY IRWIN M. HOWE.

Of the dozen of great hurlers whom I have seen I have no hesitancy in choosing as the best of them all, Denton T. Young, the man who served twenty-two seasons in the National and American leagues and in that time won 511 games while losing 216. This is an average of twenty-three victories a year for twenty-two seasons in the majors, whereas now if a hurler can turn in as many as fifteen or sixteen victories in a year, with a heavy hitting team behind him, he is looked upon as a potential world series winner.

During the Brotherhood war of 1890 the Cleveland National team was hard hit and in midsummer the management took on a young farmer from the Canton club, who had been winning the ball past the batters of the Tri-State league so fast they could not see it. That was Young, and he had so much speed he had already been dubbed "Cyclone." When he shut out the Chicago team with three hits in his first effort, using nothing but speed, the players on both teams agreed that, barring accidents, a baseball sensation had arrived. Cy, short for Cyclone, won ten games and lost seven after midseason for a seventh place team. For the next fourteen years his lowest number of victories in a season was twenty and he touched that level but once.

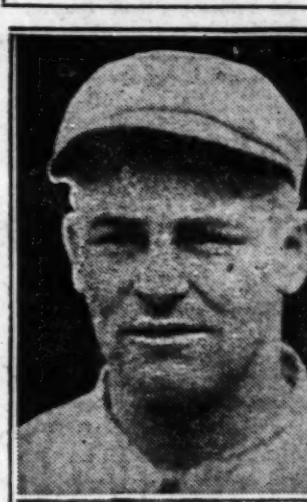

Young's Control Baffling to Batters.

In 1892 Young won 36; in '93, 34; in '95, 35; in 1901, 31, and in 1902, 32. A news item recently stated that a pitcher who won less than ten games for a heavy hitting National league team in the combined seasons of 1928 and '29 was demanding $11,000 for this year. If he had Young's record of 186 victories in six consecutive seasons, 30 per season, probably his requirements would present a problem in high finance.

In addition to his enormous strength, which made his terrific speed possible, he possessed skill in a pitching detail that is not overemphasized by many present day hurlers, and that is control.

In the '90's major league baseball was confined to 1892 to 1899, both years inclusive, embraced twelve clubs. The twelve club league resulted from the amalgamation of the American association with the National league under a long term agreement, which proved unprofitable. Therefore after the close of the 1898 season the owners of the Cleveland club bought the St. Louis club and the owners of the Brooklyn club purchased the Baltimore franchise and the great Oriole team with it.

SPEED ARTIST

The attendance in Cleveland had been very bad, and as soon as the purchase of the St. Louis team was completed the best members of the Cleveland club, including Young, were transferred to the Missouri city.

Young remained in St. Louis two years and then signed with the new American league Boston team, where he remained until the close of the 1908 season, when he returned once more to Cleveland, but this time as an American league player. During the 1911 season, Cy being now in his twenty-first year in major league company, was released to the Boston Nationals, and at the close of the 1912 season retired to the farm near Paul, O., which he had left twenty-two years before.

In his time Young opposed Russe, Meekin, Hutchinson, Griffith, Callahan, Kid Nichols, Stivetta, Hertenstein, Weyhing, McMahon, Kid Gleason, Keefe, Mullane, Phillip, Leever, Cheebro, Tannehill, Walsh, Joe, Johnson, Plank, Bender, Combs, Waddell, Donovan—in short, all the stars of twenty years, and none of them ever had better than an even chance to win from him.

Pitches No Hit, No Run Game Against Reds.

In his seventeenth season Young figured in one of the most sensational battles in which he ever engaged. Sept. 1, 1906, Cy began the game for Boston against the then champion Mackmen. Young John Combs was the Philadelphia hurler. In the 12th inning Young retired for a pinch hitter, but the score standing 1 to 1, Combs won from Joe Harris in the 24th inning when the Athletics scored three runs; final score, 4 to 1.

Sept. 18, 1897, Young shut out Cincinnati without a hit. On Aug. 5, 1904, he let down the Athletics with a perfect record, no runs, no hits, no man reaching first base, and on June 20, 1908 (his nineteenth season), he pitched a no hit game against the Yankees.

Young pitched more than 186 games in the majors than any other hurler and has a world record for games won.

TAYLOR STARTS DRILL TODAY FOR LA BARBA BOUT

Bud Taylor yesterday crossed up the loop boxing fans who had expected him to commence his ring drills at Barry's gymnasium for his fight with Fidel LaBarba at the Coliseum next Monday night. The blonde veteran declared a holiday and remained at his home in Terre Haute.

However, Bud will arrive this morning and start proceedings this afternoon. Since Taylor never has entered a fight out of condition in his eleven years of travels through the country, he evidently is a good judge of how much work he needs to get in shape. He knocked out Paul Wangle in Minneapolis in five rounds last Friday and the intervening days, Bud figures, are a necessary rest period.

Fidel Slight Favorite.

LaBarba continued preparation yesterday at Kid Howard's gymnasium, boxing with Marty Zankin and Billy Deuce. Although there hasn't been much money wagered on the fight, Fidel remains a slight favorite. Both attack in a similar manner, depending upon a left hook as the best weapon. Bud generally shoots his left to the body, while Fidel, in his training periods, has alternated his punching, using the body and the face as targets.

George Blake, LaBarba's manager, agreed on a weight of 128 pounds for the Taylor fight. This also will be the weight for the match with Kid Chocolate in Madison Square Garden May 18.

Schuman, Stewart Drill.

The contestants in the preliminary bouts on Dempsey's card are at work at loop gymnasia. Solly Schuman, west side featherweight, is drilling daily at Barry's, while his opponent in the six round semi-windup, Jackie Stewart, is working at Kid Howard's. Paul Leberto, winner of the 118 pound Golden Gloves title, as well as Sammy Levine, 112 pound runner-up, is going through his paces at Barry's. Leberto meets Joey Bosak in a five rounder. Levine makes his first professional start in a five rounder against Frankie Almaraz.

Mercur took the match from Yeomans, 6-3, 4-6, 13-11. The game was in the second round of the men's singles.

27 ACRE TRACT BOUGHT FOR NEW SOUTH SIDE PARK

Plan Ball Diamonds and Fieldhouse.

BY AL CHASE.

Another small park is assured the south side as a result of the purchase yesterday by the south park commissioners of a twenty-seven acre tract bounded by East 33d and East 35th streets, Kimbark avenue and the Nickel Plate railroad right of way. The seller was John L. Hopkins and the stated consideration was $216,960. The property contains exactly 27.13 acres. The new breathing space is to be known as Avalon park.

Only tentative plans for the improvement of the new south side park have been made, but according to Francis X. Busch, attorney for the south park commissioners, a fieldhouse will be erected. Several baseball diamonds will be laid out in the western part of the park near the railroad tracks.

A factory occupying four acres at

David J. Janssen has purchased the northeast corner of Roosevelt road and Austin boulevard, 134x125, from the Austin National bank, as trustee. The property is improved with the Chicago block, containing stores, offices, and data. Oscar Beiderman was the only broker. Rueckberg & Burr and Turner & Turner were attorneys.

George and Anna Kalns, who have been in the bakery business on West Madison street for many years and are now at 3215, have bought the two-story building at 3223 West Madison from the Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank, as trustee, and will occupy it. Oscar Beiderman was broker. Rueckberg & Burr were attorneys for the seller and the trust department of the Madison and Kedzie Trust and Savings bank represented the buyers.

Buys Glen Eden Hotel.

Morris Lomasky, as trustee, has transferred title to the Glen Eden hotel at 5130 Dorchester avenue, lot 92x150 feet, to Gertrude Iskowitz for an undisclosed consideration. The Glen Eden is a four-story structure containing 112 rooms.

The thirty-third and Halsted State Savings Bank of Chicago has quitclaimed the property at the southeast corner of Carpenter and 49th streets to John Sinkus. The ground, 100x124 feet, is improved with six stores and a ten-car garage.

Title to the store and warehouse property at 339 Roosevelt road, lot 125x111 feet, has been transferred by Morris L. Priess and Henry J. Mann to Edward A. Hochbaum. There is an incumbrance of $75,000 on the property.

PLAN BUILDING TO AID CHICAGO FOREIGN TRADE

Assurance that work will start shortly on a new federal appraisers' building here has been received by the Chicago Association of Commerce from officials of the treasury department at Washington. The structure, to cost between two and three million dollars, was one of the structures provided for in the recently passed Keyes-Elliott building.

This building will answer a long-felt need among local importers and exporters. Discussing it, Charles E. Harrick of the Association of Commerce, said:

"Due to poor facilities in the past, many Chicago importers and exporters have been clearing their merchandise through New York and other appraisal centers with the result that federal statistics have given a distorted and badly discounted picture of Chicago's real volume in international trade."

The three children of Mrs. Clara G. Lydon are the richer this morning by a sixth interest each in a parcel of Michigan avenue real estate, the ground under the forty-story Caribide and Carbon building at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and East South Water street. Mrs. Lydon yesterday transferred title to her half interest in the ground to her children, Eugene K. Lydon, Marion Lydon Colon, and Lella Lydon Colon. Mr. Lydon's sister, Mrs. Kate A. Lawler, owns the remaining half interest in the ground.

George C. Clements and Roland H. Bradley have joined the staff of Paul C. Dodge & Co., investment bankers.

Ernest T. Weil, chairman of the National Steel corporation, has been elected a director of the Fidelity Trust company of Pittsburgh.

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold yesterday at $17,800 net to the buyers, or $600 over the previous sale. H. H. Maynard was the buyer.

The seller, Edgar A. Barauch.

Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the New Republic Steel corporation, has been elected a director of the Consolidated Chase-Equitable Interstate bank, now in the process of formation through the merger of those institutions.

Business Personals

Frank R. Warren has been elected president of the W. F. Hall Printing company to succeed Robert Eastman, who has been chairman of the board. H. W. Campbell was named vice chairman. Stockholders, at an annual meeting yesterday voted to increase the number of the company's directors from five to nine. New directors elected are Mr. Warren, Charles Oliff, A. J. Feil, and W. Second.

The appointment of Harry Benner, formerly manager of the Chicago office of Merrill Lynch & Co., as vice president of E. H. Ottman & Co., is announced. Mr. Benner will be in charge of the buying department.

Melvin A. Taylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, will discuss "The World Bank" at the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel La Salle.

New Issue

April 15, 1930

Berlin City Electric Company

INCORPORATED

(Berliner Staetische Elektrizitaetswerke Akt.-Ges.)

Twenty-Five Year 6% Debentures

(NON-CALLABLE PRIOR TO APRIL 1, 1935)

To be dated April 1, 1930

To mature April 1, 1955

The city of Berlin, which owns all of the company's capital stock, has leased its electric properties to the company under an agreement, extending beyond the maturity of these debentures, empowering the company to fix rates for the sale of electricity adequate to cover all operating expenses, interest and amortization of loans, depreciation and other proper reserves, and providing that, upon termination thereof, the city shall assume all obligations of the company, including interest and amortization of loans.

The indenture is to provide for a purchase fund of $310,000 per annum, to be payable semi-annually commencing April 1, 1931, to be used for the purchase of debentures if obtainable at or below 100% and interest, unexpended balances at the end of each six months' period to revert to the company.

Authorized and presently to be issued $15,000,000. Coupon debentures in denomination of $1,000, registrable as to principal only. Interest payable April 1 and October 1. Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin at the principal office of the company in New York City, or at the principal office of the company in London at the office of Guinness, Mahon & Co., in pounds sterling; in Amsterdam at the office of Mendelssohn & Co., in guilders; in Zurich and Basel at the office of Credit Suisse et Societe de Banque Suisse, in Swiss francs; or in Stockholm at the office of Skandinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget, in Swedish kronor; in each case at the buying rate for sight exchange on New York on the date of presentation for collection. Non-callable prior to April 1, 1935; callable on that date and on any later date thereafter as a whole, or in part by lot, on thirty days' notice at the following prices and interest: to and including April 1, 1936, at 103 1/4%; thereafter to and including April 1, 1937, at 102 1/4%; thereafter to and including April 1, 1938, at 101 1/4%; thereafter to and including April 1, 1939, at 100 1/4%; thereafter to and including April 1, 1940, at 100%; and thereafter at 100%. Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, New York, American Trustee. Deutsche Kreditbank Aktiengesellschaft, Berlin, German Trustee.

The following information is contained in a letter, dated April 11, 1930, from Mr. Arthur Scholtz, Mayor of the City of Berlin, and Dr. Robert Kaufmann and Dr. Johannes Adolph, Managing Directors of Berlin City Electric Company, Incorporated, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

BUSINESS

Berlin City Electric Company, Incorporated was organized by the city of Berlin in 1923 to operate, under lease from the city, the electric works which since 1915 had been operated directly by the city. The company sells about 90% of the electric current supplied in Berlin, which, with a population of more than 4,300,000, is the third city in size in the world. As at December 31, 1929 the company operated electric generating stations having an aggregate installed capacity of 643,550 kilowatts, and for the year ended that date, sold approximately 1,324,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity. In that period the company produced more than 72% of the current sold by it.

CAPITALIZATION

As at March 31, 1930, the company's outstanding funded and other long-term debt and capital stock, adjusted to give effect to the issuance of these debentures, was as follows:

Twenty-five Year 6% Debentures, due 1955 (this issue)	$15,000,000
Thirty-Year 6 1/2% Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1959	14,430,000
Twenty-Five Year 6 1/2% Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1951	19,074,000
7% Swiss Franc Loan, due 1940	5,692,921
8% Goldmark credit, due serially 1932 to 1935	5,997,600
6% Dollar credit, due serially 1932 to 1935	1,800,000
Capital Stock (15,000,000 Reichsmarks par value)	3,570,000

In addition, in consideration of the application to extensions and betterments of the leased properties of the proceeds of approximately 72% of the City of Berlin's 6 1/2% External Loan of 1925 ($13,548,000 now outstanding), and of approximately 39% of the city's 6% External Loan of 1928 ($14,716,000 now outstanding), the company has obligated itself to pay to the city interest and amortization upon such proportions, respectively, of these loans. The proceeds of the sale of this issue of debentures are to be used to reduce current borrowings of the company incurred for extensions and betterments to the leased properties, and for other corporate purposes.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS—1929

Net earnings after rentals, taxes other than taxes based on profits, depreciation and payments under the Dawes Plan, including miscellaneous income (comprising interest and dividends received), as follows: 1925, $333,969; 1926, $431,381; 1927, $402,045; 1928, $107,771 and 1929, $869,130 but before deducting interest payable and appropriations junior thereto, for the five-year period ended December 31, 1929, have been as follows:

1925	1926	1927	1928	1929
$6,379,599	$6,563,383	$7,492,081	$8,321,100	$9,223,042

The maximum annual interest requirement of the company as of March 31, 1930, adjusted to give effect to this financing, including $214,270 of interest on current borrowings but excluding interest payments ranking junior to interest on these debentures, was $4,355,804.

PROTECTIVE PROVISIONS

These debentures are to be the direct obligation of the company and are to be issued under an indenture between the company and Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, New York, American trustee, and Deutsche Kreditbank Aktiengesellschaft, Berlin, German trustee. The city of Berlin, which owns all the properties operated by the company, is obligated, for a period extending beyond the maturity of these debentures not to mortgage or otherwise encumber any of such properties except subject to the company's lease. The properties are at present subject to liens securing not more than $250,000 of obligations. None of the company's assets or revenues is now mortgaged or pledged to secure funded debt, and the indenture is to provide that while these debentures are outstanding the company will not mortgage or pledge any of its assets or revenues as security for any funded debt, except that the company may pledge current assets for short term loans in the ordinary course of business and may mortgage real estate for the purpose of erecting employees' houses thereon.

Copies of a descriptive circular may be had upon request.

These debentures are listed on the Boston Stock Exchange and the company has agreed to make application in due course to list them on the New York Stock Exchange.

A substantial amount of these debentures has been withdrawn for offering in Europe, including offerings in Holland by Mendelssohn & Co., Amsterdam, Nederlandsche Handel-Maatschappij and others.

We offer these debentures for delivery if, when and as issued and accepted by us, subject to approval of legal proceedings by counsel. It is expected that delivery will be made on or about April 25, 1930, in the form of temporary debentures, or interim receipts of Dillon, Read & Co.

IRON FIREMAN MAKES A FIRE

HOTTER

THAN HAND FIRING

A HOTTER FIRE with the same quality of coal can mean but one thing—better combustion. And Iron Fireman actually creates a fire 500 to 1000 degrees hotter than hand firing. It makes a veritable blast furnace fire through scientifically feeding coal from below under forced draft.

Iron Fireman non-agitated forced underfiring utilizes the smaller sizes of coal which cost far less per ton—and it burns less coal. It cuts fuel bills—drastically. Users' records show fuel savings averaging more than 30 per cent. Automatically controlled, it gives steady, even heat. Reduces labor costs. Prevents smoke. Ask us what an Iron Fireman will cost installed in your boiler room or home heating plant.

For homes, apartments, and commercial heating and power plants up to 200 boiler h. p. sold on convenient terms.

REYNOLDS AND RAWSON FIND
TRADE GROWINGImprovement Seen
Slow but Sure.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Business and industry are improving and the optimism of spring is becoming prevalent. That is the conclusion of two Chicago financiers, Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Commercial Illinois Bank and Trust company, and Frederick H. Rawson, co-chairman of the First National bank, who returned to their desks yesterday after a winter vacation in California and Florida and spoke from the perspective of distance from actual affairs.

"Business is improving slowly," Mr. Reynolds said. "There is some slowing in retail trade and industry is not so good as it was a year ago. But it is not much lower than a year ago. This is the result of economies and better management. One bank had a profit for the first quarter of the year, despite lower money rates, as in the corresponding period last year."

Stimulate Building.

Easier money rates are stimulating building, and a considerable pick-up in construction is expected this summer. We also expect quite definite improvement in general business by July or August, and the stock markets appear to be discounting it. The crops are being put in, and that is a cheerful influence. And sentiment is vastly more optimistic, and that's the main thing in trade."

Mr. Rawson also commented on the better degree of optimism and better feeling now prevalent than when he left for Florida ten weeks ago. In fact, both he and Mr. Reynolds pointed on the good prospects on certain two playgrounds.

"Florida conditions are slowly lighting themselves," Mr. Rawson said, "and, considering the numerous in the state has received, it has a fine spirit and should gradually come back. Real estate conditions apparently are stabilized. There has been and is still continuing a lot of the residence building."

Cites Oil Situation.

"California is entirely optimistic," Reynolds added. "Oil production has been curtailed to reasonable limits and oil prices have advanced, and is inspiring cheerfulness. In California, however, we are not as much improved and therefore do not suffer much as the eastern population in stock market crash last winter."

Balance of recent picking up in automobile industry came in figures yesterday. New car registrations in the first 16 states reporting for last show an increase of 56.6 per cent over February, with 45,936 cars sold in 1929.

The Illinois Central will substitute motor buses for trains throughout its territory wherever conditions demand. This plan to counter competition for passenger travel is announced by President L. A. Downs, who issued his annual report last night. The Illinois Central organized a bus subsidiary in 1928, and last year found results satisfactory. Now the Iowa corporation will be replaced by a new subsidiary.

Never a loss to any investorHorse Versus Machine on Farm Is Discussed

BY SCRUTATOR.

The effect of the great increase in farm machinery on the farmer's market, particularly when it is considered in relation with the falling off in the number of horses and mules in this country, has never been evaluated to the extent that any conclusion can be accepted.

There can be no question that the acres used to produce feed for animal power on the farm have been greatly reduced. On the other hand, the production of the agricultural machinery that displaced this older form of power has given work to a vast number of men. So, too, has the furnishing of fuel and lubricants and the servicing of the machinery after it has been purchased.

The Horse Association of America is a proponent of the theory that much of the farmer's trouble can be traced to his giving up of horses and mules, which derived their energy from the burning of corn and oats in the alimentary tract, and his taking up of the gas driven tractor, which in addition to its other faults leaves no fertilization residue.

From this organization comes the estimate that if we had as many horses and mules in 1929 as we had in 1900 it would require more than fifty million acres in cultivation, over the present acreage, to feed them.

Other Side of Picture.

The normal rate of increase, had the 1900 ratio of animal motive power on the soil been retained, would have seen us with thirty-nine million as against the less than twenty million we now have. It is held by the friends of the horse and mule that markets for grain have been lost, markets for replacements of animal power been cut in half, or less, and the price of grains been run down because demand has been lessened.

That is one side of the picture, in its barest outlines. The other is that to operate in all Illinois Central territory.

The report shows a moderate increase in freight revenue and a slight decline in passenger revenue last year. Net income for 1929 was $13,520,383, equivalent to $9.12 a share on $135,395,091 common stock, compared with $13,250,497, or $8.94 a share on $134,453,391 common stock in 1928.

Although no material revival in business is evident at present in the territory of the Chicago and North Western railroad, improvement is expected next month by President Fred W. Sargent. Gross revenue for March will be about $1,500,000 below a year ago and net income will show a decrease of about $700,000, he said.

THE RISING TIDE OF PASSENGER TRAFFIC TO EUROPE

Once the privilege of the wealthy, travel to Europe now attracts every strata of American life. Under alert, efficient private management, the famous transatlantic fleet of the United States Lines, Inc., is making a vigorous and successful bid for a greater and greater share of this vast passenger revenue. New ideas are crowding the promenade decks of the mammoth LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Ship. New travel values and a blue-ribbon cuisine are lengthening the passenger lists of its magnificent cabin liners GEORGE WASHINGTON, AMERICA, REPUBLIC, PRESIDENT HARDING, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and the American Merchant Lines. Trust the ingenuity of an aggressive America to win with ships!

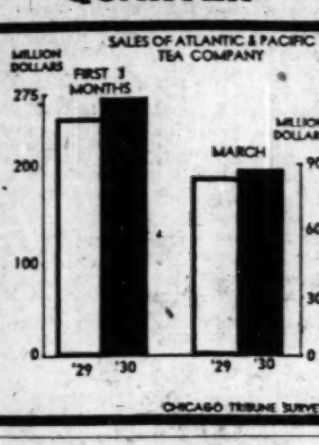

Because of the mounting tide of passenger traffic to Europe... the striking gains of this famous all-American fleet in passenger and freight carryings... and its impressive earnings... we recommend United States Lines, Inc., Participating Preference Stock to you as an investment of merit.

A. T. & T. Plans Top-Notch
Melon of 336 Millions

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, April 14.—The terms of the pending offering of rights to stockholders by the American Telephone and Telegraph company are taken one for six at $100, it was understood today. Under these terms the shareholders will receive a melon of more than $336,000,000, exceeding the famous United States Steel corporation melon of 1927 by nearly $100,000,000. The company will receive about $225,000,000.

Officers of the company are expected to make the formal announcement within a few weeks.

Under the terms mentioned in Wall Street the rights would be worth a fraction less than $25 a share on the basis of the current market price of $273. If the offering bears out the predictions the value of the rights will be substantially higher than under any previous offering by the telephone company. Two years ago stock was offered at par on a one for six basis, but the maximum value of quotations for rights was $14.50. The previous high record for rights was in 1901, when $18 was recorded.

Would Fill Requirements.

An offering on the terms reported today would secure $224,666,000 for the coffers of the telephone company, which is about in line with the company's requirements over the next few months. It was announced early in the year that expansion for the Bell system would require about $700,000,000 during 1930, of which American Telephone and Telegraph would be called upon to furnish about $250,000,000.

A few months ago the company secured $150,000,000 through the flotation of an issue of 5 per cent bonds, leaving approximately $200,000,000 to be obtained through other means. The offerings of rights will increase the

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A partial breaking of the drought in Kansas and Oklahoma, combined with rains in Nebraska and the American and Canadian northwest sent the wheat plunging downward both here and abroad yesterday.

Prices on the Chicago Board of Trade dropped 3 3/4¢ as a result of general liquidation and local pressure, with the finish about the bottom, net losses being 3 3/4¢ with May 1.07 1/4¢ and July 1.08 1/4¢. The government was credited with buying 100,000 bu May wheat at every 3/4¢ decline.

The moisture is expected to be of extreme benefit in the winter wheat belt, and brought about a material change in sentiment, with long going out of their lines on stop loss orders on the way down, and there also was general commission house and local selling which gradually filled up buyer. Four houses with western connections were persistent buyers at times, but toward the last operators who had bids bought were forced to protect themselves, helping along the late decline.

Pronounced weakness in Winnipeg wheat which was 4 1/2¢ lower on selling by houses with New York and Chicago connections had considerable influence here, as did the break of 3 3/4¢ and equal to 3 3/4¢ per bu in Liverpool. Buenos Aires was 3 3/4¢ lower for the day.

Western Kansas Needs Rain. Precipitation in Kansas was confined almost to the eastern two thirds of the state, and ranged from a sprinkling to 2 inches. Oklahoma also received good rains in some sections, and the forecast was for showers over the greater part of the agricultural sections. Apprehension of dry weather in the American and Canadian northwest has also been relieved for the time being by rains.

While more moisture will be needed in the immediate future the recent upturn in values had weakened the technical position, and the market was very sensitive to rain reports.

Reports received during the day from the southwest suggested that a material improvement would be shown in the winter wheat areas where there had been sufficient precipitation, and Kansas as a whole was regarded as having a prospect for somewhat better than an average crop. At the inside, July showed 9% and September 10% under the high of last week.

Routine news was ignored throughout the day, and a decrease of 3,029,000 bu in the domestic visible failed to bring more than a fractional rally, although the total was reduced to 145,199,000 bushels against 121,250,000 bu last year. Foreign demand was extremely slow, although Winnipeg estimated 200,000 to 500,000 bu Manitoba had been sold abroad during the day.

Corn Weakens With Wheat. Weakness in wheat was reflected in a lowering of corn values and while a good part of the trade was of a local character, sentiment was generally bearish, and the finish at net losses of 1/4¢, with May 82 3/4¢ and July 84 3/4¢. The rains over the west are expected to improve the soil conditions and also help rapid germination in the southwest. Chartered vessels for the southwest were rather slow during the day with sales of 12,800 bu. The visible supply increased 14,000 bu for the week and to 23,300 bu, with May finishing at 95¢, or 23 1/2¢ under Chicago May.

Oats market was active, with prices on the downward, influenced by the action of wheat and the close was 1 1/2¢ lower with May 42 1/2¢, and July 43 1/2¢. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down, with support coming mainly from cash and shipping interests. Rains in the southwest were regarded as beneficial for the new crop.

Liquidation was on in rye with support coming mainly from reports and the finish was 2 1/2¢ with May 61 1/2¢, and July 63 1/2¢.

OPPOSES LAW TO ABOLISH GRAIN, COTTON FUTURES

—Not Prohibition.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—The federal farm board, although it favors better supervision of the cotton and grain exchanges, opposes their abolition by an act of congress, Chairman Alexander Legge today informed Senator Charles L. McNary (Rep., Ore.), chairman of the senate agriculture committee.

Senator McNary requested Mr. Legge to express the board's views in connection with a bill sponsored by Senator T. H. Caraway (Dem., Ark.) to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in futures markets.

"Inasmuch as the handling, processing, and financing of several of our major crops are so completely based on the present futures market system, which has been in operation for many years, we are fearful that so drastic a change would completely upset the marketing machinery, although we write the need for improvement," wrote Mr. Legge in reply.

Explaining that he doesn't think a change, in order to avoid disruption, will have to come gradually, Mr. Legge continued:

"We believe that decided improvement in the present system could be accomplished if the exchanges were placed under proper supervision and control of the department of agriculture with power to intervene whenever the secretary of agriculture finds any operations in the farm commodity futures markets are antagonistic to the best interests of producers or consumers, or both."

Upon learning of the stand taken by the farm board chairman, Senator Caraway declared that Mr. Legge's statement disclosed what he thought everybody has realized, that when he is called upon to sacrifice the gamblers in the cotton and grain exchanges or the farmers, he prefers that the farmers shall suffer.

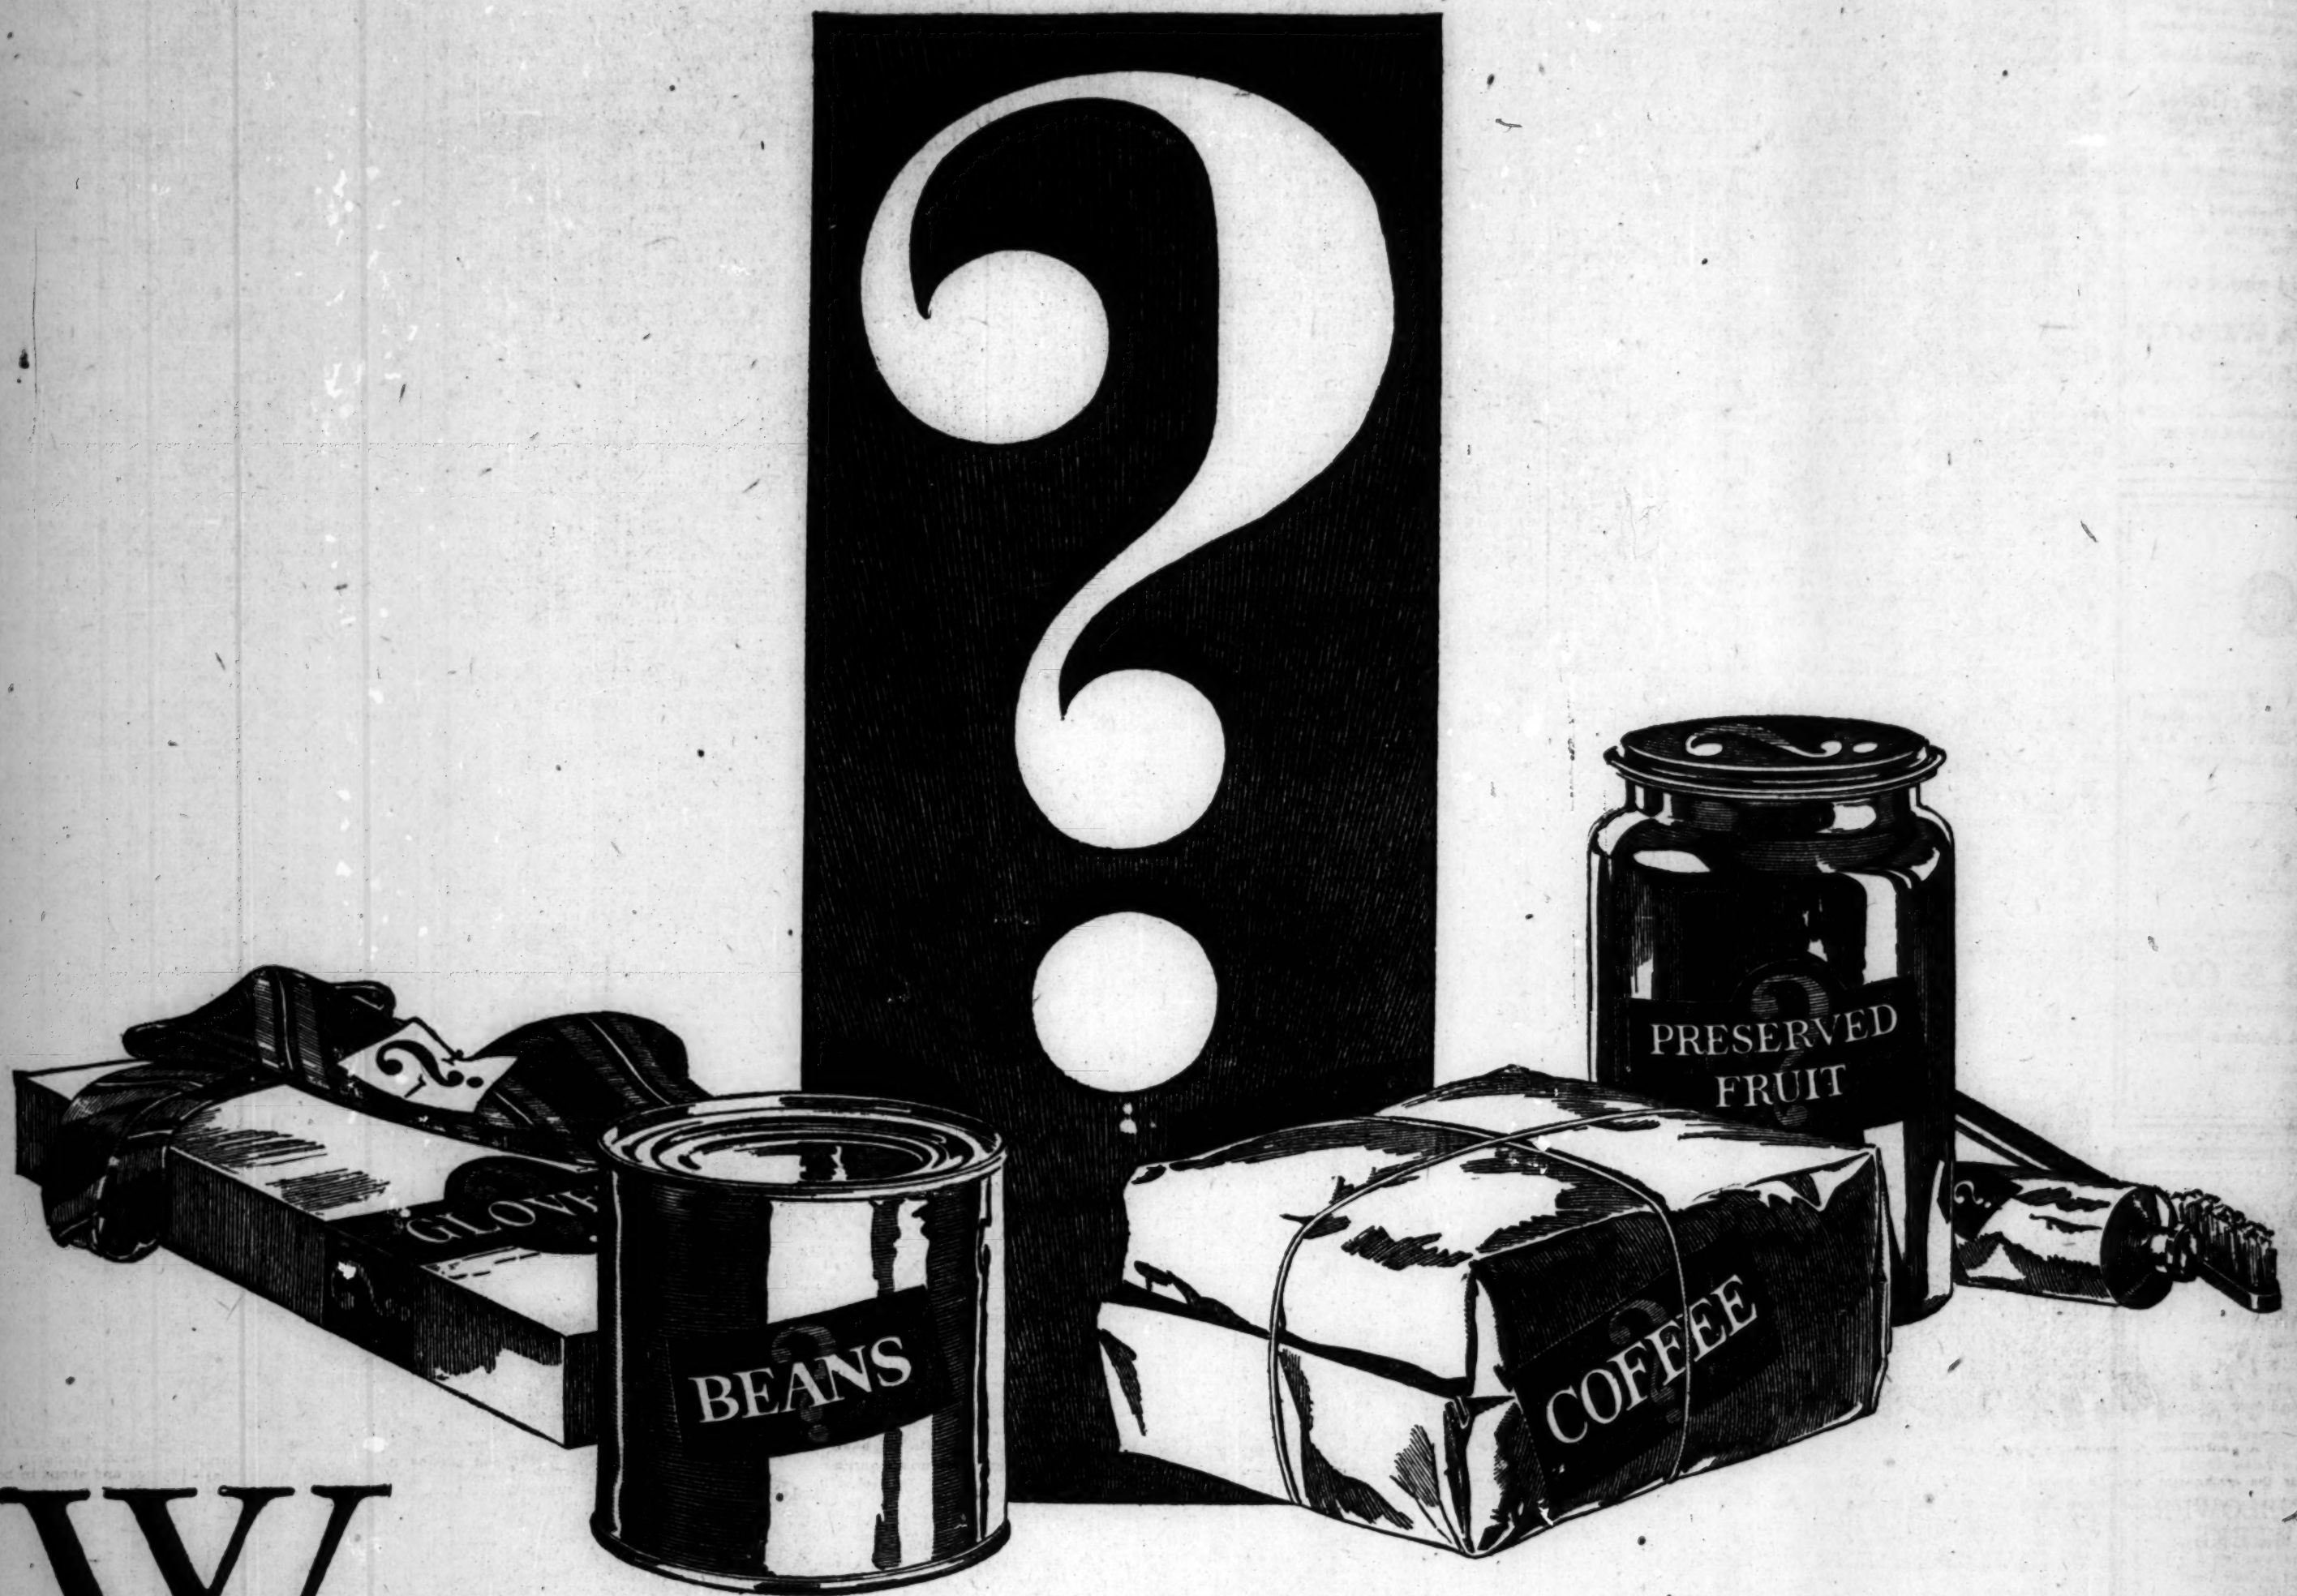

Chairman Legge, in an interview today, told of the farm board's success in its wheat acreage reduction program. Information obtained by the board is that in the west and northwest farm leaders and farmers themselves are falling into line behind the board's program. Gov. George F. Shafer of North Dakota, who called at Mr. Legge's office today, is an enthusiastic supporter of the reduction program, the chairman said.

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—Cotton goods opened quiet and barely steady in the unfinished goods division. Unfinished goods are being bought in small lots. Japan raw silk touched new low price levels. New York markets are dull, although prices are very attractive for silk needed for the balance of the current crop year. Wool goods quiet. Lard showed no change in early cables.

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—COTTON.—St

WHAT IS BEHIND THE "JUST AS GOOD"?

TWO sorts of products are offered to women when they do their shopping.

One is the advertised product.

You know its merits because the manufacturer has published them.

He has put himself on record in the pages of newspapers and great magazines.

He believes in his quality so thoroughly that he wants to tell you about it.

As a matter of good business judgment, as well as conscience and pride, he jealously guards that product's purity, its honest value and accurate weight—for a priceless good-will is at stake.

The names of such products are household words in millions of homes, from the lowest to the highest—the sale of these products is unrestricted to any community or to any group of stores.

On the other side of the picture is the private brand, the "just as good."

Its name is strange to you.

Its merits are unknown. Its advantages are seldom published.

It came into being because women spend twenty-three billion dollars a year for foods alone, and billions more for other articles. The simple and obvious fact is that certain selling organizations and retailers want more of this money for themselves.

And so the anonymous substitute was born.

Back of this just-as-good is usually the desire to make a greater profit on every unit sold—and it stands to reason that a greater profit per unit for the vendor is likely to mean a smaller value for you.

Too often, the private brand is devised to confuse you between value and price.

Because you do not know its quality, you have no way of knowing what it is worth.

It may be offered to you as a "bargain"—at less than the advertised product it seeks to supplant.

It may sometimes be offered to you at prices higher than you would pay for advertised brands—with a claim that it possesses some magic quality higher than your favorite brands have given you!

PICTORIAL REVIEW believes that women should have their eyes opened to this situation. The editors of Pictorial Review have every reason to know the high standards of excellence which the makers of advertised products can offer you, because this, and other great publications, will advertise only products which we know to be good.

This magazine, issued with the interests of more than two and a half million homes at heart, can see no sound reason for dropping the known to buy the unknown and untested.

Pictorial Review advises you to stick to the brands of published quality—the products which offer honest merit as well as fair price.

GASOLINE ALLEY—GOOD NEWS—AND BAD

SPIDER WEB

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mrs. Belmont Bender, who is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Mrs. Belmont Bender, who tells her that Mrs. Bender is far from well. Catherine is a lawyer, and she tells Catherine that her firm handled Mrs. Bender's affairs, and she does not know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment, and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mrs. Bender's apartment, the conversation tells her that Madame is very ill. Catherine waits at the door for some time before she is answered. Finally, Madame Bender, the butler, responds to the ring. She is treated badly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mrs. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel, with her that Mrs. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Madame Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake and Catherine believes her.

INSTALLMENT XIV. A TRIFLING INCIDENT.

"When do you mean, Jeanne? I understand Madame saw no visitors."
"No one, except—here she halted and glanced about her, then brought out the name with apparent reluctance, "Mademoiselle Cushing."
Hermione Cushing! Catherine could not suppress a start. She gazed steadily into the unflinching eyes of the maid.
"Miss Cushing?" she echoed, wondering. "But what possible reason is there to connect her visits with—"
"There may be no connection. Do not misunderstand me, mademoiselle. Only, since you have put the question to me, I will say plainly that this lady, who calls herself an old and intimate friend, seems to me to exert a bad, a depressing influence on Madame. So sure am I of this that I have done my utmost to discourage her coming; but, and she made a gesture of helplessness, "I cannot always keep her away. I know that she persistently speaks of things which are distressing to any one in Madame's condition."
"What sort of things, Jeanne?" demanded the girl curiously.
At the same time she rapidly reviewed the disjointed letter which had so upset her peace of mind, recalling the writer's complaints about the difficulty in seeing her friend. Was there anything behind it all?
The maid's eyes turned from her secretly.
"Mademoiselle Cushing cannot forget that Madame is a rich woman, has been for years her patron and supporter. No doubt she is afraid that Madame will die and leave her unprotected. In short, she thinks ways of feathering her nest."

"A gentleman to speak to you, miss."

Indefinite as the explanation was, it hinted at unpleasant possibilities. I seemed to her she was beginning to understand in part the problem with which Jeanne had to cope. Had she not somewhere heard her prayer, "O Lord, save us from our friends?"
She came to herself to find the intelligent brown eyes regarding her steadily.

"And now, mademoiselle, that you see what all this is like, do you not think it would be happier for you to leave this sad abode? You can do no more here—you are young, you wish to be gay. It is no life for one whose eyes do not call her to it. Believe me, I know what I am saying when I say you do go elsewhere to live."

Catherine looked at her, nonplussed. She had not expected this renewed opportunity.
"On the contrary, Jeanne, I see no reason for leaving here. I shall be content to stay, at least for a few months, and I honestly think I may have a good effect on Madame's spirits. She was so evidently glad to see me just now."

She stopped in time to see an expression of strong displeasure settle over her companion's features. Before she could finish her sentence, however, the silence was pierced by a long ring at the telephone. She found herself listening mechanically to the gruff voice of Eduardo answering the bell.

A moment later the butler issued from the study, came a step towards them, then, spying Catherine, halted.

"A gentleman to speak to you, miss," he announced in an offhand manner, more loudly than was necessary. "A Mr. Geoffrey Macadam."

Her friend of the train! The tension snapped, while there shot through her a sensation of glad relief. He had not forgotten her, then, was thinking of her this moment. For some reason she felt suddenly light-hearted.

She did not know why at the study door she should glance back for an instant, nor why the thing she witnessed should bring home to her so disconcertingly the knowledge that she was an alien here, alone of her kind, an unwelcome guest. It was a trifling incident. Surely she ought not to care! Yet, catching the steeple, penetrating look of question which passed between the two servants, she was vaguely troubled. The idea occurred to her that it had something to do with the man who waited to speak to her, though surely that was absurd.

Her voice was husky as she answered the telephone.
Geoffrey Macadam put down the receiver and sat for some moments wrapped in thought not altogether calm. No one but himself knew the struggle that had gone on within him before he had decided to ring up the American girl and find out how she was getting on. Secretly he had fought against it. Instinct warned him that he was less concerned for her immediate welfare than consuming anxious to hear again the low pitched voice that with the slight slurring of its consonants which had exerted upon him so irresistible a fascination, and caution added that the spell was probably ephemeral one which would pass if he gave it time.

He had thought of her the last thing at night and the first on waking. Now and again between him and his work had come the disturbing memory of a pair of eyes, dark, shining, oddly lambent—eyes calculated to quicken the pulse in an alarming way, and set him dreaming of possibilities out of all proportion with his sober realization of facts.

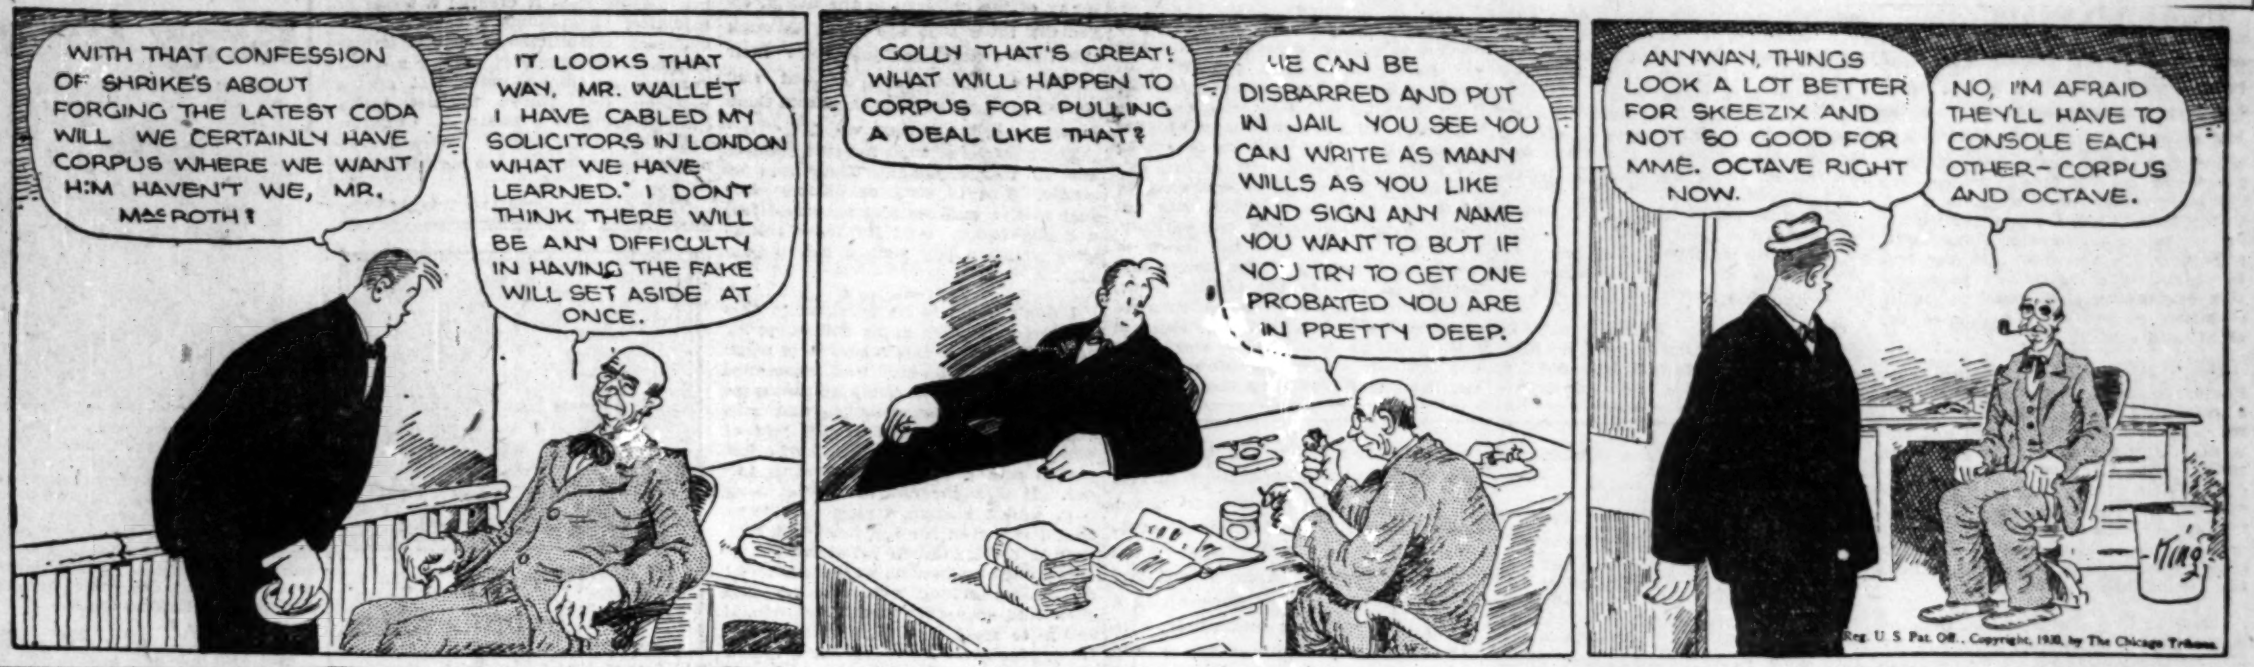

To save his conscience he had promised himself to invite her to lunch with him toward the end of the week, a course eminently discreet, not hinting at too great an eagerness. However, the slight catch in her voice and his unmistakable undercurrent of excitement which reached his ears made him alter his decision, throw prudence to the winds and make a bold bid for closer intimacy this evening.

Something had happened. All was not plain sailing in the Avenue Henri Martin. Of that he felt certain. The alacrity with which she accepted his invitation assured him there were matters at stake which she wished to discuss. Yet, hesitantly compelled him to admit that, whatever the girl's motives, his own was less above board. The wish to learn about Mrs. Bender was not so much as the longing for a definite feminine presence, which he visualized as a respite, appropriate setting of flowers, refreshment, longing! It was a suitable accompaniment to an evening's drinking. What in so short a time, morning, comparable only to the desire for drink. He must take his emotions in hand, had come over his well ordered self. He must take his emotions in hand, had come over his well ordered self. He must take his emotions in hand, had come over his well ordered self.

At last, freeing himself from his reverie, he informed his meeting; with his father's office. He wanted to inform his meeting; with his father's office. He wanted to inform his meeting; with his father's office. He wanted to inform his meeting; with his father's office.

His Macadam was leaning back in his swivel chair dictating to his secretary. He glanced at his son from beneath heavy grizzled brows, but said nothing. He glanced at his son from beneath heavy grizzled brows, but said nothing. He glanced at his son from beneath heavy grizzled brows, but said nothing.

Good morning!

The presence of Louise Dresser in a cast is a break for any picture. She's a fine and convincing actress—always. "This Mad World" has Louise Dresser. It is also lucky in having Kay Johnson, for, besides being a beautiful girl, Miss Johnson has charm and poise and her acting is instinctive and sincere. Then—Basil Rathbone's featured male, and he's a personable and capable actor. So, you see, this film has much to offer in the way of principals. The supporting cast is able.

Well directed, photographed, and staged, "This Mad World" classifies as pleasing entertainment, though its story—a tale of the great war—is gloomy and somewhat trite.

Mrs. Dresser, as an Alsatian peasant woman, anxiously awaiting the return of her son from the front (the Germans had occupied Alsace since the Franco-Prussian war and she doesn't think there's much chance of Paul's arriving till the world war was over) is surprised by his sudden return as a member of the French intelligence department.

He makes his mother's house his headquarters. Victoria, a German princess, comes to join her husband, and lodges at the home of Pauline. She learns Paul's mission—and so on, to an ending that is believable and far from happy.

DUTY is the story's watchword; duty to humanity as compared to duty to one's country. Some of the dialogue on this subject is good.

"LOOSE ANKLES."

Produced by First National. Directed by Ted Wilde. Presented at the State-Lake.

Ann Harper.....Loretta Young
Gil Hayden.....Douglas Fairbanks Jr.
Ann Sarah Harper.....Louise Fazenda
Ann Katherine Harper.....Ethel Wales
Mal. Rupert Harper.....Ois Harlan
Arnes.....John Harrington
Betty.....Daphne Pollard
Terry.....Norman Douglas
Linton.....Raymond Keane

KIND: Farce comedy.
FUNNY: Seldom.
QUALITY: Fair to middlin', leaning toward the middlin'.

PHOTOGRAPHY: All right.
STORY: Stupid.

RARELY, any more, do we see a thing as overdone as is "Loose Ankles." The straining for laughs would be pathetic if it were not so irritating. There is a night club scene featuring a pair of inebriated ladies that is one of the most tiresome exhibitions I have ever sat through.

See you tomorrow.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—Sid Grauman, a Los Angeles theater owner, signed a contract today with Howard Hughes, 27-year-old movie producer, to handle world-wide exploitation of Hughes' $3,000,000 talker, "Hell's Angels," a world war story of air battles. Recent Hughes' $2,000,000, it is said, and two years' time as a silent picture, with Greta Nissen as leading woman. The talkies scrapped it, but Hughes remade it for $1,500,000. It is reported, and replaced Miss Nissen with Jean Harlow, a young and beautiful film "unknown" from Chicago. Hughes is heir to a fortune in Texas and Oklahoma oil lands. Ten thousand actors, actresses, technicians, and others worked in producing the film. Three aviators were killed and Hughes himself fell 70 feet in an airplane and was in a hospital for months.

THE QUESTION.
How do you expect to spend your vacation?

ANSWERS.
Edward Smith, 1224 South Troy street, musician—I don't think I will have a vacation this year. I haven't anything to spend for it.
I have got to Canada. If I don't get busy with parties a lot of dance orchestra players could take a vacation this summer.

Miss Bernice Lavin, 3748 West 62d street, secretary—I am planning, with a friend, to visit various cities, lakes, and summer resorts of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan. Our recreations will be swimming, golf, and tennis. We want to go in July.

Thaddeus N. J. Mori, Morrison hotel, real estate man—I expect to spend a few weeks in northern Wisconsin, right at nature, enjoying the swimming along the Wisconsin river. It's well worth the time and cost to get away from the city.

Mrs. Agnes Goyert, 5130 Sheridan street, social service—I am going to spend it with my son, who is in Detroit or with my sister and her family in the Ozark mountains. The Ozark trip would have greater value.

Leon Barry, 15 East Ohio street, linen importer—I'm fishing in Michigan. Here's how to prepare trout: Clean; put a bit of salt and butter inside; stuff with equal parts of hard-boiled eggs, powdered bread crumbs, and fried onions.

The Greek Orthodox church, whose observance of Easter in the past frequently has differed from the date observed by other churches, will celebrate the festival next Sunday at the same time as other Christian churches.

The regular Easter services will be held at noon on Sunday. It is estimated that 50,000 Greeks will attend these services in Chicago.

Pastor Praises Chicago Idea of Co-operation

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago can have a world's fair in 1933 because the three sides of the city work together as a unit, according to the Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins of Vermont. He is rector emeritus of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer of Chicago. He spoke at noon yesterday at the Garrick theater. The former Chicago rector pointed out the difference between New York and Chicago. In this respect, saying New York cannot successfully plan a fair, because of the differences between that city's leaders.

Dr. Hopkins' sermon was a plea for the development of a religion that works all week instead of Sunday only. He recalled the fact that Christ did two things on Monday of the first Holy week. One was to curse the fig tree that had plenty of leaves but no fruit. Dr. Hopkins declared that many congregations of Christians have leaves in the form of fine church buildings, superior music, vestments, and other external things, but bear no fruit of Christian living when their members go to work on Monday.

Christ's second act on Monday of the first Holy week was the cleansing of the temple. Dr. Hopkins recalled. He declared that the modern implications of that act involved the necessity that present day churches purge religion of "secular pride, selfishness, loveless controversies, and carping criticisms of others, from mammon worship, and from class consciousness."

The Rev. Roy-Ewing Vale, pastor of the Oak Park Presbyterian church, preaching at the Chicago temple, at the services conducted by the Chicago church federation, stated that the greatest search and discovery ever made was by the Greeks who came to Jerusalem and said, "We would see Jesus."

Dr. Vale pointed out that the ancient Greeks possessed everything that life offers except religious satisfaction. He referred to the Greek sense of beauty, to the advanced wisdom of the Greek philosophers, and recalled that Greek civilization was wealthy at that time.

"In spite of these advantages," said Dr. Vale, "those Greeks found that the search they had made was the most

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

MEI LAN-FANG passed into his last phase, so far as Chicago is concerned, at the Princess last night, giving a new program before an enraptured throng of mel-fans (a new word meaning occidental admirers of oriental drama).

It was, in its demure Chinese way, a very little vaudeville show, interpreted with charming prologues by Miss Soo Yong, who has become everybody's favorite Chinese lady.

First, there was "The Jealous Favorite," about which this observer cannot testify because he was watching a one act play at the Goodman from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. Then came a comedy in masks dating back to the third century, called "The Rite of Riddance," given by two of the star's satellites, Mr. Liu and Mr. Chu. Each carried a stand of flags on his shoulders, and the affair sounded like a heated argument over a naval treaty.

Expertly explained, however, that the play represented two Chinese generals in a quarrel over their rival claims to Napoleonic leadership. It was both ferocious and jolly, and doubtless from the Chinese point of view it was farcical comedy, although the 23d street committee in the audience kept its amusement well in hand.

For the third item Mr. Mei appeared as the celestial maid of Chinese legend, Ma Ku, in a tray and sleeve dance in honor of the Queen of Heaven. It was merely a few slow movements and gestures, symbolizing the happiness of a virgin enraptured in blithe religious ceremonial—yet somehow Mr. Mei had a way with him even if he does nothing but roll his faintly smiling eyes.

"The Fisherman's Gem," which closed the program, was a fable of romantic and heroic deeds with a scenario like a motion picture. Mr. Mei, in a jaunty fishing costume, was netting salmon with his [his] respected father and his [his] collector, with lecherous intentions, began to persecute them. But little the villain and his henchmen knew that this was Helen Willis in disguise, out fishing with Jack Dempsey. The two athletes knocked out dozens of tax collectors in the scrimmages that ensued, and saved the magic pearl that was the cause of the riots. If there were any Hollywood scouts in the audience, there will be heavy bidding for the film rights to "The Fisherman's Daughter."

Mr. Mei will change his program again for tomorrow's matinee and evening performances. Then he will pack up his wigs and brocaded gowns and depart for San Francisco.

David Itkin's special performance drew a capacity audience into the Goodman last night. In the curtain raiser, "The Fanny of David," by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman (in whose memory the theater was built) and Ben Hecht, Mr. Itkin made his debut as an English speaking actor. He had the role of a patriarch Jew of the ghetto, and he played it like a veteran of the Habima of Moscow—which he is. It was a character study of distinction. The three act play which followed, "Israel in the Kitchen," by Noah Elstein, was blue ribboned by the Jewish Dramatic league of London in 1928.

Three plays on the Broadway list closed suddenly last Saturday night. They were: "It Never Rains," at the Nora Baynes; "Broadway Showdown," at the Belmont; and "Live and Learn," at Wallack's. The first ran for twenty-five weeks; the second for two weeks, and the latter for five days.

Alfred E. Smith of political renown will be a member of the board of governors of the New York Theater league, formed by theater managers to curb the abuses of ticket speculation. He was appointed as a representative of the ticket-buying public.

He attended a meeting of the league's officers yesterday in New York. The theater managers are enthusiastic over his acceptance of the duty.

Stores Feel Approach of Easter Parade

Men and Women Buying Spring Clothes.

Along with the opening of the buds on lilacs and forsythia, purses are opening as well, under the influence of the spring sun. Chicago women, eager to blend with a springtime setting on Easter morning, are crowding the stores to buy new Easter costumes.

Easter parades next Sunday promise to be a dazzling affair, according to State street and Michigan avenue merchants.

"Here is a combination which the last three weeks' business has proved is a powerful one: an improved market, with fathers and husbands feeling more genial concerning new Easter frocks; warm weather, following bleak March, and a late Easter," one merchant said.

He added that this year's April business, due to the pre-Easter rush, would exceed last year's March business. Easter came in March last year. Other merchants agreed. The rush on the last two Saturdays has equaled a Christmas shopping turmoil, they said. Stores and shops in both city and suburbs were filled yesterday with women seeking spring raiment.

So while Easter rabbits of pink and blue plush sit in windows and look out with surprised button eyes, and florists tempt husbands who have made no allowance for Easter bouquets in their budgets with windows of primroses, tulips, poppies, delphiniums, and ever-blooming pansies, the new suits and dresses and men get the new suits they've postponed buying since fall.

Across the street from a loop drug store window in which a young woman pressed out pastels of the valley and inscriptions "To Mother" or "To Baby" on chocolate Easter eggs, another window showed a young man in a "correct" suit to be worn by men in the Easter parade, both the last word in elegance.

One was to be worn to church in the morning, the other for wear for strolling in the afternoon. The former consisted of a full morning frock coat, a gardenia in the lapel, black vest to match, striped trousers, black patent leather shoes, white socks, and a gray walking stick, pearl gray gloves, an Oxford coat, and a patterned white silk muffler. It must not be plain, a clerk pointed out; a plain muffler would simply spoil everything.

Suits will be plentiful in the Easter parade of women and girls. The long coat of flat crepe or soft wool, reaching to the bottom of a dress which matches the coat's lining, usually a print, has been decreed by style experts as the "most correct" Easter suit. But the tailored suits, with short coat, particularly the peplum coat, a slightly flared skirt and a frilly blouse of embroidered batiste, organdie, or fine linen are popular.

For the woman who does not care for sedate black or navy blue—the "best" shades—there are beige, gray, and greens. One suit seen in a Michigan avenue store resembled a gay pink Easter egg. The color, "Fatuou pink," a soft shade, is allowed, even applauded, by the style authorities.

Slightly flaring coats, straight coats and the belted cape coats of crepe wool, and dresses with boleros and jacket effects, with capelets, and with skirts which emphasize plaits, are in demand. Short sleeves, puff sleeves, three-quarter sleeves, and very short sleeves are much more popular, both in dresses and blouses, even sweaters, than long sleeves. Rayonne skirts reach the middle of the calf of the leg, with even hemlines.

In addition, Easter bonnets, both brimless and mushroom shaped, are finding their way to closet shelves. Veils were being shown in one store—to reach the chin in some instances, in others only the nose.

Wedding Gowns Occupy Time of Brides to Be

BY THALIA

Wedding dresses and bridal gowns are the paramount issue in the lives of several brides-elect just now, and as making all the other incidental decisions complete within the week of the approaching nuptials. Mrs. Helen Farnum, who, with her mother, Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, has been down in Georgia recently, now is in New York City seeing about her costume and making some of the arrangements for her marriage to the late Bigelow of New York, who will arrive in Chicago by about May 15.

Miss Virginia Wilson, whose marriage to Charles Denney, son of the late C. Denney, has been set for May 23, expects to have her list of wedding attendants complete within a week or so. The wedding is to be at the Lake Forest place of the bride's parents, the Oliver T. Wilsons—in the afternoon, if the weather is propitious. It can't be a very small affair, as the families are both large.

The Denney family, who have been in California almost all winter, are expected back a week from Friday.

Miss Barbara Otis, daughter of the late C. Otis, is trying hard to set the date for her wedding to Robert Smith, of San Francisco, and should have the matter settled shortly. She has been very well, and it is somewhat difficult to decide things by long distance with her fiancé.

Wanda Smith, who is to marry Robert Smith, of New York City, on May 11, gets back tomorrow from the east, after a short holiday with her father, Walter B. Smith, and will immediately complete the wedding plans. The marriage is to be at the North Presbyterian church and the reception at the Casino.

The Junior Friends of Art are having a "friendship day" this afternoon at the Drake hotel. The board of directors wants each member to bring all the other members, and so arranged this program for members only. Each member is requested to bring her calling card.

The April luncheon and meeting of the Perry hall alumnae association is to be held tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock in the tea room.

The White Elephant Rummage shop should be somewhat segregated from short season vegetables, according to university experts in Kansas, Missouri, Wisconsin, and other midwest states. Following is a handy schedule:

Crops occupying the ground all season—Asparagus, rhubarb, horseradish, beans such as pole, snap and pole lima, muskmelons, chard, cucumbers, eggplant, sweet potatoes, okra, onion from seed, parsley, parsnips, watermelons, peppers, pumpkins, salafy, squash, and tomatoes.

Crops occupying the ground only part of the season and which may be followed by other vegetables—Bush beans, beets, cabbage of the early varieties, radishes, carrots, cauliflower, early corn, spinach, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, turnips, set onions, peas, early potatoes.

Late crops which may follow others—Bush beans, beets, late cabbage, turnips, Chinese cabbage, carrots, corn, celery, kale, lettuce, late potatoes, radishes, and spinach.

One good example of succession in crops is of early lettuce followed by tomatoes. These will occupy the soil from early spring to late fall. Vegetables of the same "family" should not follow one another, one gardener says, because insects and diseases usually will be disastrous.

Companion cropping is another system used in intensive gardening and truck farming. It is quite successful. The longer season vegetable is planted in regular distance and then inter-planted either in the row or between the rows with some other quick maturing, short season crop. Examples of this are in growing radishes, lettuce, or onion sets between rows of cabbage. Squash and pumpkins may be planted as a companion crop in the sweet corn patch.

For a garden of fair size, the most efficient method, it has been found, is to use rows of fairly good width, allowing sufficient space to permit cultivation by horse. The farm garden is considered a good example of this. Weeds often are an enemy from start to finish. The simplest eradication is possible by thorough preparation of the garden plot and frequent and thorough cultivation during the early part of the growing season. A light mulch on the surface not only conserves moisture but makes it difficult for weeds to obtain a start.

Woman's City Club to Move at Once to Tower Building.
Removal of the Woman's City club from the London Guaranty building, where it has been housed more than four years, to the Tower building at 6 North Michigan was announced yesterday. All club activities at the upper Michigan avenue address ceased last night. Present plans are to have the new quarters ready for May 1 in the ninth floor space just leased.

The main element in the move was the desire of a large number of the members to have the location nearer the loop, it was explained by Mrs. Murry Nelson, president of the organization. John Holabird is directing the decoration of the new clubrooms in peach color, yellow and black, in the modern manner.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

What's Doing Today

Classifying of vegetables according to the length of the season they will occupy the ground is one of the simplest means of planning a small or large garden. Long season crops should be somewhat segregated from short season vegetables, according to university experts in Kansas, Missouri, Wisconsin, and other midwest states. Following is a handy schedule:

Crops occupying the ground all season—Asparagus, rhubarb, horseradish, beans such as pole, snap and pole lima, muskmelons, chard, cucumbers, eggplant, sweet potatoes, okra, onion from seed, parsley, parsnips, watermelons, peppers, pumpkins, salafy, squash, and tomatoes.

Crops occupying the ground only part of the season and which may be followed by other vegetables—Bush beans, beets, cabbage of the early varieties, radishes, carrots, cauliflower, early corn, spinach, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, turnips, set onions, peas, early potatoes.

Late crops which may follow others—Bush beans, beets, late cabbage, turnips, Chinese cabbage, carrots, corn, celery, kale, lettuce, late potatoes, radishes, and spinach.

One good example of succession in crops is of early lettuce followed by tomatoes. These will occupy the soil from early spring to late fall. Vegetables of the same "family" should not follow one another, one gardener says, because insects and diseases usually will be disastrous.

Companion cropping is another system used in intensive gardening and truck farming. It is quite successful. The longer season vegetable is planted in regular distance and then inter-planted either in the row or between the rows with some other quick maturing, short season crop. Examples of this are in growing radishes, lettuce, or onion sets between rows of cabbage. Squash and pumpkins may be planted as a companion crop in the sweet corn patch.

For a garden of fair size, the most efficient method, it has been found, is to use rows of fairly good width, allowing sufficient space to permit cultivation by horse. The farm garden is considered a good example of this. Weeds often are an enemy from start to finish. The simplest eradication is possible by thorough preparation of the garden plot and frequent and thorough cultivation during the early part of the growing season. A light mulch on the surface not only conserves moisture but makes it difficult for weeds to obtain a start.

Educator Hails Jefferson as Keen, Radical

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—A radio address climaxing the nation-wide birthday anniversary celebration of the author of the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, tonight pictured Thomas Jefferson as a "glorious, intelligent radical."

"Thomas Jefferson," he said, "may be described as a world force. His name is on the lips of aspiration everywhere, moving men to gain freedom and teaching men how to keep freedom when they have gained it."

"Jefferson, in my judgment, was the first great intelligent radical to appear in the political history of this country. Some people do not like the word 'radical,' for it is associated in a menacing way in many minds. But it is a vigorous word, and means getting at the root of things. Jefferson was an intelligent radical, and no other sort of radical ought to be allowed to exist."

"They talk about 'radicals' in Washington and elsewhere. They are complacent stand-patters compared to Thomas Jefferson, believe many of them mean well, and I respect their spirit, but they do not always know precisely where they are going, and he did. He was a glorious, intelligent radical."

Dr. Alderman recalled legislation sponsored by Jefferson which he termed "the deadliest blow ever dealt against intolerance in America" and credited him, as "father of the University of Virginia," with being "in more than one sense the father of all the state universities which play such an important part in the education of the American democracy."

The Virginia educator concluded by quoting Lincoln's praise of Jefferson as one who "had the coolness, foresight, and sagacity to introduce into a merely revolutionary document an abstract truth, applicable to all men and all times, and so to embalm it there that today and in all coming days it shall be a rebuke and a stumbling block to the very barbarisms and reappearance of tyranny and oppression."

In the Gay Nineties Tearoom Service Was Simple, Veterans Say

Remembering those days back in the gay '90s when leg o' mutton steaks were the style for women and corned hash was a favorite delicacy on the menu of Marshall Field & Co.'s tea room on its opening day, was the pleasant pastime yesterday of four women employees. It was just 40 years before that Mrs. Jennie Boswell, Nellie Thyngson, Bertha Freiberg, and Louise M. Shields served the tea room's first 55 guests.

The four women stationed by large birthday cakes, received congratulations all day. "Not only fellow workers came, but some of the first customers, who ordered corned hash during the very first meal served, were on hand with their good wishes and many memories."

"Hash was very popular," related Miss Freiberg, the first to be employed for the tea room. "And so was rice pudding and plain ice cream. They didn't have frills with their ice cream then, you know. Other favorites were cottage cheese, old fashioned chicken pie, macaroni and cheese, gingerbread, and Boston baked beans."

The four veterans have watched their dominion grow from 54 chairs to 2,600, and a staff of 15 employees to more than 600.

Mrs. Eric Teniston, gave a bridge party at her home this evening in honor of Miss Barbara Shapton, daughter of Col. and Mrs. John R. Simpson, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Vinton Lawrence Jr., son of Mr. Frank Vinton Lawrence, will take place on April 24.

Society Girl, Also Stage Star, Wed to Hartford Banker

Hartford, Conn., April 14.—[Special.]—Elvia Enderb, Hartford society girl, who went on the stage, was married today at the home here of her father, John C. Enderb, to George A. Percy, a young banker.

The ceremony uniting the two of "Little Accident" now playing at the Plymouth theater, Boston, to the former Harvard athlete and world war captain of marines, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Willis H. Butler, pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational church, in the presence of the families and a few friends.

After the wedding breakfast, the couple motored to Boston where the bride resumed her stage rôle, to continue it until May 1. Then her contract ends.

Wed 61 Years, They Say Conservative Living Proves Best

Living conservatively—taking life as it comes, in moderation—that is the secret of long and happy marriages, as well as longevity. At least such is the conclusion of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Porter Dunn, 686 Irving Park boulevard, who have lived in Chicago all of their 61 married years. Each is 85 years of age.

Mr. Dunn, for 53 years head of a printing concern bearing his name, came to Chicago a few years after the civil war, in which he served under Gen. W. T. Sherman. He was once an alderman in the 25th ward, was active in the Association of Commerce, and is a member of the Hamilton club. For more than 40 years he has been a ruling elder in the Fullerton Park Presbyterian church, which the couple joined in 1879. He retired from active business three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will have been married 61 years today. A family dinner was held Sunday, attended by their children, Robert Winfield and Burton Dunn, Mrs. A. J. Simpson, and their grandchildren.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Noble Mosely of 7724 Phillips avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen Horton, to Chester Emmel Grigsby on March 19 at the Thorndike Hilton Memorial chapel. On their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby will reside in Evanston.

NEW THINGS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

"My Bathroom Gleams Snow-White"

"My Hands Are Like A Debutante's"

To Make Porcelain Sparkle Without Scrubbing

SPARKLING porcelain and gleaming white tubs are as such a mark of social knowledge as good manners.

To have them—always snow-white and clean—and, at the same time, for the housewife to have caring, white hands is a problem that has now been solved an interesting, new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, in washing bath fixtures. But add a teaspoon of CLIMALENE to the water.

This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly, so that far less soap is needed.

Or, if you prefer, simply sprinkle CLIMALENE in dry form over the tub, then rub with a damp cloth.

Being a GREASE SOLVENT in itself, it DISSOLVES grease instantly, and eliminates ALL FILM or stain from porcelain. Makes it gleam like purest snow.

Containing superlative SKIN WHITENING and SKIN SOFTENING ingredients—used by scores of beauty specialists—it leaves the hands soft and lovely beyond words.

Women are flocking to it. It costs only a dime at grocers. Try it. Just ask for CLIMALENE.

'He's Expected to Pay, Even if She Earns More'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"There are quite a number of women who have more individual income than some of us men, but who take it for granted that a man, regardless of his minor income, ought to pay the way for both," protests a "Casual Reader."

Women are funny that way, "Casual Reader," and you can't do a thing with them when they are that way. Argument is of no avail where there exists in the female soul the instinct to lean and the desire for a strong protective man upon whom to lean. And it exists in more female souls than are willing to admit it, in this so-called era of independent women.

At heart there are just about as many honest independents among the fair sex as there are men who do not want to be recognized as the Big Chief around the wigwam. And you, being a man, know to what a minimum that reduces the numbers in your sex who enjoy a minor role. Economic conditions, it is true, have evolved a mask of a sort for some of the fair sex to wear as they work and contribute their equal share (or more) to the upkeep of home and self, but it is not comfortable for the ardent, honest feminist to do much peering behind that mask. She is apt to have revealed too much of the old-time, strictly female longings for a man who can be depended on as a sturdy financial Gibraltar.

Perhaps we are not far enough removed yet from the days when expecting the man to pay the way for both was the fashion. Maybe, as sometimes predicted by those more optimistically inclined than myself, there will come a day when man will be permitted to enjoy with more relief than he seems to be getting out of it now, the fruits of a wife's higher paid labor. Maybe she will contribute her share with a more gracious gesture than is commonly current. But in the meantime, unless a man meets one of those rare specimens of my own disconcerting sex who can view her mate's inferior income with reason, he had better choose a girl from a less exalted financial walk.

Cornet for Youthful Musicians.
"I am a high school boy and belong to the school band. Up to this time I have been using a school instrument but my teacher has informed me that I must get a cornet of my own. Is there some one among your readers who has an old one to give me?"
"P. M."

Here is an opportunity for the musicians who read this column to lend a helping hand. This boy, ambitious and aspiring, would be happy and grateful to receive the cornet you no longer play.

Baby Clothes Needed.

"I am expecting a baby soon, but we have been having such a difficult time getting along that I have not been able to get a thing for it. I shall be so happy if one of your readers would give me the baby clothing her children no longer need. Mrs. R. B." Although the advent of a baby is usually cause for great rejoicing in this household it can only mean additional worry, particularly since no preparation has been made for the child. Can you help this expectant mother by giving her the tiny garments your infant is quickly outgrowing?

WOMAN'S OR MISS DRESS.

This black and white printed silk crepe dress is made with a smart pep jacket, fitting snugly about the hips. The higher waistline is emphasized through the tied girdle, while the surplice closing detracts from the width. The caplet sleeves make the arms look slender, and the straight skirt has a circular flounce that gives sufficient flare and fullness to the hem. Navy blue wool crepe, black Canton crepe, green crepe marocain, and putty beige silk crepe are smart ideas for its development.

The pattern, 3362, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material, with 1/2 yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Drown That Tired Feeling in Glass of Fruit Juice

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday we talked about how the troubles that attack feet and exaggerate them in the early spring should be treated. There is another spring ailment we want to warn you against—just so this season will not be a repetition of last's listless, uninspired season.

It's that awfully tired feeling, commonly branded "spring fever." There's just no medically recognized ailment with the respectable name of spring fever. But the symptoms described by the lay person are well known to the profession and are labeled by no such fancy nomenclature. "Autointoxication" they are inclined to call it. And that's a polite word for what it means.

It means really, that a lot of poison is stored up in the system and it is that that makes the tired person tired. It means that a first rate housecleaning of the interior is in order. While we are concerned with the complaint solely from a beauty angle, still we know now that there's not much beauty where one is loaded with poison from accumulated waste matter that has no business being retained. Hair, eyes spirit and body all take on the weeping willow droop. There is no point in any of this springtime slacking. There's no telling what romance may pass one by in the romantic season if one is so down in the mouth she can't hear it coming.

Anyway, Lent is a grand time to attend to this cleaning so that Easter will find you just as sprightly and full of color as the seasonal blooms. I would suggest a two weeks' diet for women who know from past experience that spring has no joy for them. Not a reducing diet particularly, although it is needed it should be attended to.

A good reducing diet does correct the constipation ailment of which we speak by the substitution of fruits and vegetables for the heavy, starchy foods. But you could put yourself on a good liquid diet for a week and be a brighter, cheerier and cleaner person internally for the experiment. Three or four days of a liquid diet, however, are better, and then at the end of this period add a light food intake, stressing fruits and vegetables.

Valentine's day I was cleaning the front hall when the bell rang. It was the regular time for the postman and mother called from the dining room door, "There's your valentine, Estelle."

I quickly opened the front door and came face to face with our new insurance man, who is young and unmarried. He had heard mother embarrass me, and so was he.

Again?

Periodically she suffered; expected to; was virtually an invalid certain days of every month. Then a trained nurse told her the story of Midol. A most marvelous medicine—not a narcotic—that actually ends such pain. Today the woman who has learned the use of Midol regards it all merely an incident! A harmless little tablet acting directly on the organs affected; in five to seven minutes not a twinge of pain remains! Midol is fifty cents, metal case.

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its case is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Cheese Soufflé—now it's no trick at all to make that always popular dish. Just put in one-half level teaspoonful of Rumford Baking Powder to each three eggs, according to the recipe in our new booklet "Several New Things Under the Sun."

Rumford, the pure all-phosphate baking powder, will make your soufflé light and fluffy—well puffed up and smooth. It adds food value too because of its calcium phosphate content, so important an item in the daily diet.

There are 24 new uses for Rumford in our attractive little book, sent free to you upon receipt of your name and address. Buy a can of Rumford today.

CHARIS Re-Creates the Firm Natural Curves of Youth

ANY woman who is dismayed by the requirements of form-fitting gowns will find the solution to her problem in CHARIS. This light, exquisite foundation garment can be adjusted by the wearer quickly yet precisely, so as to control and moderate the contours of a mature figure—creating a natural foundation of firm, youthful curves. The CHARIS bust support, which lifts and defines the bust, is a particularly desirable feature. Careful, individual fitting, for every customer, without extra charge, is another important reason for the selection of CHARIS at this time. Close fitting gowns cannot be worn successfully over an inadequate or poorly fitted foundation garment.

You can examine CHARIS leisurely and select the model you prefer—at home. Just write or 'phone the address below and ask for a CHARIS Representative.

Two Sopranos Lead Feature Radio Events

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

I wish I could hear and see in person a joint recital by two sopranos who were heard on the air last evening. These sopranos are Mrs. Aida Donnell of the Metropolitan Opera, heard on the Family Party concert from New York, 8:30 to 9, and Miss Esther Cadkins, heard on the W-G-N Symphony orchestra's 9:30 to 10 concert. Vocally and orchestral, both the Family Party program and the W-G-N program were remarkably similar. The New York program was expressly one of spring, while the W-G-N program was a springtime one without being so specified. Mrs. Donnell sang the bird song from "Pagliacci," "Do You Know My Garden?" (Wood), and other songs of a quiet nature. Miss Cadkins sang an aria from "Carmen," "Over the Steppes" (Gretchenhoff), "One Who Has Yearned Alone" (Tschakovsky), and "Tren" (Robertson). It may be that many in the radio audience preferred the 9 to 9:30 program by W-G-N's newly organized male octet with the station's symphony orchestra, featuring the vocalists, as well as the orchestra's own separate performers. Grief's pictorial choral work, "Landscaping," was given—an excellent performance. The Celtic Hymn (Robertson) was another impressive choral number.

Walter H. Murphy, Grain Trader, Dies at Park Ridge

Walter H. Murphy, member of the Board of Trade and floor trader at Jackson Bros. & Co. for the last twelve years, died yesterday at his home, 516 Stewart avenue, Park Ridge, after a brief illness, at the age of 60. He is survived by two sons, Walter Jr. and Robert, and a daughter, Patricia. His funeral will take place at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Congregational church at Woodstock.

Mrs. Catherine Mahoney, Policeman's Mother, Dies

Mrs. Catherine Mahoney, 68 years old, mother of Ambrose W. Mahoney of the police band, died yesterday at her home at 4909 Adams street. Besides her son, Ambrose, she is survived by one other son, Coleman, and two daughters, Mrs. Katherine E. Cook of Downers Grove and Mrs. Margaret E. Heffner of Winnetka.

Lady Wilson, Widow of British Field Marshal, Dies

DR. J. D. BURRELL DIES IN SPAIN, 72

BARCELONA, Spain, April 14.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph D. Burrell of Chicago, 72 years old, who was born in Freeport, Ill., had degrees from Yale university, the Union Theological seminary, and Park college. Mrs. Burrell was Caroline Frances Benedict, formerly of Lake Forest, Ill. Dr. Burrell held many high offices in Presbyterian organizations.

Ordned in 1884, Dr. Burrell held pastorates in Clinton, Ill., and Brooklyn until 1929. He served as an American Red Cross secretary in Camp Devens, Mass., in 1918, and later at Brest, France, and in Berlin. He was the author of several religious books.

Juneau County's Former "Boy Sheriff" Charged with Price Murder—Charles Center Case Home Bombed

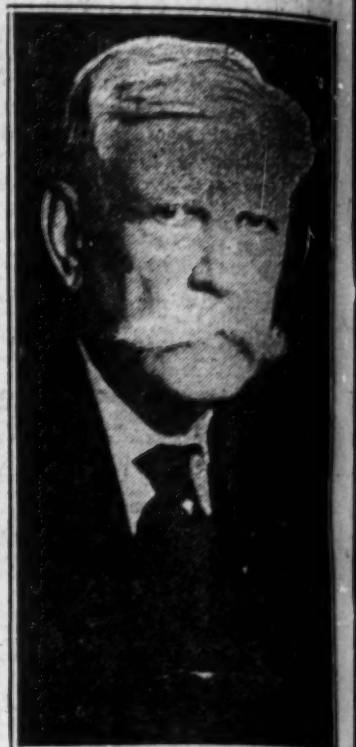

IN CELL FACING FORMAL CHARGE OF MURDER.
Lyall T. Wright, former sheriff of Juneau county, in jail at Mauston, Wis. Bandaged finger added to suspicion against Wright.

WHERE CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE WAS FOUND WHICH LED TO CHARGE AGAINST EX-SHERIFF.
The Lemonweir river in the rear of the Price home. A bloody trail leading from slayer's hiding place to a rowboat, and from the rowboat to the home of Lyall T. Wright, led to the discovery that Wright's middle finger on the right hand was cut to the bone. This was responsible for the formal charge.

HOME IS BOMBED.
Charles Center Case, former election board attorney, shaken up.

RULES ON DIVERSION.
Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who delivered opinion on lake-water case.

REAR DOORWAY OF PRICE HOME THROUGH WHICH ASSASSIN FIRED.
Detective examining holes made by shot in the framework of the doorway. Price had opened the door to go to his cellar for milk when he was shot down.

ARRESTED AFTER LOOP CHASE OF GIRL. Mrs. Mary Speechley, jealous wife, who duped policeman by telling him she was after thief and was booked.
